Educators Urged on CD Plans

Lead Thinking Is Expert's Advice

Educators should take the initiative in promoting community thinking and action in Civil Defense and the fallout shelter program, a state Civil Defense expert told 55 persons at a public meeting in the Onteora Central School in Boiceville last night.

John Sayers, shelter architect for schools under the state Civil Defense program, said educators are best qualified because of their knowledge of the community, its geographical characteristics and many other factors vital to a sound Civil Defense program.

The schools are staffed by capable, qualified people who are best suited for the job, Sayers said.

Economy Is Concern

Commenting on the upcoming school shelter program initiated by Gov. Rockefeller's $100 million appropriation in the special session of the legislature, Sayers said it would be the responsibility of architects to combine economy with maximum efficiency in designing school shelters.

Onteora's sprawling 18,000 square foot structure on Route 28 in Boiceville currently has between 30 and 50 per cent protection factor, far short of the desired minimum of 100 to qualify, Sayers said. He said it might be possible to erect a block partition along the westerly length of the building to accommodate a large number of pupils in an emergency.

Sayers noted a recent survey of state school facilities indicated that not more than 10 per cent have the minimum potential for converting to shelters. He said there were several methods of handling the problem—adopt space in existing buildings, or adjacent structures or erecting new buildings on the school grounds. Most schools have very poor protection against blast, he said because of the excessive amount of thin pane glass.

Explains Best Design

The best designs for new schools would be compact, regular buildings, with several interior courts, the architect said. He indicated the state would hold the line as long as possible against below ground classrooms.

Sayers also projected the possibility that at West Hurley and Woodstock, there might be underground construction to accommodate both the school and the community.

Jack Hess, president of the Shandaken Republican Club which sponsored the meeting, introduced three other Civil Defense officials.

Miss Florence Louth, state director of women's Civil Defense activities, warned the audience that New Yorkers have much at stake, being vulerable by sea and air. She said survival will be a local responsibility for two weeks, with the state moving in during the third and fourth weeks of the federal government the fifth week. By means of picture slides, showing charts and graphs she explained basic Civil Defence policy and defense measures.

Study Shows Kingston Hospital Needs Wing

The continuing high demand for hospital beds at The Kingston Hospital makes increasingly imminent the need for additional patient facilities

This was the conclusion of studies made by the Board of Trustees of the hospital over the past several months, according to Richard M. Kalish, president of the Board, who revealed today that the hospital has retained Otis N. Auer, hospital consultant, and Harry Halverson, architect, to develop schematic plans for a new wing to occupy the front of the present hospital property, paralleling Broadway, Kingston.

"The Board of Trustees has committed itself to moving forward to meet the needs of the community," President Kalish said. "We find every indication that the population growth in this area will continue in both adult and children's age groups, and we wish to be prepared," he said.

"Many people in our community are conscious of the fact that on occasions non-emergency cases have had to wait several days before a bed became available. Patients requiring emergency care or treatment must of necessity be given priority and immediate attention, but we appreciate that postponement of non-emergency cases causes inconvenience in many ways to patient and doctors alike," Kalish said.

Population studies reveal that Ulster County was among the fastest-growing counties in New York State during the 1950 to 1960 decade. During this 10-year period, the largest percentage increase in the state's population has been in the infant to 15-year age group, and in the over-65 age group. The former group increased 37.6 per cent, and the latter 34.1 per cent over the decade. It is these two groups which require the greatest need for hospitalization.

26 Bombs Dropped in Five Hours

Tshombe Forces Using Heavy Fire

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Unidentified aircraft attacked Elisabethville Airport four times before dawn today, dropping 26 bombs without damaging U.N. installations, the U.N. command announced.

The U.N. headquarters in the Katanga capital also came under heavy attack during the night, the U.N. spokesman said, from Katangan mortar batteries located on a ridge west of the headquarters building.

Origin Unknown

The spokesman said he did not know the origin or type of the aircraft that attacked the airport or if more than one plane made the attack. Bombs were dropped over a five-hour period, beginning a midnight.

(The Katanga mission in Brussels said the United Nations attacked President Moise Tshombe's residence, a veritable stronghold in Elisabethville. It was not clear whether the attack referred to shelling or an attack by planes.)

Two Indian Gurkha troops were killed and one wounded in the attack on the U.N. headquarters, the United Nations announced. It said this brought U.N. casualties in the Katanga operation to 10 dead, 37 wounded and 13 missing.

50-60 Katanga Dead

Katangan casualties are unknown, but Gen. Sean McKeown, the Irish commander of U.N. forces in the Congo, estimated them at 50 to 60 dead.

At U.N. headquarters in New York, Indian Brig. I. J. Rikhye, acting Secretary-General U Thant's military adviser, told a news conference U.N. forces had captured a secret Katangan plan, drawn up by French mercenaries, which included the dynamiting of the huge Union Miniere copper-cobalt complex in Katanga if U.N. forces joined with the central Congo army in an offensive to end the province's secession.

Other Parts Employed

Rikhye said the plan also was to be used if the Congo army attempted an invasion alone and that Katanga army units already had employed other parts of the plan in the week-old fighting with U.N. troops in Elisabethville.

The Indian army officer claimed that 12 French veterans

Ministers Fail on Unity

Foreign Leaders Cool To Leadership of U.S.

PARIS (AP)—The Western foreign ministers pursued their efforts to tighten unity on Berlin today amid signs the European Allies are sharply questioning the kind of leadership the United States is giving the Western alliance.

Diplomatic sources said the four ministers had gotten nowhere near a common policy on the issue of whether and under what circumstances the West should enter negotiations with the Soviet Union on Berlin.

Produces Bitter Taste

The same informants said Washington's line on the complex Congo problem has produced a bitter taste in London and Paris.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and his British, French and West German colleagues met for slightly more than two hours in the Quai D'Orsay to talk about Berlin. Delegation spokesmen decline to indicate what development. One conference source said no important progress was made.

However, West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, referring to a communique that will wind up the meeting, told newsmen "I think you'll hear something satisfactory tonight."

President Charles de Gaulle was reported still resisting Allied efforts to draw him into joint negotiations with the Soviet Union about West Berlin's future. But French officials said he does not intend to block another American-led attempt to come to terms with Moscow.

Secrecy Covers Talks

The ministerial talks were conducted with unusual secrecy.

Outside the conference room it was whispered that a crisis of confidence in American leadership was building up. That appeared to be an overstatement for two reasons:

Ultimately the Allies have nowhere else to look for long-term leadership.

Any public admission of quarreling in the alliance could only comfort the Soviet bloc in the long run.

However, an American source said the policies the Soviets are following "tend to keep us together." Premier Khrushchev himself "seems to have been particularly belligerent lately."

No Complete Integration

One example is the Soviet Union's demand today that the United States hand over German Gen. Adolf Heusinger for trial on war crimes charges. Heusinger is chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent military committee which normally works in Washington.

As a final headache, the United States has been trying for years to get France to integrate all her forces into the NATO alliance. De Gaulle is against this.

Premier Michel Debre told the French Senate today France will not accept complete integration.

Informants emphasized no announcement was likely of the plan for renewed American-Soviet exchanges until the matter is thoroughly aired in the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers, beginning a three-day parley here Wednesday.

Won't Oppose Talks

But the word from the French was that De Gaulle would not oppose a resumption of talks in Moscow between the Russians and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, who expected to be entrusted again—as he was early in the fall—with the job of trying to hammer out main points of an East-West Berlin compromise.

Prospects for such a compromise appear slight. Even if Thompson does shape up a deal with the Russians, it would have to clear the veto France holds as one of three Western occupation powers in Berlin.

Japs Smash Plot to Kill Ikeda, Aides

TOKYO (AP) — Police today claimed to have smashed an ultra-rightist plot to assassinate Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and other leading members of Japan's pro-American government. Thirteen men were arrested and weapons and uniforms seized in predawn raids.

Police said the conspirators planned mass murder because they felt Ikeda's government was incapable of preventing a Communist revolution in Japan.

Industrialist Gave Funds

Authorities said a Japanese industrialist apparently financed the plot.

Arrests are 90 per cent complete, police said, and an attempt is being made to learn if there is "a man behind the scenes."

Daikichi Imoto, chief of public safety, said the conspirators apparently were given a spur by the success of the South Korean military junta that took over the Seoul government in May.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that the plan called for attempts on the life of Ikeda and 16 Cabinet members and bomb attacks on police headquarters, the giant leftist Sohyo labor union and Communist party headquarters.

Officials said the 13, who included a prewar general, tried to win over members of the nation's 240,000-man self-defense force but failed.

Arms Cache Seized

Police raiders in Tokyo and at various places on the island of Kyushu in southern Japan seized rifles, gas masks, swords, helmets and work uniforms of the type worn by the self-defense service.

The plotters hid their activities behind a study group known as the Society for Japanese History, led and financed by Toyosaku Kawanami, 59, president of Nichinan and Kawanami Industrial Co. Three hundred helmets and 150 gas masks were found in his Tokyo home.

Ex-General Top Leader

A top leader of the group was Tokutaro Sakurai, 64, a former lieutenant general in the pre-World War II imperial army. Another member was Taku Mikami, 56, a former lieutenant in the imperial navy who served 13 years in prison in connection with the 1932 assassinaion of Prime Minister Tsuyoshi Inukai. Mikami now is president of Eiko Industrial Co. in Tokyo.

Police said they learned of the plot in September and mapped an earlier crackdown. Plans leaked and the raids were called off.

Eichmann Worse Than Executioners

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli court which convicted Adolf Eichmann of capital crimes against the Jews said today the former Gestapo officer was a worse criminal than the underlings who actually operated the gas chambers.

"He who delivers a soul for extermination bears a legal and moral responsibility even greater than he who does him to death," he declared.

Harsh Indictment

This harsh indictment was written into a section of the opinion which explored how Eichmann rounded up millions of Jews and meticulously conducted the complex task of transporting them to the death mills.

Judge Halevy, presiding Justice Moshe Landau and Judge Izhak Raveh expected to complete the reading of the judgment late today. Monday they found Eichmann guilty of crimes against the Jews, crimes against humanity, war crimes, and membership in hostile organizations.

On the first three counts he can be sentenced to hang. The fourth is punishable by a prison sentence. The sentence will be handed down later this week or next Monday at the latest.

Point to Evidence

The special tribunal today assessed documents and evidence of witnesses it said proved:

1. Eichmann's main task was to feed the extermination camps, as the Gestapo's principal operating officer "for Jewish affairs" and "the final solution of the Jewish problem."

2. Eichmann extended his authority even into the death camps by delivering at various times specific orders stepping up the mass slaughter.

3. Eichmann kept in his hands considerable authority over the Bergen, Belsen and Resienstadt camps "up to the very end," as proved by evidence from the International Red Cross.

The court brushed aside Eichmann's denials that he had any connection with the death camps as "implausible and patent falsehoods."

To Run for Texas Governor

Connally Resigns Navy Job, JFK Picks Korth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — John B. Connally, President Kennedy's first secretary of the Navy, will leave his post Dec. 20, come back to Texas and run for governor.

He disclosed his decision Monday. The President appointed Fred Korth, a Fort Worth banker to succeed Connally as civilian head of the Navy.

In Background Power

Connally, 44, is a Fort Worth attorney. As a friend and confidant of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn, he long has been a background power in Texas politics. His move promised a scramble for Democratic party leadership in the state.

In Korth, 52, Kennedy picked another Democrat known to associates as "a cool veteran of Washington politics."

Last June 2 Korth became an aide to Secreatry of the Army Elvis S. Stahr Jr., primarily responsible for liaison with civilians on Army policy and missions.

Also a lawyer, Korth served with the Air Transport Command in World War II, attaining the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was named deputy counsellor for the Army in 1951 and served as assistant secretary of the Army in 1952-53.

Korth received the Army's outstanding civilian service award in 1959. He was appointed a director of the Panama Canal Co. this year.

Wilson Hits Decision

His departure is the first top-ranking personnel change at the Pentagon since Kennedy became president.

Connally's move clearly took Texas Gov. Price Daniel, now serving a third term, and State Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, an announced Democratic candidate for governor, by surprise.

Daniel has hinted he might seek re-election if the Texas Legislature fails to approve his program in a special session starting Jan. 3.

Wilson said it was inconceivable to him that Connally would "abandon ship in the face of peril to come home and politic."

Governor Favors Driver Exams for Highway Safety

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller believes a state law requiring re-examination of drivers would further highway safety in the state.

The governor did not indicate, however, what type of re-examination he had in mind or whether he would make any specific proposals to the 1962 Legislature, which convenes next month.

William S. Hults, state motor vehicle commissioner, has said he would ask the Legislature for broader power to require re-examination.

Rockefeller's comments were in a letter made public Monday. The letter was to President Kennedy, who had asked state governments to report on progress in prevention of traffic accidents.

The New York Legislature has rejected in recent years various proposals for mandatory, periodic eye examinations for renewal of operators' licenses.

An eye test now is given to applicants for drivers' licenses but there is no provision for general re-examination of persons who hold licenses.

Rockefeller wrote that New York State's progress in traffic safety included stricter laws against drunken driving, revitalization of the Citizens Council on Traffic Safety, research programs and educational programs on safe driving.

Against Using Lottery to Run State Government

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A state lottery would be "a hell of a way to run a state government," Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy said today.

Murphy, a Republican, cited Democratic legislative proposals for raising additional state revenues by establishing a state lottery.

The commissioner's comments were in a speech prepared for delivery to a legislative workshop of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce.

He said the state administration was "committed to using responsible and business-like methods in financing and administering the functions of state government."

Murphy gave the Western New York gathering the same report that Budget Director T. Norman Hurd gave last week to the Chamber's legislative workshop at Albany—that state revenues for the current fiscal year were running somewhat under estimates and some spending would have to be trimmed to keep the budget in balance.

Neither Murphy nor Hurd specified what spending would be cut.

The tax commissioner said that Republican Gov. Rockefeller would submit a balanced budget to the Legislature and would continue pay-as-you-go financing.

The state constitution requires that the governor submit a balanced budget.

Christmas Mail Heavier Locally

Christmas mail, as of this date, is in greater volume locally than in 1960, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk reported today.

Monday, he said, 14,000 more pieces of mail were cancelled than on the same date a year ago. The total was 57,900.

Parcel post has also been heavier, but figures on that were not available, as of today.

Extra men, it is expected, are due to be hired by the end of this week. Regular employes are on overtime schedule.

Evidently, he said, this year more people are reacting to the usual pre-Christmas request to get their mail moving early.

Supervisors to Schedule Budget Hearing Tonight

A meeting of the board of supervisors will be held tonight at 8 o'clock to set a date for the public hearing on the 1962 proposed budget. This will be the only matter to come before the special meeting which has been called by Chairman Robert F. Phinney.

The regular December meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 14, at 8 o'clock at which time regular business will be transacted.

Setting the date for the public hearing on the proposed 1962 budget means the tentative budget is rapidly taking form.

It is expected the tentative budget as proposed will be but slightly larger than the 1961 budget which totaled $7,425,347 of which $3,103,674.14 was raised by local taxation.

At the meeting on Thursday appointment of trustees for the proposed Community College will probably be made. Several organizations and groups have submitted names to the Board of Supervisors or the Community College Committee, suggesting names be given consideration as possible trustees. Among the names submitted is that of Macdonald DeWitt, prominent New York attorney, who has offered a $100,000 grant toward the capital cost. The money will be presented to the board of trustees as soon as they have been named.

In view of the fact that no board of trustees presently exists and therefore no estimated Community College cost for the year 1962 has been made, no major sum is expected to be incorporated in the 1962 county budget. However, it is expected there will be sufficient funds available for necessary preliminary expenditures toward establishment of the college.

Five Officers Are On Force 15 Years

Five members of the local police department this week are to observe completion of 15 years of service on the force.

They are sergeants William F. Hanley and Carl C Janasiewicz, detectives Gurnsey Burger and Leonard J. Ellsworth and Patrolman Ernest G. Bartroff They will reach the anniversary date Dec. 15, and plan to dine together then at a place to be decided upon.

The five began as patrolmen when the late Ernest A. Boss was chief. They served under Raymond VanBuren, who retired a few years ago, and continue under Chief Robert F. Murphy, his successor. The department had a total personnel of 38 when they began duty. It now has 61 members.

Yanks Ready 40 Copters in Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —U.S. Army service troops today began readying some 40 U.S. combat helicopters for use against the Viet Cong rebels.

The helicopters, with nearly 400 U.S. Army pilots and ground crewmen, arrived in Saigon Monday aboard the converted U.S. carrier Core. They reportedly will be ready to start flying missions in about two weeks.

The U.S. crews manning the helicopters will fly Vietnamese troops and equipment to attack positions when Communist rebels are sighted. The Vietnamese ground forces have had great difficulty trapping the roving Viet Cong units because of the lack of speedy transport over the jungle.

It will be the first time U.S. personnel have flown such missions against the rebel forces.

The helicopters are part of expanded U.S. military aid to South Viet Nam agreed upon a week ago.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—When Octavia Jones, 53, of Pittsburgh went before Judge William F. Cercone Monday on charges of operating a speakeasy, he asked her why she allegedly had sold beer and liquor illegally.

"The church needed an organ, and I wanted to make some money to buy one," she explained.

of campaigns in Indochina and Algeria had drafted the plans for dynamiting the Union Miniere, a $400-million Belgian-British firm whose taxes provide the largest measure of support for President Moise Tshombe's regime and the chief reason why the Leopoldville government wants control of Katanga.

Rikhye said a Maj. Bousque and a Maj. Faulque, are in charge of Katangan strongpoints in the current fighting and that stores of dynamite have been accumulated by Katangans for use if the demolition plan is ordered.

Reports Heavy Damage

In Elisabethville, Tshombe claimed that U.N. planes heavily damaged facilities on the big copper and cobalt company in a weekend raid at Kolwezi, site of a Katanga air strip 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville. He said the attack also knocked out the town's fuel supply, scoring hits on diesel oil and water tanks.

Tshombe condemned the raid and disputed a U.N. declaration that the U.N. military action is a defensive one aimed at restoring law and order.

From Brussels, Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak sent a message to the Big Three Western foreign ministers meeting in Paris urging them to ask Thant to arrange an immediate ceasefire in the Katanga fighting.

Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, former U.N. chief of operations in Katanga, urged in a British television interview Monday night that the United Nations should not once again go looking for a ceasefire in Katanga. "I think they should continue until they have established clear superiority," he said.

Report Indicates Firm Is Seeking Mt. Marion Site

Persistent reports in recent weeks — all unconfirmed — have indicated that a paper cup manufacturer is interested in a factory site within the Town of Saugerties.

Frequently mentioned as the principals interested in a factory site at Mt. Marion is the Dixie Cup Division of American Can Company, 100 Park Avenue, New York City. The Dixie Cup Division is at 93 Worth Street.

Hendrick A. Wolter, well-known area builder and developer, one of the principals in Mt. Marion Industrial Park Corp., said today representatives for an unidentified firm have inquired about a factory site in the industrial park. However the name of the firm is not known, he said.

A veteran of 15 years service with the U. S. Air Force, S/Sgt. Schmeltz died following a heart seizure. He was the son of Frank and Rose Schmeltz of Cottekill and husband of the former Caroline Countryman of High Falls.

Educators Urged

tative for Civil Defense, said he would like to clear up apparent misquotes and mistaken impressions given in newspapers. He emphasized that the home shelter program has not been scrapped because of Gov. Rockefeller's recent pronouncement on the shelter-where-you-are theory. This was based, he said, on the probability there would be only 15 minutes warning in the event of attack by intercontinental ballistics.

A rule of the thumb on state aid to school fallout shelter construction was set at about $25 a pupil, with the stipulation that the state's contribution would not exceed 50 per cent of the total cost. Roughly, if a school shelter has an occupancy of 1,000 pupils and cost $50,000, the state would return state aid not to exceed $25,000. However, it was emphasized that the mechanics of the state aid program have not been entirely decided.

Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Ulster County Civil Defense director, scored public apathy on Civil Defense and foresaw the possibility that every member of school faculties would have to take training to qualify as a medical aid in times of emergency.

Deals With Air Current

Timmerman said it was not true that the entire population will be killed, nor is it true that everything will be levelled. The greatest potential threat from fallout to the Ulster County area would come from the Philadelphia-Camden sector and not New York City as is generally supposed. This is because of a peculiar air current that travels from that sector north over the county at an altitude of approximately 65,000 feet, he said.

The worst problem that Civil Defense must contend with is "indecision on the people's part," Timmerman noted. He said that Onteora Central School was fortunate from the standpoint of bus runs in that the district has very few double runs and not a single triple run. Plans should be developed by all districts and responsible elements of government. A flexible county plan is under constant change to meet new conditions. In the final analysis it might be necessary to return to wartime conditions.

The forum concluded with a question and answer in which all the principal speakers participated.

Cafeteria Frier Spreads Fire Through Kitchen

A fire which spread from a French frier in the Trailway Cafeteria, 495 Broadway Monday night damaged the kitchen and other areas.

Flame spreading through an exhaust duct, firemen said, damaged a nearby roof area and the blaze there was checked by a pump stream. A sprinkler system in the kitchen was activated.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks, Union and Rapid companies and the Wiltwyck volunteers responded to a telephone call at 11:19 p m. followed by an alarm from Box 1112, Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue. Chief James M. Brett with Capt. Glyn M. Southard were in charge.

A section of flooring above near a stairway was removed. Food and stock were damaged by fire, water and smoke.

The building, owned by the Terminal Building Corp. houses the Trailways bus terminal and restaurant on the ground floor, the Bern-Mar Manufacturing Co. on the second floor and Max Ulman, Inc. on the third floor.

Anthony Pino, restaurant employe, said the fire started soon after he had seen smoke coming from the frier and turned off current, but he was unable to check the flaming grease and firemen were called.

A call at 5:52 p. m. Monday was for a car fire near 322 Broadway. Firemen said the blaze started from a short circuit in wiring on the car of Q. Gonzales Ruiz, of 327 Broadway. A unit from central station responded.

Action Is Continued

A negligence action brought by Halyna Werbenec and another against Irwin Decker, for damages resulting from an automobile accident was continued in Supreme Court today before Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth and a jury. Schick and Klein appeared for plaintiffs and Arthur B. Ewig for defendant. Testimony was concluded and summations by counsel were made during the morning session with Justice Elsworth's charge to follow. A jury was selected to commence trial of an action in automobile negligence brought by Edward Cooper Jr. against the Greyhound Corporation and another. Roy L. Featherstone for plaintiff and Cook and Cook by Francis X. Tucker appear for defendants. Trial of the action was scheduled to follow the Wer-

Wharton Talks About Congress:

Disarmament, Peace Corps, Aid to Areas Are Subjects

Legislation acted upon at the last session of Congress and legislation which may come up before the coming session was discussed with three groups of Kingstonians Monday by Congressman J. Ernest Wharton who paid a visit to Kingston.

Meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel with the National Legislative Affairs Committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting, Congressman Wharton discussed legislation of the last session, which he said despite the unusually long session which wound up in September, only three really new major pieces of legislation resulted. They were establishment of a World Disarmament Agency (which one hopes will be able to function with some marked degree of success), the Aid to Depressed Areas Bill, and the establishment of the Peace Corps. He also discussed with the Chamber of Commerce certain anti-trust legislation.

Included in the busy day was a meeting with the 29th Districts Medical Association and wound up the day with a dinner meeting tendered by the League for Women Voters, representing several clubs in the district, the Kingston League being host for the dinner.

Before each group Congressman Wharton discussed legislation acted upon by the last session of Congress and also touched upon legislation which may be brought up at the coming session which begins in January. To each group he spoke on matters of special interest to the group.

It was Congressman Wharton's opinion that the upcoming session would again have before it administration proposals for Aid to Education; Medical Aid and also the request for new tariff regulations.

At all of the meetings yesterday, Congresssman Wharton warned against too much government regulation and suggested that where at all feasible measures affecting the individual should be left to the state and local governments.

"Once big government gets a foot in the door, the individual rights of persons and business become impaired to a degree where liberties and freedoms are encroached upon," Congressman Wharton cautioned.

Local Death Record

Frank Slack

Frank Slack, 81, of 3 Prospect Street, New Paltz, died this morning in Kingston Hospital after a brief illness. Funeral services will be held Thursday 2 p. m. at the Pine Funeral Home Inc., New Paltz. Other arrangements will be announced.

Mrs. Emilie C. Montgomery

Mrs. Emilie Chappell Montgomery, wife of William J. Montgomery died in this city Monday. Funeral services will be held at the A. Carr & Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl Street Wednesday 8 p. m. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, Thursday. There will be no calling hours. She was born in London, England. Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery had made their home in Kingston for the past 17 years.

John Conte

Funeral services for John Conte who died in Stanford, Conn., Wednesday, were held from the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 25 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, Saturday at 2 p. m. Funeral services were largely attended by relatives and friends. There were many beautiful floral pieces. Burial was made in Mt. Marion Cemetery, Mt. Marion. Bearers were Charles Guido, Joseph Ferrindino, Louis Guido and Joseph Guido.

Mrs. Amelia Baumgarten

The funeral of Mrs. Amelia Baumgarten, 86, of Rifton who died in this city Saturday, was held Monday 9:30 a. m. from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main Street, Rosendale. A Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, at 10 a. m. by the Rev. Leo J. Martin. During the bereavement many called at the funeral home and many spiritual and floral bouquets were received. Burial was in St. Remy Cemetery.

Mrs. Fortunata Naccarato

The funeral of Mrs. Fortunata Naccarato of 48 Harding Avenue who died Wednesday was held from the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 650 Delaware Avenue at Broadway, Monday at 9 a. m., thence to St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, where at 10 a. m. a solemn requiem high Mass was offered for the repose of her soul. Officiating at the Mass were the Rev. Archibald Damm, pastor of the church acting as the celebrant, the Rev. Salvatore Umana CSsR deacon and the Rev. Joseph Oppitz CSsR subdeacon. Responses to the Mass were sung by Mrs. James Sweeney accompanied at the organ by James Sweeney. During the respose many relatives, friends and neighbors called to pay their respects. There was an unusual large number of floral pieces and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards which attested to the high esteem Mrs. Naccarato was held. Sunday Father Damm called at the funeral home and led the assembled relatives and friends in the recitation of the Rosary. Burial was made in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, Saugerties, where Father Damm pronounced the final absolution. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery in Newburgh.

Social Security Office to Open Thursday Night

George J. Johnson, district manager of the Kingston Social Security Office, announced today that the public response to evening hours the last three weeks has been even greater than expected. Johnson attributed this response primarily to the excellent cooperation of the local press and radio. The office wishes to advise the public that all individuals, age 65 or over, regardless of whether they are still working or not, should visit their local office.

The office will be open Thursday night, December 14 from 6 to 8:30 in order to serve those individuals who are unable to call at the office during the day. This will be the last opportunity to visit the office during evening hours in 1961.

The office is located at 61 Albany Avenue over the Empire Market. Plenty of free parking is available.

Ike Gets Honor, Says Nation Best Hope for World

Eisenhower also called for a continuation of teaching of freedom's principle during ceremonies Monday at which he was honored at the nearby Valley Forge Military Academy. The former president was given Freedoms Foundation's first "American Patriot's Medal."

Santa Will Tour Spring Lake Fire District Dec. 16

Fire Chief Clayton S. Elmendorf said Fire Commissioner John Mahoney is chairman of the committee.

Santa Claus will ride the fire truck, starting from the firehouse at 12 noon and accompanied by his helpers will ride through the entire district. A department spokesman said the 1961 event will be the seventh sponsored by the firemen.

Board Approves Levies

Dutchess County's Board of Supervisors' Monday approved the 1962 budget levies for Poughkeepsie and Beacon, which provide a 61 cent per $1,000 of assessed valuation in the Poughkeepsie share of the county government tax levy and a one cent increase in the Beacon share. Elting Burger, chairman of the board, said the levies will change the Poughkeepsie share of the tax rate from $7.12 to 7.73 per $1,000 and the Beacon share from $7.94 to $7.95 a $1,000 assessed valuation.

Town of Ulster Man, 80, Found Dead in Garage

An 80-year-old retired Town of Ulster man was found dead shortly before midnight Monday of self-inflicted gunshot wounds of the abdomen. The body was discovered lying face down on the floor of a garage near his residence.

Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle identified the victim as Wilford Mower, RFD, Box 3, Sandy Road, Town of Ulster, who retired in 1953 after being employed as maintenance carpenter at Lake Mohonk for many years.

Coroner McCardle said Mower died of massive abdominal hemorrhages due to self-inflicted gunshot wounds. A verdict of suicide was recorded.

Lived Alone

According to the coroner, Mower lived alone in a cottage behind the property of his son, Harold Mower on Sandy Road, Town of Ulster. The son and his wife returned home from work late yesterday and sometime later missed the elderly man.

McCardle said Harold and his wife thought his father might have gone riding with another son Allen who resides in Glenerie Lake.

When Mower didn't appear before midnight, his son and daughter-in-law went looking for him. They noticed a pin was not in place on the garage door and as they opened the door they found Mower lying on the floor, a 12-gauge shotgun nearby.

McCardle said one discharged shell was found in the gun. He said the victim had been dead several hours. The body was removed to the W. N. Conner Funeral Home Inc., 296 Fair Street.

Had Been Seeing Doctor

No notes were found, the coroner said.

McCardle stated that Mower's son and daughter-in-law told authorities the retired carpenter didn't seem to be despondent, although he had been under the care of a physician from time to time. Harold said his father never gave any indication that he would take his own life, McCardle said.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith investigated for the sheriff's department.

In addition to his two sons, Mower is survived by two granddaughters; a brother, Fred Mower of Katsbaan and several cousins. His wife, Lillian M. Mower, died several years ago.

Funeral services will be held at the W. N. Connor Funeral Home Inc. Thursday 2 p. m. Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Concedes Defeat

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The trend of votes took a surprise turn in the past 24 hours, promising a photo finish in the weekend general election and putting the future of Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies' Liberal-Country party coalition government slightly in doubt.

Labor party leader Arthur A. Calwell conceded defeat Saturday night, but late today political observers said Labor still had a slight chance for victory.

The government had apparently won 60 seats in the 122-member House of Representatives, Labor apparently had 55 and 7 were in doubt. If Labor won all sever, it would win the election and unseat Menzies, but political observers considered this unlikely.

Court Says Store May Do Business In Legal Hassle

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)— A judge has permitted a Butler area supermarket to operate on Sundays pending new developments in a Blue Law legal hassle.

Judge Clyde S. Shumaker of Butler County made the ruling Saturday in the case involving Friedman's Supermarket at the nearby Bon Aire Shopping Center.

The store was open Sunday, but two others in the Friedman chain were ordered closed.

Three officials of the chain were fined for operating the Bon Aire store on Sunday, Nov. 26. The judge's decision Saturday comes as the result of appeals by the store officials on the fines.

Stores with 10 or more employes are prohibited from making food sales on Sundays under the new law.

The attorney for the chain argued that the law is unconstitutional on grounds that it denies equal protection under the law and that some provisions of the law are unclear.

Smith Raised Record Corn Crop on Less Land in '61

By LORANA SULLIVAN
Elmira Star-Gazette

BIG FLATS, N.Y. (AP)—That Cadillac that farmer Bill Smith bought with federal funds paid for not growing corn wasn't the outright gift from Uncle Sam that he thought it was, he reports.

Of the $6,712 he received last spring from the government, Smith said, he netted only $4,313, or 70 per cent of the Cadillac. The remaining 30 per cent, he said, is what his net profit on the diverted land would have been if he had not participated in the federal feed-grain program.

Says Crop Not unusual

Smith, who raised a record corn crop on 105.5 fewer acres this year, contends the crop control programs are "diabolical and ineffective."

He also says his bumper crop and government bonus are not unusual this year.

"This is what is being done all over the United States," he said. "this is why we (the farmers) beat the program. They should have known it would happen."

Smith normally plants 262 acres in corn to feed 15,000 laying hens and a dairy herd of 150 cows. Last year, this land yielded 12,000 bushels of dried corn and 500 tons of silage.

Cuts Corn Acreage

This year, he participated in the federal feed-grain program. He removed from production 40 per cent of his corn land—104 acres of his poorest land. He diverted an additional 1.5 acres as a precaution.

From the remaining 156.5 acres of his best land, he again harvested 12,000 bushels of dried corn and 500 tons of silage.

The federal program was designed to cut production and reduce surpluses.

To dramatize his belief that distributing the taxpaers' money this way was "not morally right," Smith bought a $6,100 Cadillac last June. He attached a tongue-in-cheek sign thanking President Kennedy, Secretary of Agriculture Freeman and the voters who elected Kennedy. He drove the car to Washington to gain further publicity.

Planted Corn Closer

Smith predicted that the nation's farmers would outwit the program by planting more corn per acre and by increasing fertilization. He followed the advice of the Chemung County Extension Service, planted closer and applied more fertilizer, he said.

Smith also used a new weed-killer that the extension service recommended. Because weeds were eliminated, he cut out three cultivation operations, which paid for the weed-killer.

Smith figures the corn's market value in Chemung County at $1.15 a bushel, or $7,297 for the entire yield. But it would have cost him $4,747, or about $45 an acre, for seed, planting, cultivation, fertilizer and harvesting. He also would have had to dry it, at 10 cents a bushel, or $123.

The result, he suggests, would have been a net profit of only $2,399—$4,313 less than his federal payment of $6,712.

Smith said participation in the program this year saved a $4,747 investment and spared him the headaches of an uncertain crop.

Asked whether he planned to participate in a 1962 feed grain program, Smith replied dryly:

CHARITY RACKETEERS

As the holidays approach there is a great impulse toward kindness and an endeavor to help the less fortunate. Evidence of this charity and good will abounds everywhere at Christmas time.

Cognizant of this spirit, the State Department of Social Welfare warns the public against charity racketeers who exploit the holiday season by soliciting contributions that ought to go to the legitimate charities.

The Social Welfare Department advises contributors to be wary of out-of-state solicitations from organizations that have not registered with the department and did not file a financial report as required by law. The department says a number of these organizations now are mailing unsolicited merchandise, such as key chains to New York State residents.

There are numerous local activities to help the less fortunate which need our generous support.

THE VALUE OF THE MOON

The imminent orbital flight of an American astronaut has focused renewed interest on the question whether it is worth all the effort and expense that will be required to place a man on the moon. Even some eminent scientists have suggested that, despite all the adventurous implications, reaching the moon will be of small practical use. Many reflective persons are disturbed at the thought that money thus spent might be better spent on dealing with problems of human suffering.

Arthur C. Clarke, a fellow of Britain's Royal Astronomical Society, has made a valuable contribution to the dialogue on this interesting subject. It is his contention that conquest of the moon can be "justified to the cost accountants" as well as in terms of scientific values. "A century from now," he writes in Harper's, the moon "may be an asset more valuable than the wheat fields of Kansas or the oil wells of Oklahoma."

Because of conditions on the moon—low gravity, no atmosphere and therefore no weather, absolute radio "quiet" — Clarke feels that it could be a remarkable base for interplanetary communications and travel. He also believes that it could become a great manufacturing center because of cheap materials and the total vacuum vital to so many processes.

Clarke puts forward other reasons to bolster his argument. There is about them something fantastic, yet in an era that has seen space flight develop within a few years who can say that fantasy will not become fact? This distinguished British scientist makes an excellent case for the value of flights to the moon, scientifically and in terms of dollars and cents.

Farmers have to keep replenishing the lime in their fields. But with so many hunters blasting away, they never have to worry about the land's lead content.

TAX SELLING FLURRY

So far this month, the feature of the stock market has been the flurry of selling for tax purposes. We have become used to that about this time each year, as many investors prepare to take a gain or loss on their tax return.

This flood of sales naturally puts heavy pressure on day to day price quotations. But so far the market has behaved very well as it absorbs this trading with little or no ill effects. As a matter of fact, the Dow Jones industrial averages remain within the vicinity of their recent all-time highs. They even give promise of penetration to higher ground before the year's end.

Not all investors are satisfied with things as they are. Wall Streeters take note of the depth of portfolio switching as revealed by heavy trading in large blocks of securities. Institutional holders are probably behind most of this activity as they get ready for statements of assets to be published at year end. The fact that all this selling can be carried off so neatly is confirmation of the general optimism prevailing over prospects for the stock market in the near term.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THUNDER ON THE RIGHT

When a movement is discussed, the writer needs to understand what it means. Such a movement as the Rightist or the Leftist represents ideas, concepts of life, the meaning of events. The reporter who runs to a fire or who gets excited over a kidnapping is not necessarily capable of understanding a mass movement which is basically philosophic. In fact, many who speak most loudly in these movements cannot describe them with any degree of accuracy. They know that something has happened but what is important is why it has happened.

Thus "Newsweek" recently published a lengthy article on "Thunder on the Far Right," the material for which was gathered by several persons and the collection assembled by someone who picked an item here and there out of a congeries of material.

To one who has studied Rightist movements in the United States, the article is puzzling because it is not a study of mass response to a philosophic concept but rather a selection of items about this and that. No sociologist in a foreign land could possibly get a correct picture of the Rightists from the article although he might put together items which are occasionally sensational and occasionally exciting. It is a job of tailoring, not of study.

The Rightist movement in the United States is a response of youth in the 1960's to the ideological offenses of the 1930's. It is a revolt against an effort to impose upon the American mind an offensively alien concept of life. As such movements do, the Rightist movement in the United States swings from extreme reaction to middle-of-the-road resistance to Leftist movements, particularly Communism.

Among anti-Communists are numerous segments of the population ranging from intellectual opponents of Marxism who have profoundly studied both the economics and sociology of Marxism to those who are indignant that the course of events has changed without their consent. Just as the Communists believe in historic inevitability, assuming that unless things go their way, they are unscientific, so the extreme Rightists assume that all human movements which differ from their concept of what is right are essentially evil. Among the latter are religious fundamentalists who do not understand the Hebrew Bible but demand that every word of it translated into post-Elizabethan English be accepted as absolute truth. Curiously, while many of them do not question a comma or semi-colon of King James's version of the Hebrew Bible, they are nevertheless anti-Semites devising numerous concepts to justify their confusions.

From this irrational reaction to the scholarship of Eugene Lyons or Lawrence Fertig, to mention only two names that come to mind, is a vast range of thinkers who are no more closely associated than Earl Browder and Norman Thomas on the left or James Wechsler and Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., in the center.

Unfortunately, the author of the "Newsweek" study of Rightism throws everything into a potpourri. He makes no sharp distinctions of what is being thought by a variety of persons of differing experience.

Much is made of the John Birch Society, a newcomer in the political world which has taken over what remains of the Joe McCarthy effort. Bob Welch, the leader of the John Birch Society, was in the candy business in Massachusetts but he is very new in any kind of ideological struggle and it is doubtful whether he has studied the literature of Marxism although he is efficiently opposed to this movement. It is not to be assumed that Bob Welch or even Dr. Fred Schwarz, an Australian who operates out of Long Beach, California, could stand up in an intellectual discussion on Marxism.

They are emotional anti-Communists which is insufficient to influence the scholarly mind. Anti-Communism is not sufficient as a mass movement. A mass movement must be positive; its assertions must be related to the growth of the human mind, not merely a resistance to development of offensive movements.

What is interesting about the Rightist movement is not that it displays varieties of human emotions but rather that here is an opposition to Marxism and even to Liberalism. True, American conservatism has not yet established its own ideas fully but out of the welter of contesting concepts, a philosophy will develop which will provide the leadership which the country sorely needs.

Diet Helps Some Victims Of Multiple Sclerosis

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Can you tell me about a diet cure for multiple sclerosis? I've tried everything and I'm getting so bad I soon may have to quit my job.

A—For the past 11 years, Dr. R. L. Swank has experimented with a low fat diet in an effort to halt the progress of (not to "cure") multiple sclerosis.

The diet simply eliminates most of the obvious fat-containing foods from the regular foods you normally consume. That is to say, butter, cream, egg yolk, shortening meat fats, ice cream, desserts and sauces made with cream and/or butter, oleomargarines, etc.

Except that you may elect to take skim milk instead of whole milk, you need not buy any special food or ask for specially prepared meals.

In Dr. Swank's experience, severe recurrences were prevented and mild relapses were reduced to a minimum, particularly in the cases of those who went on the diet in the early stages of the disease and who adhered faithfully to it.

It is only fair to say that other equally reliable observers who experimented with the diet report less enthusiastically of its results. Because of its simplicity and harmlessness, it is certainly worth your best consideration. But, one way or other, please don't give up your job.

One sure way to invite progressive invalidism is to accept it as a matter of course or even take refuge in it.

To learn more about your affliction and what's being done about it, why don't you write for information to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society at 257 Fourth Ave., New York 10, N. Y.?

Q—Are salt and sugar substitutes harmful?

A—Neither is harmful. And, as a matter of fact, neither is particularly useful. Very few persons require salt restrictions to the extent that they can't handle the amount that's used in the ordinary preparation of foods. If they require seasoning at table, they can use any of the ordinary condiments that are commercially available.

As to sugar substitutes, they've required even less, if ever. With the aid of available antidiabetic products, even those with severe "sugar sickness" can take care of the few additional grams derived from one or two lumps of sugar in coffee or tea or a bit of powdered sugar on cereal.

From where I sit, few things are as ridiculous as the sight of those who take a rich dessert and then carefully sweeten their coffee or tea with the sugar substitute. But, if you know any such, please don't quote me!

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Latin America is the most dangerous area in the world today, in the off-the-record opinion of one of the senior European ambassadors in Washington.

This gives it priority over Berlin, the Near and Middle East, Southeast Asia and Africa, any one or all of which have been considered major crisis areas up to now.

THE NEW MAN who is apparently going to be top thinker and planner for Latin America —and for the assorted underdeveloped headaches in Africa and Asia as well—is Chester Bowles. He chartered a sailboat as soon as he was sworn in as adviser to the President on these areas and went for a cruise in the Caribbean, to get away from Washington.

This is neither an inspection trip nor is it a pleasure cruise. It is Bowles's standard operating procedure.

When things get too complicated, he goes off in a corner someplace to figure them out. He'll be back in mid-December. And if he is still in form, he'll be full of ideas and rarin' to go.

The word is that he will then move out of the State Department and into the Executive Office Building, across a narrow street from the White House side door. Whether he will be there just to write memos or whether he will be given some authority to get the Alliance for Progress moving in time to do any good remains to be seen.

THIS RECALLS that at the start of the Kennedy administration, there was a special adviser on Latin-American affairs by the name of Adolph Berle hanging around. Things didn't work out under him. He isn't here any more.

The man who was his busy little helper in the White House, 29-year-old Richard N. Goodwin —who has never worked in Latin America and knows none of its languages—has been moved over to the State Department as deputy assistant secretary for Latin-American affairs.

He succeeds Wymberley DeR. Coerr, who is being shipped off someplace as an ambassador. He is an experienced diplomatic hand who held Latin-American affairs together for six months while the White House was conducting a search for someone to run them.

THE MAN FINALLY PICKED was Robert F. Woodward. Adlai Stevenson is supposed to have "discovered" Ambassador Woodward, serving in Santiago, Chile. This was during Stevenson's swing around South America for the President. Stevenson recommended that Woodward be made the assistant secretary of state for Latin America, and he was.

But the talk among Foreign Service officers around State is that if matters in Latin America continue to get progressively worse, Woodward will be made the fall guy. Then look out for young Mr. Goodwin.

A case might be made that since the professional diplomats haven't done too well in steering U.S. relations with Latin America for lo, these many years, some new blood and new ideas are needed.

The two people in line would seem to be either Deputy Assistant Secretary Goodwin, or Ambassador Bowles. The latter will no longer be a State Department official, but a member of the Policy Planning Staff, by virtue of his office. How much weight he will be able to throw around is not clear.

WHEN THE COMPLICATED SWITCH of White House assistants into the State Department and vice versa was first announced, the feeling was that it would strengthen Secretary of State Dean Rusk's hand. But many people in Washington are now beginning to do a retake on this.

Career Foreign Service officers, who ran things high, wide, and handsome during the Eisenhower administration are now being farmed outside the country or shifted to minor jobs in State.

Deputy Undersecretary for Political Affairs U. Alexis Johnson and Assistant Secretary for European Affairs Foy D. Kohler are the exceptions. Political appointees now hold nearly all the top jobs and the White House is running the show.

UN Action in Congo Called 'A Plain Violation' of Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Those who at times envisage the United Nations as a sort of superstate are getting considerable satisfaction out of the military operation of the UN which is supported by this country. For there is an intervention in the Congo's internal affairs today with the excuse that the UN is obligated to "restore order" when requested to do so by a central government involved in that disorder.

Great Britain has been reluctant to allow its bombs to be shipped to the Congo for the UN forces to use. There have been a lot of conferences held and euphemistic statements issued contending the UN is merely fulfilling the request of the central Congolese government.

But the whole Congo is in a state of disorder, and the very request on which the UN is acting came from the late Patrice Lumumba, who was ousted and then assassinated.

Hypocrisy Charged

In the face of such a confused situation, it seems hypocritical for the UN to claim that it has a legal right to go into the Congo. It may have a paper record of such a request, but it is ignoring the will of a large bloc of people in the Congo's richest province.

The present activities of the UN are based on a resolution adopted by the Security Council on Feb. 21, 1961. France and the Soviet Union abstained from voting. The UN command was authorized to use force, if necessary, to prevent a civil war in the Congo.

Presumably, the UN Security Council majority could, with the consent and even with the inspiration of the Soviet Union, call some day for UN forces to prevent "civil war" in Hungary, Romania, Czechoslovakia and the other satellite states as long as the Soviet-controlled government in each of these countries requested it. The right of a people to determine for themselves—by arms, if necessary—what form of government they should set up has long been recognized in democratic countries as worthy. But today, if the political alignments inside the UN favor the existing government against which a justified revolution might be directed, then presumably the entire military strength of those UN members which wish to contribute to such a venture can be mobilized.

The United States is in a rather difficult situation. If the UN had been in existence in 1776 and the British government had made a formal request for military help, maybe the American Revolution wouldn't have succeeded. The right of peoples to choose their own form of government has always been supported by the United States. It has never used force—openly at least—to assist any government suffering from an internal disorder. Wherever the United States has intervened in Latin America as a rule, it has done so to protect the lives and properties of American citizens and not to interfere with the right of the people to establish any regime they wish.

Not long ago the United States was on the verge of intervening in Cuba, but never made public the legal basis for its contemplated action, though it did have plenty of legal right to land troops to protect American citizens and their properties.

Less than a month ago, also, the United States sent its fleet to cruise off the shores of the Dominican Republic with the idea of landing a military expedition or using naval aviation units to aid the constituted government if it made a request for such help. Here, too, it isn't clear on what legal basis the United States was relying.

The Monroe Doctrine

Broadly speaking, the United States has no right whatsoever to use military force to set up any government in another country, but it does have a right under the Monroe Doctrine—and the principle has been accepted by the Organization of American States—to use force to drive out any European power which attempts to establish a foothold in any part of this hemisphere.

The Congo example does not help the cause of the United States in Latin American—or in Africa, for that matter. To supply military force to the UN itself to protect the lives and properties of foreigners is one thing, but to engage in a mission which has for its avowed purpose the "restoration of order" and the ending of civil war is a plain violation of the historic code of international law.

If the UN members had maintained a policy of merely protecting the properties of Europeans and had themselves kept out of local politics, the chances of an eventual settlement would have been vastly improved. Instead, European countries like Britain and Belgium are today hesitant to allow the military force of the UN to be used to "restore order" when this really means aiding elements which cannot by themselves force the secessionist province of Katanga to bow to the central government.

Maybe a loose federation of states in the Congo, with autonomy for those provinces which desire it, is the only possible solution that can end the disorder and bring peace. That's the objective which the UN professes to seek, but it is being pursued not by a doctrine of recognized law, but by the pretext that the end justifies the means.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The name of Frederic Remington has been in the news lately. He had many talents so it seems, according to the Art Students League News of November, 1961. Most of us know Remington as an artist of the early west, especially for his horse pictures. It is said, the only formal art training Remington had was at the Art Students League, and before coming to the League he had been a football star at Yale. The League has an art school on 57th Street in New York City and in the summer, one in Woodstock.

Remington is part of our heritage, and on Oct. 4, the United States Post Office issued a commemorative stamp with one of Remington's Indian pictures reproduced on it to mark the centennial of the great illustrator's birth in Canton, N. Y., on Oct. 4 1861. The painting is called Smoke Signals and the author of the article felt it was a happy choice, for it was the Indians way of sending messages across long distances, a sort of post office for them.

Teddy Roosevelt was a pal of Remington when they were both young, and traveled around the west, and Roosevelt said of the artist then, "One of the men who tend to keep alive my hope in America." Much has been said lately about Remington sent as war correspondent in the Spanish-American war, which he could not find. He went to Cuba with Richard Harding Davis in 1898, and he did paint a famous charge by Teddy Roosevelt, then he went back to painting his famous pictures of the West. Very often in TV pictures of the west one may see, hanging on the wall are reproduction of one of Remington's hourse pictures.

No doubt, stamp collectors know and perhaps have, Remington's picture of "Troops Guarding a Train," which appeared on the 8 cent stamp in the Tran-Mississippi issue of 1898. The author thought perhaps Teddy Rooevelt may have had something to do with this choice, because Remington before that had illustrated Roosevelt's "Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail" first published in 1888, with some 100 illustrations. Then came 1940, and again Remington's portrait of Roosevelt was used in a series of stamp honoring famous Americans.

Those who study the Spanish-American War, or the life of Teddy Roosevelt, or are stamp collectors, or are interested in horses, or the history of the west, will find, time and time again, they will run across the name of Frederic Remington. He not only put the history of the west on canvas, but also was a camp cook, sheepherder, ranch hand ,cow-puncher, storekeeper and stockman, and he was forever sketching people, places, horses and activities of cowboys, Indians and soldier.

No doubt this sort of life appeals to the youth of today, but who could follow around the enthusiastic and energetic Remington. You would have to follow him to North Africa, Russia and Germany as well as to famous stables around the world. He sketched Arabian steeds, Cossack mount and even the blooded stock of the imperial stables at Trakenhnen in Prussia. He became, through his constant study, one of the world authorities on the movements of horses. He could not meet all the demands for his talent as sculpture, painter and illustrator, and finally began to rely on photographs. Remington also could write, which he did in his early days.

After 25-Year Exile

Windsors Are Still Snubbed By Church, Landed Gentry

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON — (NEA) — On the bitterly cold night of Dec. 12, 1936, the British destroyer HMS Fury slid out of Portsmouth harbor carrying a sad, white-faced monarch into exile.

King Edward VIII, now known to the world as the Duke of Windsor, had just tossed away his crown for "the woman I love," as he described American divorcee Wallis Simpson. The nation he left behind was reeling from the shock.

Looking back after 25 years, it is hard to visualize the excitement, the bitter recriminations which the abdication touched off. But at the time, there were no neutrals as far as the ill-starred monarch was concerned.

The king either was involved in the "romance of the century," or he was the central figure of a scandal which threatened to bring the institution of the monarchy into disrepute.

Whatever the outcome of the abdication crisis, the monarchy would never again be the same, the pessimists predicted. They said the delicate fabric of esteem surrounding the royalty had been torn beyond repair. But Edward was succeeded by his brother, George VI, who in turn was succeeded by Queen Elizabeth II.

Far from suffering from the abdication, the monarchy today is stronger — and commands greater respect and admiration than it did then, most observers believe.

At the same time, the British nation appears to have been less than just to the Duke of Windsor.

"It's love and love alone that caused King Edward to lose his throne . . ." Thus runs a Trinidad calypso which swept the world in the wake of the abdication.

No Briton under the age of 30 today would ever have heard this calypso, nor have any independent memory of the events which it celebrates in song. All that the present generation of Britons knows about "Edward and Wally" is what their parents have told them.

The Windsors have been buried alive by the Establishment, that curiously British combination of church, peerage and landed gentry. One sees press photos of the Duke and Duchess occasionally on the society pages as members of the international smart set glimpsed at Cannes or Palm Beach. Otherwise there is a conspiracy of silence, abnormal in a country which is so curious about its royals.

The Duke of Windsor slips in and out of England almost stealthily, his movements barely noted by the press. He still, quite obviously, is the black sheep of the royal family.

The vendetta has in some cases been carried to extremes. For example, Clarence House recently went to great pains to let it be known that the choice of David as name of Princess Margaret's baby was in no way influenced by the fact that David was likewise the favorite family name of the Duke of Windsor.

DUKE OF WINDSOR AND WIFE—"Time has long since sanctified a true and faithful union."

No, David was chosen because it was the Christian name of the late Sir David Bowes-Lyon, brother of Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, it was disclosed.

Why has no effort been made to let bygones be bygones and restore the Duke to the affection of the British people? What does the Establishment fear?

The answer, it is explained, is that the duke in some quarters is still regarded as a moral transgressor. The Church of England, for one, cannot forgive him for having married a divorcee.

The harsh judgment of the church was summoned up 25 years ago by Cosmo Lang, then Archbishop of Canterbury. The king had received his high and sacred trust from God, the archbishop declared, "yet by his own will . . . he has surrendered the trust.

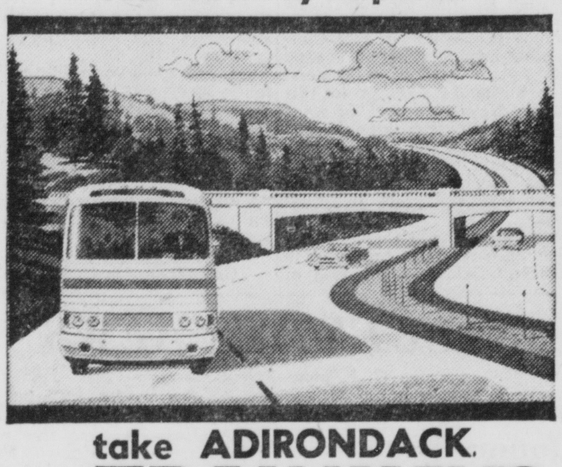

"Strange and sad it is," the archbishop continued, "that he should have sought his happiness in a manner inconsistent with the Christian principles of marriage . . ."

Many Britons feel that this judgment is much too cruel to be allowed to stand, and that the duke and duchess should now be welocmed into the royal family fold. As the duke, himself, has said in his memoirs, "Time has long since sanctified a true and faithful union."

Mitchell Agrees, Hits Spending

Ribicoff Denies Newburgh Reason for Welfare Shift

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff called today for voluntary welfare groups to join the government in improving national welfare laws.

"If the nation is to do a more effective job of preventing dependency, there will be work enough for all of us," Ribicoff said in remarks prepared for the Salvation Army Association luncheon. He was selected to receive the organization's annual citation.

Reviews Changes

The secretary reviwed briefly some of the administrative changes he announced Monday in the federal-state public assistance program. He said they are designed to eliminate abuses and develop constructive ways of getting people off relief.

Ribicoff denied at a Washington news conference Monday that the revamping of the federal-state assistance program was stimulated by the controversial welfare plan for Newburgh, N. Y.

"Absolutely not," he said. "It was under way long before that."

Enforcement Restrained

Enforcement of the Newburgh plan has been temporarily restrained by court action brought by New York State. Among other things, it called for unemployed men to work on public projects and halted aid to women who continued to have children out of wedlock.

At Newburgh, City Manager Joseph Mitchell, who spearheaded the local campaign, agreed that Ribicoff's action was unrelated to the Newburgh campaign "because his solution is to spend millions more of taxpayers' money to further a philosophy which has failed."

He added:

"I sincerely hope and pray that responsible senators and congressmen will not be hoodwinked by Ribicoff and that they will have the courage to tell him that he flunked the course and that the taxpayers want less —not more— of the welfare state."

Bid to Ribicoff

The Newburgh City Council unanimously approved Monday night a resolution by Republican Councilman Irving Green to invite Ribicoff to Newburgh for the purpose of informing the city officials how his proposed changes could affect Newburgh's program.

At the same time, the council wants to exchange ideas with the cabinet officer and present a clearer picture to him of what Newburgh has been trying to do.

Green said he also wanted to know exactly what effect Ribicoff's proposed changes would have once they filtered down to the local level.

Dedicate New City Court Room In Poughkeepsie

Dedication ceremonies for Poughkeepsie's new city courtroom on the second floor of the Slote Building, 2-4 Washington Street, that city, were conducted Monday prior to the first session of court in the new room.

Mayor Victor Waryas and Lloyd L. Rosenthal, president of the Dutchess County Bar association, were among the speakers

The ceremonies preceded arraignment of several defendants by City Judge Charles O'Donnell, whose term expires Dec. 31.

The last several months a special committee of the Dutchess Bar Association has been working on plans to obtain a new city courtroom. The committee comprised John R. Heilman, assistant district attorney; Paul S. Samuels and Joseph C. McCabe.

The new City Court suite includes a large courtroom, at least twice the size of the former courtroom in City Hall, and four adjoining rooms to be used for juries or conferences, court clerks and secretaries, a judge's chamber and quarters for filing court records.

Six Wallets Are Reported Stolen In Area Church

The rifling of wallets in church cloak rooms, experienced in Kingston area churches shortly before the Christmas holidays last year has started again, this time in Dutchess County.

State police at South Millbrook today continued investigation of the theft of six wallets from the choir room in the Pleasant Valley Presbyterian Church.

Troopers said the wallets, which contained about $48.34, belonged to members of the choir who were singing in the church. The theft occurred on Sunday, Nov. 26.

Owners of the wallets and contents taken by the thief were identified by troopers as Mrs. Ernest Palmquist, South Quaker Lane, Hyde Park, $2.50 and papers; her daughter, Marie $5.34 and personal papers; Mrs. Gertrude Talleur, Town of Poughkeepsie, $5.50 and credit cards; Margaret E. Howe, Pleasant Valley, personal papers; Mrs. William Dederer, Pleasant Valley, $7 and papers and Mrs. Frances Waye, 69 North Grand Avenue, Poughkeepsie, $28 and credit cards.

About this time last year local law enforcement agencies were investigating a series of wallet thefts in area churches. Five of the seven women victimized by the thief reported their wallets and valuable papers were recovered at the Governor Clinton Hotel where they were discarded after the money was taken.

Other wallets with money missing were also found at the Kirkland Hotel washroom where they had been discarded by the thief.

Wallets were taken from cloak rooms at Old Dutch Church, Kingston; Saugerties Methodist Church and Saugerties Reformed Church, and Woodstock Reformed Church. The thefts were usually reported following a choir rehearsal or other church program.

Man Hurt Near Alsen Leaves Hospital Today

Michael A. Dowdell, 20 of Long Island City, who was injured during the weekend in a highway mishap on Route 9W near the Alsen underpass, was discharged today from Greene County Memorial Hospital.

Leeds state police reported Dowdell in his 1960 foreign car was proceeding south on Route 9W, failed to negotiate a sharp left curve and struck the railroad abutment near Lehigh Portland Cement Company plant at Alsen.

Troopers said he suffered multiple lacerations of the forehead, abrasions of the head and possible shoulder injuries. The mishap occurred at 12:15 a. m. Saturday.

Kent to Tour World

George C. Kent, former Hurley postmaster, left today for a trip around the world. He will visit the west coast, going on to the Philippines where he will visit his son, before continuing the trip. Among the places he will visit is the Hawaiian Islands.

Two Fined Today In Local Court

A man booked last month on a charge dealing with the illegal carrying of a gun was sentenced in city court today on the lesser charge of disorderly conduct and a driver paid a $50 fine after another reduction of charge.

Raymond Johnson, 19, of 40 Murray Street, who was booked originally on the rifle charge, was fined $10 after pleading to disorderly conduct. Police said when he was arrested that he had threatened another man. Attorney S. James Matthews appeared for him.

Margaret Crumpton, 45, of Shokan, originally charged with driving wwhile intoxicated, paid the $50 today on a reckless driving charge. Attorney Joseph M. Campbell appeared for her.

Frank Banskie, 27, of 341 First Avenue, was booked Monday night on the charge of "illegal possession of lands." His wife, Marian, is listed as complainant, and it is alleged that he had returned to a property without due permission to do so. He is under $200 bail for City Court appearance Dec. 16.

Dennis Alexander, 20, of 101 Abeel Street, booked Monday night on a third degree assault charge is due in court tonight. Police said the charge was lodged by his wife.

Bids Put on 12 Properties at Local Tax Sale

Only 12 of 175 properties listed for tax sale in the city hall Monday attracted individual bids, City Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl reported today.

Of 150 properties on the block a year ago, 11 brought individual bids. In 1959 the sale brought 25 bids from individuals and a total of 116 properties were listed that year. All bids on Monday were small properties.

Will Join Mate

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—"I am not going to let my husband go to jail alone when it is my fault. If he is guilty, so am I."

Mrs. John F. Byrne, attractive mother of four, made that statement Monday after insisting on pleading guilty to a federal charge of evading $5,670 in income taxes for 1956-57.

Byrne, developer of a chain of restaurants, and his wife were indicted April 3.

Soothes Disposition

LONDON (AP)—Richard Gilbert, 45, was mild mannered and affable before a car knocked him from his motorcycle and he suffered brain injuries.

Afterward, his attorney said Monday in court, Gilbert became touchy, difficult and offensive, with a streak of nastiness he had not had before.

Would Test in Open

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., says he is so concerned over whether U.S. nuclear weapons actually will work that he wants testing resumed in the atmosphere.

"We don't know, actually, if an intercontinental ballistic missile will work with an atomic warhead," he said Monday. "We've never tried one."

Jacksonville Has 83

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Santa Claus had better trade his fur-trimmed suit for Bermuda shorts if the heat wave continues in the Jacksonville area.

A high temperature of 83 set a record Monday, beating the 80 recorded Dec. 11, 1931. Sunday's high of 82 also was a record breaker. Another day in the 80s was forecast for today.

Dutchess Votes Sick Leave

Dutchess County's Board of Supervisors Monday approved a sick leave plan for county employes. The board will allow employes to accumulate up to 120 days of sick leave. The previous allowance was 60 days. Under the new plan county employes are entitled to 12 days' sick leave with pay each year, in addition to annual three weeks' vacation.

Ryan's Car Parked

Charles A. Ryan, 62, of 105 Foxhall Avenue, said today that his car, one of three which police said was involved in an accident, was parked, and not in motion as indicated in a Monday report. The mishap Saturday night police said, was at Foxhall Avenue and Garden Street.

DR. NEAL BOWMAN

Speaker Listed For IMC Dinner Tonight at 6:30

The Kingston Industrial Management Club, sponsored by the YMCA, will hold its regular meeting tonight at the Hotel Stuyvesant starting with dinner at 6:30. Dr. Neal Bowman, a member of the staff of the National Association of Manufacturers will be the speaker.

Dr. Bowman will speak on the subject Inside With the Boss. This depicts ideas of top management getting to his supervisory staff personally and then on to the general overall employe in industry. This idea in management was derived at many years ago and set aside, but today it is regarded right up front and paying off for business and the employe as well.

The speaker was in attendance at the meeting of the National Association of Management last week when President John F. Kennedy was the main speaker. Club president Alfred Guerdon will ask Dr. Bowman to relate some of the ideas that the President expressed.

Dr. Bowman has had a rich and varied background as an educator, author, lecturer and sales psychologist. He became a member of the staff of NAM in 1944 and has traveled from coast to coast speaking on the latest ideas and techniques used in management and industry. He has also made many radio and television appearances.

IMC members are asked to bring a guest, so that others besides club members may get first hand information on the latest facets in industrial education, particularly what it means to know top management intimately.

Put Excess Checkbook Balance Into Stocks

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband and I are 50 years old. We own close to $10,000 in savings, another $10,000 in 'E' bonds and $15,000 in a checking account (of which $5,000 is really all we need to meet business and personal expenses). My husband is not too inclined toward stocks, but it seems to me that the excess in our checking account could serve us better in some investment." — A. G.

A) I must say that I agree with you. The $10,000 excess in your checking account should be invested so that the idle funds are kept working for you both.

Some people do not feel comfortable owning common stocks, and I can readily understand your husband's feelings in this matter. Nevertheless, I do want to point out that all of your capital is now in fixed income investments, the purchasing power of which will probably be pared over the years by inflation.

My suggestion is that you and your husband take the time to earnestly talk over the idea of investing the extra $10,000 in sound common stocks as a cost-of-living hedge.

All stocks have some degree of market risk. However, I believe that a diversified list of top grade issues such as Reynolds Tobacco, Scott Paper, American Electric Power and CIT Financial has strong defensive qualities and in the years ahead should appreciate more than enough to balance the purchasing-power loss of your other fixed income assets.

To me, this is sound investment policy, and I think you owe yourselves the opportunity of considering it.

Q) "What do you think of Atlantic Research?" — E. W.

A) Atlantic Research has a big stake in various defense programs, with emphasis on rockets and missiles. Earnings progress has been exceptional, and I rate the shares as a good commitment for those who can afford to hold a speculative issue.

Protest Display

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — A life-sized Nativity display on the Broome County Court House lawn is an insult to Jews and a travesty on religious freedom, a Universalist minister contends.

The Rev. Richard M. Woodman of the First Universalist Church says the display, depicting the birth of Jesus, would be "quite appropriate on a church lawn (but) has no place on the court house lawn."

State to Have Impact on His Political Future

Reporter Revisits W. Virginia To Check on JFK Standing Now

EDITOR'S NOTE—West Virginia has played a special part in the fortunes of John F. Kennedy. Here he won a pivotal political battle. Here he also encountered, in stark outline, the biggest domestic problem that he would face as president. A reporter revisits the state for this second of five articles examining the Kennedy record.

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—No state can match West Virginia in its impact on the eventful political life of John F. Kennedy.

Here Kennedy spent a month last year slugging it out in a tough presidential primary.

Here he learned how prosperity and hard times can coexist.

Here he was so impressed with the problems caused by automation that to this day he seems to use a special tone when he refers to the economic lessons he picked up first hand in West Virginia.

Here, in a battle of promises with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., he firmly vowed things would be better if he became president.

"I take the commitments which I have made in this state very seriously," Kennedy told West Virginia voters.

It has been 19 months since Kennedy so diligently toured this state, trying to convince audiences—sometimes large and enthusiastic, sometimes as small as a dozen mildly interested spectators—that he should be in the White House.

For 11 months he has been President.

To find out how he's done on his promises, let's retrace a campaign trip.

In May 1960, Kennedy, his voice almost gone from excessive speech-making, left booming, prosperous Charleston, crossed the Kanawha River and went up famed Cabin Creek, where coal is everything.

Kennedy went as far as Eskdale, arriving at a politically opportune moment for a man preaching a doctrine of economic revival. Times were so rough the company store had closed that day, for keeps.

Fortunately, Slim Robertson, the longtime manager of the company store, is still around. He has moved down the road a piece, where he manages the state liquor dispensary.

He's Convinced

Robertson, an early Kennedy supporter, retains his old enthusiasm.

"I'm convinced," he said, "that things are going to get better."

He recited some of the things Kennedy has helped bring to West Virginia: New factories are opening or are being planned, food stamps for the poor are in use, a public works program has been started, a big interstate highway has been announced.

"What worries me are the young people," he went on. "What is going to happen to them? Used to be, they went into the mines automatically. Now only one thing can happen at the mines. They need fewer and fewer men."

Not So Cheerful

Cross the road and the railroad tracks that follow Cabin Creek. Here, as it has for almost 49 years, stands the N. A. Nehman Grocery.

Mrs. Nehman isn't so cheerful about the results Kennedy has obtained. Business has steadily dropped.

"You should have seen this place right after the war," she said. "Charleston depended on us then. City buses every two hours. Now all those vacant homes. And these are such good people. It's a shame really."

The three Nehman boys have solved their problem by migrating to Washington to work for the government. While most of the nation grew, West Virginia lost 145,151 residents between 1950 and 1960.

A 19-year-old hitchhiker, picked up on the way back to town, shows how tough the problem is. He seemed like a bright youngster, but, no, he had never held a job.

"To tell you the truth, I haven't looked too hard," he said. "The mines are about blowed out."

He dropped out of school in the ninth grade.

Automation Hurts

Now drive to the fine residential area in the hills of South Charleston. Lights from a cluster of industrial plants in the valley shine eerily but spectacularly through a haze of chemical fumes. Despite this activity, some of these factories, by using automation, get the same job done with fewer men.

Now, to complete the confusion, let's drop in at the state capital.

Big Welfare Problem

A couple of examples will show how serious this problem is: Around 300,000 persons are entitled to surplus food. More than half of the McDowell County residents are entitled to some form of relief. McDowell, in the heart of the coal country, is trying out the food stamp idea.

In the state Bureau of Labor the word is that things are picking up, that those who draw unemployment insurance have fallen from a high of 45,527 in February to 17,657 in October.

Bleak Fact Remains

Cheering as this may be, one bleak fact remains. Many unemployed West Virginians don't have this insurance—and one worker out of 10 still has no job.

In the words of Miles Stanley of the AFL-CIO: "More basic answers to the state's problems of chronic and persistent unemployment must be found."

Throughout his campaign Kennedy stressed that a sturdy economic growth was essential if this nation was to come up with 25,000 new jobs it needs each week for the next 10 years.

"How is it going to be possible," candidate Kennedy asked, "for this country to maintain full employment with a low rate of economic growth, especially at a time when machines are taking jobs of men? I would consider that to be the No. 1 domestic problem which the next president of the United States will have to meet."

Those around the President say a start has been made.

And in a speech at Trenton, N.J., Kennedy insisted America is on the move again.

But a nation's economic health is incredibly complex, involving everything from gold reserves to interest rates to inflation.

Rest on Job Demand

But on one statistic they all agree: More people are working, but, because more jobs are needed, the rat of unemployment has not changed much, though some improvement was noted in November.

As Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg put it: "We have a stubborn and continuing unemployment problem. I wish to reaffirm the determination of the Kennedy administration to reduce this unemployment problem to manageable proportions. We shall continue vigorously to pursue our objectives of a higher rate of economic growth."

Javits Says Nixon Leads GOP Race For Nomination

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R - NY, says former Vice President Richard M .Nixon is the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, not Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Javits Saturday challenged a recent statement by GOP national chairman William Miller that Goldwater was the leading contender, followed by Nixon and New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Javits, in an interview, criticized Goldwater's conservative policies, adding:

"He has had a constructive role in the party but I don't think Goldwater represents the viewpoint of the party as a whole."

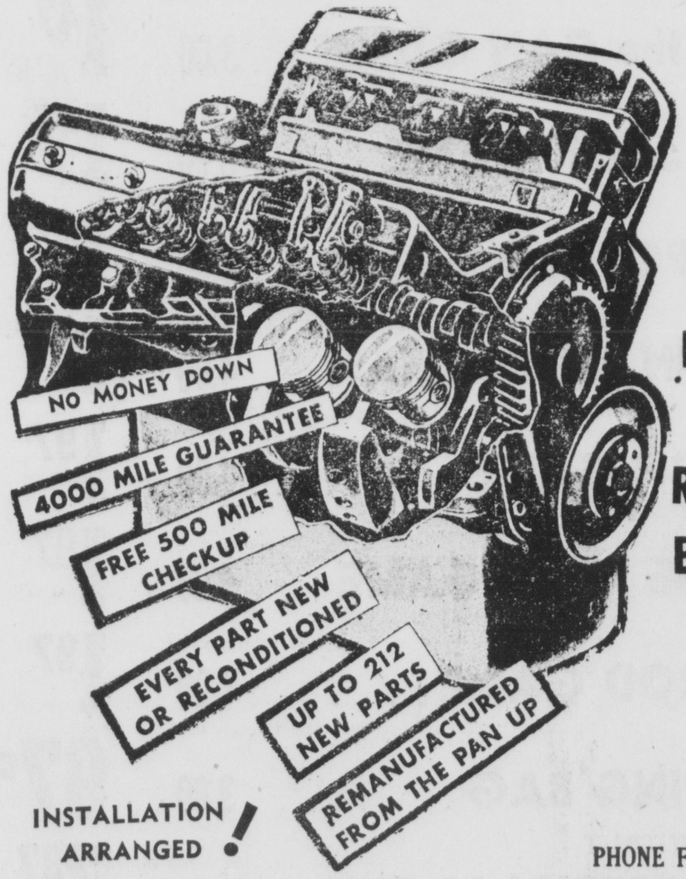

Javits is a member of the more liberal Republican wing. He also ranked Rockefeller ahead of Goldwater as a presidential possibility.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

The Town of Rochester furnished many recruits for the Union Army and one of these was Enoch V. Schoonmaker, youngest of 15 children of Moses and Jane Vreeland Schoonmaker. While living at Accord, he enlisted in the 20th N. Y. State Infantry. He was at the battle of Petersburg, Virginia at the time of the great explosion there. The regiment was mustered out June 17, '65 at Fortress Monroe. Death loss of 220th (known earlier as the Ulster Guards and also as the Eightieth Regiment of Infantry, Veteran) was 284 officers and men. These casualties included six killed in the ammnition explosion at City Point, Va., Aug. 9, 1864, and 22 who died in the hands of the enemy. Col. Jacob B. Hardenbergh was in command at time of its final mustering out, Jan. 29, 1866. Veteran Schoonmaker was married, Sept. 13, 1865, to Sarah C. Sahler and their six children were Catherine N., Robert R., Margaret H., Mary C., Carrie D., and Florence D. He was a Republican in politics and a member of the Kingston 2nd Dutch Church.

Monday afternoon, May 31, 1886, Odd Fellows Hall on The Strand, Rondout, was the scene of an interesting ceremony when the members of General Grant Post, Grand Army of the Republic, were presented with one of the finest stand of colors that the Ladies Auxiliary of the post could secure. The Rev. A. K. Fuller in presenting the stand to the veterans who were drawn up in line on the raised platform, said in part: "And now what need I say. Does not this flag speak more eloquently than any words of mine? To the soldiers especially how much it means! You will prize this banner because of the source from whence it comes. It is the gift of woman, the soldier's truest friend and helper in war or in peace. All honor, I say, to our loyal daughters and patriotic mothers. You will never regard this with just the feelings you do those old flags, blood-stained and bullet-torn, which you followed and fought under, in the day of conflict. But it is an American banner, and, as such, has a value no other ensign can possibly have to you."

Professor Bunten, a member of the post, in accepting the flag said: "We shall prize these beautiful colors for what they represent, for the sacred memories that cluster so thickly around them as the symbol of our nation's grandeur and glory—won and perpetuated no less by the self-sacrificing devotion of woman than by the manly courage and heroic deeds displayed on many a hard-fought field of battle. We shall prize them still more highly because they assure us that the women—God bless them—still retain the great interest they have always shown in the soldiers of the Republic. Comrades, these colors come to us from the same hands that during all the long and terrible war were so busy providing for the wants and comforts of the soldier; caring for him in sickness and in suffering, deftly and tenderly binding his wounds, and soothing and generally administering hope and consolatioin as only woman with her warm, loving heart can do. The women of the free North in 1861 were loyal and true, and their tender love and sympathy followed the soldier wherever he was called. All honor, then, to the noble, true-hearted women of America! For four long years of trial and suspense, of bitter anguish and sad bereavement, they furnished a noble, a splendid example of more than Spartan heroism and self-abnegation. May their chidren's children rise up and call them blessed!

Ulster County veterans of service with the 120th Regiment in June of 1886 were making preparations to journey to Gettysburg where the 23rd anniversary of the great three days battle was to be observed on the following July 2. Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, the dapper little ex-Tammany Hall politician who had literally fought his way to command of the renowned Third Army Corps was scheduled to deliver an address. Our local boys belonged to Sickles' Corps and they with other regiments bore the brunt of the battle the second day and probably did much toward giving the Union Army a victory on the third day. Sickles had requested Capt. James K. Holmes of the 120th to get the name and address of every surviving member of the unit so that a circular regardinig the reunion could be sent to them. There were 240 surviving members in '86, 150 of whom resided in Ulster and Greene Counties.

General Sickles, a fearless fighter if ever there was one, had made bitter enemies as well as loyal friends in the course of his meteroric rise to military fame. The man who boasted that he was the friend of five presidents, including Lincoln, was of such personal magnetism that even his brigade chaplains, Twichell and O'Hagan, came to like the man, his rather unsavory reputation in civil life nothwithstanding; impetuous, he disregarded General Meade's command to hold back his men until further orders. The carnage was frightful and several generals were among the killed. The Confederates came over like swarms of bees, — "They appeared to have the devil in them," one officer observed. The peach orchard and the knee-deep wheat field became a shambles. Colonel Haskel, viewing the struggle from Cemetery Ridge, described the scene thus tersely: "What a hell there is down that valley!"

The sun was setting over Cemetery Ridge after bearing down upon those tens of thousands of men all that long hot summer's day; the rain of hot metal from enemy artillery had begun to taper off a little and Dan Sickles was sitting on his horse watching the awesome scene. A cannonball contacted the general's right leg, shattering it beyond repair. He was losing a lot of blood despite the tourniquet which he directed an aide to fashion from a saddle strap. Placed on a stretcher, the redoubtable Yankee from New York City appeared not long for this world, and his two chaplains prepared to accompany him to the operating tent. Now Sickles was a born showman, a characteristic possibly acquired from his friend, P. T. Barnum. Upon being informed that rumor had gone around the field that he was mortally wounded, he told a stretcher bearer to get a cigar out of the case in his inside pocket and light it. Thus fortified with a Havana, and puffing away for all to see, he had at once gratified his own ego and set the minds of his corps at ease.

General Sickles liked his joke, too. After a long period of treatment in a Washington hospital during which time President Lincoln came to see him, he was able to go to Lake George, N. Y. for recuperation. But he took time off to have his departed leg 'embalmed' and placed in a glass case in a museum. It pleased him greatly to know that many persons came to view the remains. Sickles loved the New York State regiments of his famous Excelsior Brigade; he thought they were just about the best fighters in the whole Union Army. His men reciprocated this affection and in fact rather idolized him. They knew that when Dan Sickles sent them against the Johnnies, he sure enough went right along with them.

Proposes Changes In Absentee Vote

New York—Residents of New York State should not lose their right to vote simply because they happen to be away on vacation on Election Day, Secretary of State Caroline K. Simon said Monday.

In remarks prepared for delivery at hearings of the Joint Legislative Committee to Study Election and Related Statutes, Mrs. Simon suggested that the State Legislature extend the rights of the absentee ballot to qualified voters, whose vacations take them away from their county of residence on Election Day.

Mrs. Simon also suggested that the committee consider legislation in two other areas:

1. Extend absentee registration rights to students pursuing studies outside their counties of residence, but still within the state.

2. Let newcomers to the state, who were qualified to vote in the state where they formerly made their home, vote in presidential elections here.

Mrs. Simon urged that the right to register on an absentee basis for students within the state be added, basing her recommendation on that fact that present law permits a New York State student to register and vote by absentee ballot if he is attending an institution outside the state.

Mrs. Simon also said that the requirements that newcomers must spend a year in the state before qualifying as voters should be reduced in the case of national elections.

Conceding that the newcomers to the state would need time to acquaint themselves with local issues and candidates, Mrs. Simon said that these factors did not apply in national campaigns.

"A citizen would be as familiar with the national issues and political personalities in his new location as he was in his previous residence. National candidates and national issues are equally well-known to members of the voting population wherever they may reside."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Bing Crosby, on motion picture business in England recently, turned his trip to television's advantage. He converted a stroll through London into a pleasant, relaxed and decidedly off-beat variety hour.

Bing's Hollywood-made specials of other ABC seasons have been among the best. Monday night's, although completely different, maintained the same high standard of taste and gentle humor.

We first saw Bing wandering into a tea shop for a cup—and running into Dave King, the personable entertainer who was Perry Como's summer replacement. Aided by a pretty girl singer, Marian Ryan, they sang and clowned in this unusual setting. Then he roamed on, next encountering comedian Terry-Thomas playing a civil servant. Perhaps at this point, the comedy writers let both Bing and Terry-Thomas down a bit. Later there was a delightful number in a court room with a judge who was a jolly combination of the duchess in Alice in Wonderland and someone out of Gilbert and Sullivan.

Bing wound up in a pub, of course, with a brief appearance by Bob Hope. It was a real nice show.

NBC's David Brinkley, reporting the news during the dinner hour Monday night, used a forbidden five-letter word—although he was quoting a U.S. senator. Question: does language which routinely is edited out of dramatic shows by network censors as unfit for tender ears become fit in news reports? Lots of children watch news shows as well as cartoons and Westerns.

Recommended tonight: "Dick Powell Show, NBC, 9-10 EST)—"A Swiss Affair," international spy stuff with Powell and Hazel Court; "Ernie Kovacs Special," ABC, 10?30-11—an off-beat excursion into comedy.

200 Attend 10th Anniversary Fete Of Little League

More than 200 attended the 10th anniversary celebration of the Little New Paltz League recently at the Methodist Church.

The Rev. Willett Porter gave the blessing as he has done for the past nine years. President Leon Keator welcomed the adults present and thanked them for their interest and attendance. A generous vote of thanks was given the Men's Club which served the dinner.

There were 116 boys on this year's six teams. A total of 30 boys are leaving the league to join the 239 past members.

Two new teams will be added to the league next year, they will be the Mets, managed by Ben Lardiere, and the Tigers to be managed by Dick Heroy. A total of 48 new uniforms, 32 new tee shirts and 160 caps lettered NP have been ordered. Each team will play a total of 14 games.

A greater effort on the sale of booster tickets and another tag day will be made to meet the additional expense.

Mayor Henry DuBois and Supervisor Peter Savago, both spoke in praise for the members of the Little League and their supervising staff.

Ed Palladino, sports writer for the Kingston Daily Freeman, not only praised the boys and their leaders but the mothers as well for their support.

The following awards were presented:

A plaque for ten years of service to the league by the New Paltz Independent and Times was presented to Mrs. James O. LeFevre.

The first individual trophy ever presented to a player was given to Larry Pedersen for the first no-hit, no-run game which was played July 7.

William Kelly, former coach with the Red Sox was awarded a trophy for his years of service and devotion to them. Individual trophies were given the Red Sox, champions for 1961.

Receiving trophies for their ten years service to the league were umpires Bill Porter, Pete Rooney and Bob DuBois; managers George Ackert, Warren McDowell and Lee Keator.

Yule Lighting Program Slated On December 20

The Christmas tree lighting program, sponsored by the local Jaycees, will be held Dec. 20 at 7 p. m. in front of the Municipal Building, Plattekill Avenue.

The ceremony will begin with an invocation and will be followed by carol singing and a prayer.

Mayor, Henry DuBois, will speak briefly before he lights the tree.

Santa will arrive with candy for all the children present. Hot chocolate will be served to all after which groups will sing carols through the village streets.

Over 350 attended last year's lighting of the tree program and the Jaycees are looking for an even greater attendance this year.

Education Group Meets Thursday

The next meeting of the Independent Citizens Committee for Education will be held Thursday, Dec. 14 at 8 p. m. in the Municipal Building, Plattekill Avenue. All committee chairmen will report on the study of the question Are Our Facilities Adequate for the Satisfactory Education of Our Children?

Committees under the direction of Robert Corey, Walter Dyer and Michael Landis, have spent the last two months making an exhaustive study of the enrollment, space and financial aspects of the question.

All delegates and alternates are urged to be present for these important reports. Using the information obtained by these committees, the ICCE will consider its future course of action.

Music Department Begins Benefit Sale

The announcement has been made that the New Paltz Central School Music Department will be conducting a door-to-door candy sale starting this week.

The sale is to raise funds for sending students to the New York State Sectional Music Festivals, to finance the music awards given each spring, and to start a fund for the aquisition of band-chorus seated risers which are much needed for music and dramatic programs.

Two hundred and thirteen students will be involved in the project which is being conducted by the following committee to represent the various music organizations: Eugene Cotton, band president; George Bond, chorus president; Bernard Bartz, orchestra; Charlotte Rohe, girls ensemble; Alice Jaeger, color guard and drill team; Stanley Ackerman, intermediate band; Bethany Tucker, junior high girls chorus; John Dayger, junior high boys glee club; and Bruce Blatchly elementary students.

Sockman Is Speaker

The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, noted radio preacher and retiring from the pastorate of Christ Methodist Church, New York City, at the end of this year, will be the guest speaker at the concluding services of the 175th Anniversary Year celebration of the New Paltz Methodist Church at the 11 a. m. worship service Sunday, Jan. 7.

Betrothal Is Told

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Van Kleeck of Sunset Ridge, New Paltz, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to Joseph Sorge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sorge of Lake George, N. Y.

Shirley is a graduate of Kingston High School and is presently employed as a secretary by IBM in Kingston.

NY Union Leader Threatens Strike Of 6,000 Workers

BAL HARBOR, Fla. (AP) —A labor leader says he will ask his union's 6,000 members in New York City to authorize a city-wide strike Jan. 1 unless they get a 20-hour work week. He got pledges of support from other labor leaders of the city.

The workers—members of Local 3 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers—now have a 6-hour day, 30 hours a week. They work an extra hour a day at overtime rates.

Harry Van Arsdale, business manager of the local and head of the New York City Labor Council, said employers will be asked to inaugurate a four-hour day, 20-hour week at the same pay yield plus a 40-cent per hour increase in wages and benefits.

Van Arsdale said the demand is intended to share available work since factory prefabrication of electrical compents has eliminated considerable on-site work.

He said that with rising automation the four-hour day probably will become a general thing for all American workers by 1970.

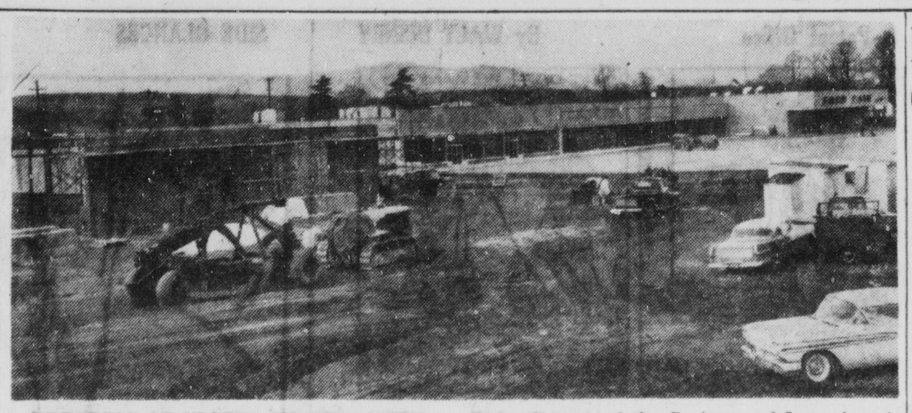

"That's too long for us to wait," he added.

matter of Fact

A two-inch-long "stop and go light" is the luminiscent railroad worm of South America. He got his name for obvious reasons. At his head a red light glows; greenish-yellow lights adorn each side. Sometimes this glowworm's lights are turned off. But blow on him and his red signal flashes. His green lights will shine anytime you give him a little shake. You just have to know the combination.

PROGRESS AT ULSTER SHOPPING CENTER—Recent mild weather has permitted continual progress in the construction of the shopping center on Albany Avenue Extension in the Town of Ulster. The Food Fair super market (far right) is expected to be open for business early in January. The two open fronts next to the Food Fair will house a cleaners and the Ulster Branch of the Savings and Loan Association, Kingston, 267 Wall Street. The closed-in establishment (Center) will house F. W. Woolworth Company and the building to the far right will be The Wallace Company department store, expected to open in the summer. Jay Steel's girder installation was completed this week on the Wallace store. (Freeman photo).

Legion Post Slates Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party for members of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, and their children, will be held at the American Legion Home, West O'Reilly Street, Sunday, December 17, beginning at 2 p. m.

This annual party with a visit from Santa Claus, motion pictures for the children, singing of Christmas carols and serving of refreshments is always an outstanding affair of the Legion Christmas season program.

Damages Figure Low

NEW YORK (AP)—Limiting individual damages in international airline accidents to $8,300 is as outdated as flying passengers in fabric-and-wire biplanes, says the New York State Association of Plaintiffs' Trial Attorneys.

The group wired President Kennedy Sunday urging the federal government to denounce the 1929 Warsaw convention agreement which limits air damages to $8,300.

The group said the agreement has become a "Frankenstein, shackling the victims of air disasters to an absurdly inadequate" financial recovery.

NewSiteProposed For Abstract Art Depicting Woman

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A new city site has been proposed for sculptor Larry Griffis' "Spirit of Womanhood" statue, a piece of abstract art that has touched off a public uproar here.

City Parks Commissioner George Martin, who likes the statue, asked the city council Monday to let him shift its proposed location to Lincoln Parkway on the North side.

The statue, a toothpick-like figure of woman holding a large hoop, was originally planned for another city plot, but the widow of the man for whom the plot was named didn't like it.

Meanwhile, a fresh batch of public opinion rolled in to both local newspapers which had published pictures last week of a two-foot wax version of the figure Most of it came from women.

"The statue means nothing more than a string-bean skeleton holding a hula-hoop," said one woman. "If this is a symbol of what I am, I better give up."

Griffis, an art teacher, would get a $9,000 commission for a 12-foot bronze version of the figure. The sculpture was commissioned to honor the local founder of the Zonta Club, now a nationwide women's organization.

Griffis' design was one of four submitted. He said he likes all the public clamor because controversy is good for art.

The city council reserved decision on the site, indicating that it wanted to hear more from the public.

Farm Bureau Head Scores Price Support

CHICAGO (AP) — President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation Monday attacked federal farm price support and control programs as violations of divine law.

He said that by giving something for nothing through subsidies and by limiting individual intiative, these programs deny "the unmitakable pattern of God's plan" that individuals accept and discharge greater responsibilities.

Shuman took this position in a talk prepared for his organization's annual convention, which opened Sunday and extends through Thursday. The farm leader has been s sharp critic of Kennedy administration farm policies.

Postmaster Says Checks Were Late, Not in Any Bin

CORNING, N. Y. (AP)—Incoming social security checks were delivered three days late here last week because they arrived late and not because they were mistakenly dumped into a bin for low-priority "junk mail," says Corning Postmaster Floyd English.

"I never heard of any bin for 'junk mail' at any post office, and we don't have one here," English said Monday night.

"The checks arrived late because someone somewhere else made a mistake and stuck them in the wrong bag, that's all," English said.

He said the checks arrived in second-class mail sacks, instead of smaller first-class mail pouches.

Syracuse Man Pleads Innocent To Murder Charge

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Ex-convict Charles Trudeau entered a mandatory plea of innocent Monday to a charge of first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Louise Temple, real-estate saleswoman whose body was found in the trunk of her automobile.

Trudeau, indicted Sept. 28, also pleaded innocent at arraignment in county court to charges of forging and cashing a check allegedly stolen from Mrs. Temple and stealing her automobile and other checks and cash totaling $415.

Judge Donald H. Mead of Onondaga County court set trail for Feb. 5.

Mrs. Temple, a 50-year-old divorcee from Auburn, showed Trudeau an expensive suburban home Aug. 18 police said.

Turkey Growers Will Give Views On Federal Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Northeastern turkey-growers came here to air their views today on whether they favor or oppose a plan for federal regulation of the turkey industry.

The hearing, last in a series of six, was called by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

The proposed federal marketing order for the industry would:

1. Regulate the number of turkeys hatched, if there still were an oversupply.

2. Require holding some marketable turkeys back for disposition in a non-competitive manner. Hatcherymen and final processors would carry out the market stabilization.

Other sessions have been held at Richmond, Va.; Des Moines, Iowa; Las Vegas, Nev.; Oklahoma City and Chicago.

At those sessions, witnesses testified that overproduction of turkeys this year cost turkey-growers losses totaling approximately $75 million.

Crushed in Mixer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Charles George, 30, a construction equipment driver for the State Thruway Authority, was injured fatally Monday when he was crushed in the moving parts of a cement mixer on a bridge repair job near here. George lived in nearby Clarence.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Does it pay off to be Ben-Hur's best girl? Yes and no, says Haya Hayareet.

Yes, said the Israeli beauty, "it is good to be a part of a movie that is now part of history."

No, she added, she doesn't want to be a museum piece.

"I am not Esther of 'Ben-Hur,'" she argued. "I am an actress who played the part of Esther. But that doesn't mean I have to go on playing Esther for the rest of my life."

I have heard that plaint before. But Haya is doing something about her problem. Rid of her MGM contract, she stepped right into the role of an up-to-date lady doctor in Columbia's "The Interns."

I found her in an un-Esther-like guise, frolicking with a group of young interns at a New Year's Eve party.

"I finished my contract with MGM on Nov. 11 and this picture came up immediately," she reported. "That is a good sign.

"MGM treated me as a father would have treated me. I was well taken care of. But I was not allowed to grow up. They could think of me only in terms of Biblical pictures."

"Ben-Hur" took three years of her life: a year of study, a year of active preparation and shooting, a year of waiting for the movie to come out and playing traveling salesgirl for it.

Haya made but two pictures in two years—one a forgettable suspense drama made in England with Stewart Granger, the other a costume epic in Rome that brought on the great Israel naval battle.

"It was quite a scandal in my country, because I played the role with my navel exposed," she said. "I didn't even have a jewel in it. I don't know why they got so excited about it.

"I am not ashamed of my navel. It is there, like everyone else's.

"After the picture was over, I went home to Israel and straightened them out. I told them they should worry about Ben-Gurion, not my navel."

OCS Memorandum Reviews Bus Transportation Policy

A comprehensive review of the school transportation situation in the Onteora Central Schools District and the legal aspects of transportation in general was released today by Watson I. Goodrich, Director of Transportation for the district.

The memorandum notes that New York State requires that elementary students living more than two miles and secondary students living more than three miles from their school be transported to school at district expense.

The Onteora Board of Education has superseded this requirement and ordered that the Chief Administrator provide transportation to all children living more than one mile from the school they attend. Additionally, children living more than one mile from a main bus route must be provided with transportation to the nearest school bus stop.

The organization and administration of the transportation system has been delegated by the District Principal to the Director of Transportation. The Director of Transportation is responsible for the setting up of all main line and feeder routes, route specifications, transportation budget, student bus lists, loading and unloading, bidding of routes, screening of drivers—both district and contract, bus contracts, small vehicle scheduling, special trip scheduling, bus fire and civil defense procedures and daily safe operation.

Each year the transportation system is completely re-evaluated. During the month of February a survey is made to determine the requirements for the following school year. New bus routes are established and old routes discontinued or rerouted when necessary. Feeder routes are scheduled and a budget request is compiled and presented to the Board of Education Budget Committee. This year the transportation budget for the Onteora school district is $215,000. Approximately 90 per cent of this amount is returned to the district in the form of transportation state aid.

Private Contractor

Once the budget is approved by the voters of the district, bid specifications are written, advertised and awarded. Since the district owns only five of its own buses, this year 34 main bus routes and nine feeder routes were awarded to private contractors. Most main line buses are 60-66 passenger buses. They travel a distance of 2,216.4 miles per day or 398,952 miles per school year. The longest bus route is 20.5, taking 45 minutes to make the complete run. The average school bus run takes less than 30 minutes.

Each school bus driver must be approved by the District Superintendent and the Board of Education. He must file a physical examination report each year indicating he is physically qualified to drive a school bus. All drivers hold Class II chauffeur licenses. New drivers are road tested by the school's head bus driver and interviewed by school administrative staff members.

All buses are inspected quarterly by a representative of the New York State Public Service Commission. Vehicles failing inspection may not be used until fault is corrected. The district-owned vehicles are serviced and maintained by the school mechanic. In addition to the five large buses, there are three carry-alls, two station wagons, two dual-controlled Driver Education cars and one passenger car to be maintained.

Many Pickup Points

Student pick-up points are established for each route. In areas where several families live near each other, only one bus stop is established. Since each stop causes more traffic to be held up, central pick-up points are safer than attempting to stop a school bus every 100-200 feet. All students are returned to the pick-up. The school does not transport students to places other than home for any reason. Sudents are instructed to board the buses only at the bus stop nearest their homes. Failure to follow this procedure could cause the student the loss of riding privilege. Additionally, student disturbance on a school bus could also result in loss of riding privilege.

During winter months, school will be closed when road conditions are not good. A road check is conducted every morning at 5:00 a. m. by the District Principal and the Director of Transportation. On questionable mornings, road superintendents are consulted. If a decision to close is made, announcements will be made by Radio Stations WKNY, WGHQ, WBAZ and WGY. School closings on bad winter days do not short change your child. There are seven additional days in this year's school calendar just for this purpose.

Parents Can Help

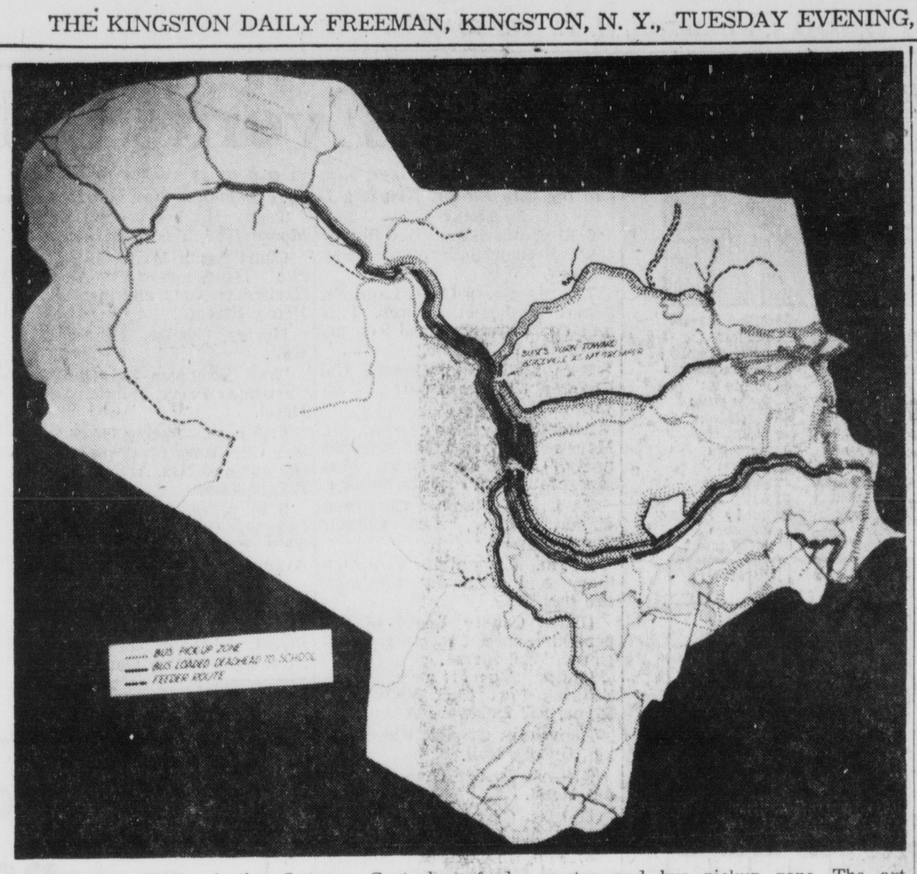

Transporting 2038 students each day is a great responsibility. Parents may help by having their children to the bus stop on time; insisting on pupil cooperation with school officials; complying with school requests; observing best safety practices in their own driving; studying with the child the list of transportation regulations; accompanying children to the bus and meeting the bus in the afternoon for the purpose of supervising their conduct and assisting in the establishment of desirable safety practices. In heavily populated areas, parents could work together taking turns meeting the bus.

Transporting children to dental offices, barber shops, stores or to a friend's house is a parenal responsibility that the school should not and does not assume. Also, parents should report traffic violations near school buses to law enforcement officials. Passing a stopped school bus could cost the life of a child and the car could be driven by a neighbor who regularly exhibits a disregard for traffic safety and your children.

Safety is first in our school bus program. School officials and drivers are continually searching for safety devices. Currently we are experimenting with a bus speaker system which will enable the driver to speak to students in and outside of the bus. The driver will be able to tell students when to cross the road and also easily speak to anyone in the rear of the bus.

All questions regarding transportation should be referred to the building principal or to the Director of Transportation. Together it is possible to strive to make our transportation system safe, efficient, economical and completely functional in that it meets the needs of those to be served.

Christian Science Theme: Evolution

Is the Universe, Including Man, evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be heard Sunday Christian Science churches.

Opening the Scriptural readings will be this message from Psalm 19: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament shewth his handywork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge. There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard . . . The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes."

Also pointing up the supreme power of God are correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scrip- which include (p. 272): "God is the divine Principle of all that represents Him and of all that really exists."

Famous Artists Design Cards for UN's Child Fund

Since 1950 the United Nations Children's Fund has sold greeting cards at Christmas time designed by famous artists from many countries, Mrs. Helen Buttrick points out.

This year their catalog includes a delightful series of five cards, "A Child's World" by Andre Francois of France; five decorative and unusual scenes of Eskimo life by Eskimo artists of Cape Desert on Baffin Island, Canada; "Carol Singers" by Ludwig Bemelmans; "The Journey" by Bedri Rahmi Eyuboglue of Turkey; a delicate and beautiful design, "The Star" by R. M. Raman Chughtai of Pakistan; Marc Chagall's "Glad Tidings"; Misch Kohn's "The Herald" and a copy of Pablo Picasso's tapestry in the lounge of United Nations headquarters, called "Haven."

All proceeds from the sale of these cards, like the proceeds from UNICEF Trick and Treat at Halloween, are used for food and medicine for sick and hungry children. Last year 17 million cards were sold in 90 countries, and brought in enough money to equip 20 thousand small maternal and child health centers all over the world.

The illustrated catalog of UNICEF cards can be obtained from United Nations Committee for UNICEF, P. O. Box 22, Church Street Station, New York 8, N. Y.

The Fact About 'Silent Night' By Schimmerling

It was not just so that the names Franz Gruber, composer of Silent Night became generally known right after he had composed it in 1818. The story of how this song came into existence in the small Austrian town of Oberndorf is too well known to be retold in this column. The song might have been forgotten if the man who came from the Tyrol to repair the organ in the Oberndorf church wouldn't have taken with him a copy of the song. We know that the song was written to substitute something that couldn't have been done otherwise because of the damage done to the organ, ostensibly by a mouse—to which we, therefore, are indebted for this most celebrated among all Christmas Carols.

Torstein O. Kvamme in "The Christmas Carolers' Book" reports that the song was published in 1840 in Leipzig, Germany. Neither composer Gruber nor author Franz Mohr received any credit: their names were not mentioned. The song, because sung by some folksingers from the Tyrolean Ziller-Valley, was then a Tyrolean folksong, also when performed at about the same time for the king of Prussia by the Berlin Cathedral Choir; and this at a time when both, composer and author, were still alive. Why for sometime thereafter the song was attributed to Michael Haydn, brother of the famous Joseph Haydn, might be due to Michael Haydn's choral arrangement of the carol.

Now in Museum

The only authentic manuscript of the song in Gruber's handwriting is preserved in the museum of the little town Hallein in the Austrian province of Salzburg. This museum is actually the room where Gruber died in 1863. Peculiar enough that this only manuscript shows significant melodic and rhythmical differences from the version which we are used to hear and to sing. It might so be that the copy which the Tyrolean organ repair-man took with him was different, or that the folksingers or the Leipzig publisher made changes. One thing, however, is certain: the version we know does not agree with the Hallein Manuscript which is a setting for horn, strings, organ (bass) and four-part chorus. On that manuscript we read these words (in German, of course) in Gruber's handwriting: "Dear friend, here the promised Christmas song in score from . . . . good-bye and all good wishes to your wife and children, your friend Franz Gruber."

Years later, after the names of the composer and author had been rightfully connected with the song, publishers and editors continued to publish erroneous statements. Wrong spellings of both names are found even in recent reprints.

For example, G. Schirmer, one of this country's foremost music publishers, published still in 1932 (date of copyright renewal) a choral book, edited by Archer Gibson, "For Sunday-School, Choir and General Use," in which Gruber's song appears as "German Folksong" with words from the "Parish Hymnal." Neither author or composer is mentioned. —Father Finn's Carol Book (Birchard & Co., Boston 1917) mentions Gruber (not Mohr) but uses a wrong melody that neither agrees with the version we know nor with the Hallein Manuscript. It is peculiar that the same melodic "mistake" is found in "Christmas Carols and Hymns for Schools and Choirs" (American Book Co., N.Y. 1910). Here the editor Hollis Dann, Professor of Music at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., still attributes the composition to Michael Haydn.

When looking at his photocopy of the manuscript, this writer cannot escape sentimental emotions which he also felt when visiting the chapel on the place where Silent Night was sung for the first time, or when looking at the beautiful memorial windows in the chapel that show Gruber with the guitar and Mohr with pen and paper, or when looking at the music scores with words in Chinese, Japanese, Ethiopian, Indonesian, Arabic and, of course, the more familiar "western" (better: Indo-European) languages, into which this most famous of all songs was translated.

Plum Pudding Pie Is Yule Novelty

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Let's surprise Santa with a different treat this year. Instead of leaving a dish of plum pudding for him by the chimney, how about a handsome plum pudding pie, instead?

Plum Pudding Pie

1 Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon clove
¼ teaspoon allspice
1/3 cup margarine
1/3 cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup candied fruit
1½ cups ready-to-use mincemeat
½ cup chopped walnuts
3 eggs, separated

Mix flour, cinnamon, salt, clove and allspice together in mixing bowl. Cut in margarine until coarse crumbs form. Combine corn syrup and candied fruit, then stir into crumb mixture with mincemeat and nuts. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised, then beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Fold egg yolks, then beaten egg whites into flour-fruit mixture. Pour into unbaked shell. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven until center is firm, about 1 hour. Decorate and serve warm or cold with Hard Sauce and candied cherries or with Lemon Sauce. Makes 8 servings.

NOTE: Pie can be made ahead and reheated in 300 degrees F. (slow) oven 45-50 minutes.

Hard Sauce

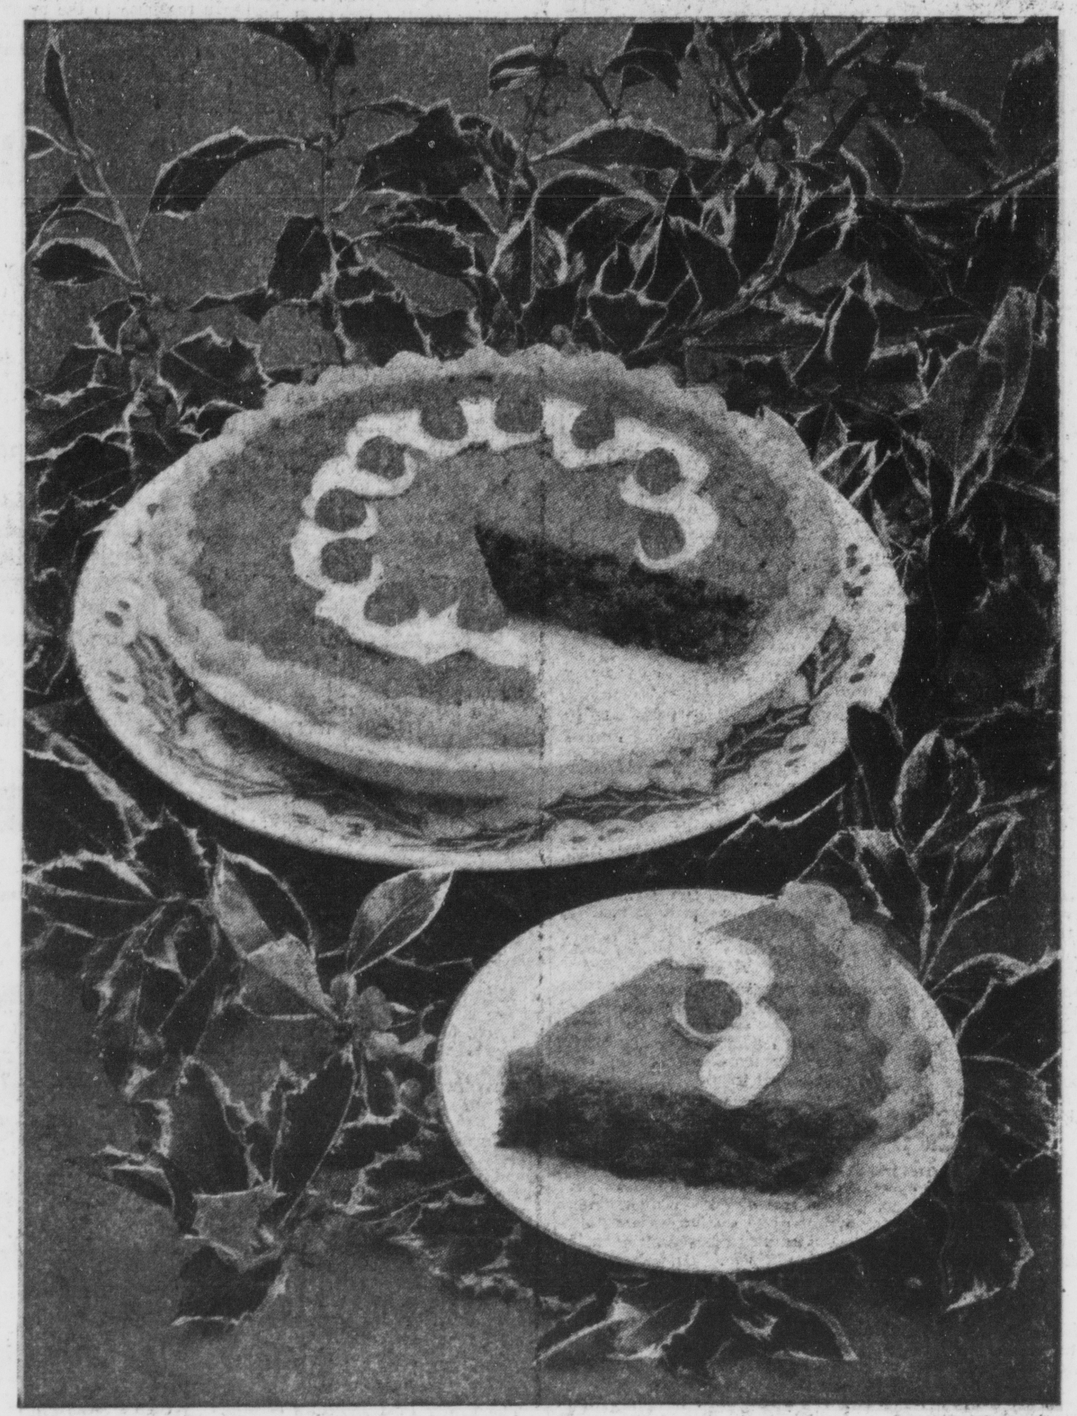

6 tablespoons margarine
1 pound (4½ cups sifted) confectioners' sugar
1 egg
Dash salt
¼ cup rum or 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Cream margarine. Gradually add about 1½ cups sugar, beating until blended. Add egg; beat well. Gradually add remaining sugar and the salt; beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Fold in rum or lemon juice and grated rind. Chill for use in pastry bag. Makes about 2 cups.

Lemon Sauce

½ cup sugar
1½ tablespoon corn starch
¼ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespons lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel

Mix sugar, corn starch and salt in small saucepan. Gradually blend in water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat Add margarine, lemon juice and lemon peel. Serve hot on plum pudding pie. Makes about 1½ cups.

NEA COLOR PHOTO

Plum pudding for Christmas? Sure—but as a delightful surprise in the form of a plum pudding pie.

A man famous for his generosity and hearty laugh, Santa is known as well for his sweet tooth. In which case, either of these other two desserts would please him, also.

Plum Ice

1 (1-pound 14 oz. can) plums
½ cup water
¾ cup light corn syrup
⅔ cup sugar
1/3 cup lemon juice
2 egg whites

Empty plums and syrup into strainer placed over a bowl; press plums through strainer; set aside. Combine water, light corn syrup and sugar in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Boil 5 miuntes. Cool. Add lemon juice and puree. Turn into freezing tray or trays. Freeze with refrigerator control set for fast freezing, or in freezer, until mixture is almost firm. Before removing mixture from freezer, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Turn almost frozen mixture into chilled bowl. Cut apart and beat until smooth. Fold in beaten egg whites. Return to tray or trays and continue freezing until firm. Makes about 1 quart.

Eggnog Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
⅛ teaspoons salt
⅔ cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 9-inch baked pastry shell
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Holly leaves for garnish

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler Add salt and 1/3 cup sugar. Stir in milk. Cook over hot water until the mixture coats a metal spoon, stirring frequently. Blend in softened gelatin. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Beat in remaining 1/3-cup sugar; fold into mixture. Set aside to cool. Beat pure vanilla extract. Turn int a baked pastry shell. Just before serving whip remaining cream with 1 tablespoon sugar and place around edge of pie. Sprinkle center with ground nutmeg and arrange holly leaves in cream, for garnish.

YIELD: 6 servings.

If by the most unlikely chance, he delays his merry departure until after your Christmas dinner, you may be sure he will relish this festive menu.

Christmas Bell Salad

1 cup red cinnamon candies
1 cup light corn syrup
1½ cups water
6 large fresh pears
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
1/3 cup coarsely chopped pecans or walnuts
Crisp salad greens

Mix cinnamon candies, corn syrup and water in saucepan; constantly, until candy is dissolved. Boil 5 minutes. Meanwhile cut pears in half, peel and remove core. Place pears in syrup; bring to a quick boil, then lower heat and simmer until tender. Lift gently from syrup; drain thoroughly and chill. Mix cream cheese with spoon until softened and creamy, adding a few drops cream if necessary. Stir in nuts. Spread pear halves with cream cheese mixture and put together sandwich style. Arrange on bed of crisp salad greens. Serve with Creamy Salad Dressing. Makes 8 servings.

Propaganda From Press Interview

Gain for Both Sides Seen In JFK, Adzhubei Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's only one unknown remaining about President Kennedy's interview last month with a Soviet newsman.

What effect, if any, did it have on the Russian people or, rather, the Russian people who read it?

There's no doubt about the effect on the Soviet leadership, which would have been predictable anyway, since Kennedy pictured a peaceful America confronted with a trouble-making Russia.

The leadership, through its controlled press, ripped Kennedy's views apart. The interview was printed in full in Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper.

Not Much Impact

But Izvestia, in a country of 220 million people, has a circulation estimated at 4 to 5 million.

If the Kennedy interview made a good impression on some of them, the leadership has sought to offset it. Even if the impression on all who read it was excellent, there isn't much they can do or say.

Since Kennedy's views are not going to appear at much length very often when they are critical of Russia, this interview can hardly be considered of much impact in the long run.

Even if the final score shows no hit, no runs and no errors—if nothing was won and nothing lost—the interview was at least on both sides one more effort in their long-winded propaganda war.

Kennedy could consider it an achievement that his views—those he found time to express in the interview—were printed in full in the Soviet press.

Reflects on Red Press

At the same time the Russian government gave itself a chance to say its press isn't entirely closed to the outside. As a matter of fact Russia would have been in an embarrassing spot if it hadn't printed the whole interview.

Three times this year Premier Khrushchev got his views across in great length to people in this country by giving interviews to American newsmen who journeyed to Russia to see him.

This gave the lively Kennedy a good opening to look for the full treatment in return, in Russia, by giving a Soviet newsman an interview.

The interview was arranged at the request of the White House and Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, did the questioning. The result wasn't quite the same as American interviews with Khrushchev.

The Americans simply asked questions and let him do the talking.

Adzhubei also asked questions but he sandwiched them in between long speeches giving Soviet views on problems Kennedy discussed.

Thus, while Kennedy got into Izvestia in full, he didn't dominate the scene as Khrushchev did in his question-and-answer sessions. The President had to share space in Izvestia with Adzhubei.

Maybe one result will be to make Khrushchev a little less willing to give Americans interviews if he feels he'll be expected to have Soviet newsmen talk with Kennedy and then print the results in full.

Secondary School Group Selects Floral Park Man

Other officers chosen at the closing business session of the group's 77th annual convention were:

Lynn J. Secor, principal of Cobleskill Central School, first vice president; Thomas B. Langley, principal of Herricks Senior High School, New Hyde Park, second vice president; and Leland C. Sanborn, principal of the New York State School for the Blind, Batavia, third vice president.

Bulgaria to Vote

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Bulgaria will hold national elections for its Communist-dominated Parliament on Feb. 25, 1962, Radio Sofia announced Monday night. Only Communist "Fatherland Front" list will be presented to voters in the fourth election since the Communists took power.

Stay Is Granted In Greene Circus Performer's Case

Seven Greene County circus performers, arrested two years ago and indicted on a charge of illegally obtaining unemployment insurance benefits, were granted a stay of proceedings according to notices received Sunday by their attorneys.

The attorneys Charles Coffin of Catskill; Ernest Puglisi of Cairo, and Henry Werker of Greenville were notified that the Appellate Division in Albany had granted their motion for a stay, effective until the Appellate Court rules on their appeal of Justice Louis G. Bruhn's denial of access to records allegedly seized from five of the defendants, Alexander Hahnl, Ninon Hahnl, Ninon Marie Hahnl Jr. and Janos Kantor.

The other two defendants, Carl and Hedwig Salek, represented by Oreste Vincent of Catskill, did not participate in the proceedings.

The defense contends the seizure of employment records is an act of illegal search and seizure.

Castro Losing Out

PANAMA (AP)—The National Assembly urged President Robert Chiari's government Monday night to break relations with Cuba immediately.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, in a speech last weekend admitting he is a Communist, openly invited Colombia and Panama to sever relations. Colombia did Sunday.

Two Leading Educators Discuss Faults in System

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of America's leading educators see the values of contemporary higher education as "desperately corrupted." Both put some of the blame on college presidents.

Dr. A. Whitney Griswold, president of Yale University, said he believes that "we who hold the office (of president) spend so much time justifying what we're doing that we don't have time to do what we're justifying."

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former chancellor of the Universiy of presidents too often were "the go-getting corporate type, preferably on who is accomplished in public relaions."

Their performance, Hutchins continued, is judged "by the figures—by the amount of money that comes in, by the quantity of brick and mortar that is assembled, by the number of students that enroll, and in some places by the digits in the football scoreboard."

It was Hutchins who abolished varsity football at Chicago.

Griswold, expressing his views in a booklet, "the university," published by the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions, saw hope that the "service station concept of the university" might be on its way out.

He attributed some of the defects in current standards of education to the preparation of high school teachers saying that "it's at the secondary school level that these values are most desperately corrupted."

The corruption, he said, proceeds from a "pregram. . . .of teaching that really has the effect of repelling. . . .those who would be the most likely to influence their students to go into the teaching profession."

As a remedy, he suggested better pay and conditions for teachers; training programs for high school teachers who wish to advance for college or junior college teaching; recruiting many more college-educated women for parttime and fulltime teaching, greater mobility for teachers in the last two years of high school and the first two years of college and better "liberal education" for all teachers.

Christmas Concert At Vassar Is Set For This Sunday

A concert of Christmas music will be given by the Vassar College Choir and the Colgate University Glee Club in the Vassar Chapel on Sunday, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p. m. Area residents are invited to attend.

The Colgate Glee Club, directed by William Skelton, number 65 voices. The acting director of the 90-member Vassar Choir, Miss Margaret E. Cawley, will conduct the Poughkeepsie concert. The program was also given at Hamilton on December 9.

The program will include In Dulci Jubilo, written by Dietrich Buxtehude for a three-part chorus, two violins, and continuo, and Quatre Motets Pour le Terps de Noel by Francis Poulenc. "Sue des Airs de Noel" from Messe de Minuit by Marc-Antoine Charpenter will feature Linda McHenry and Joy Appel, sopranos, Patricia Kennedy, mezzo-soprano, Douglas Naismith, tenor, and Michael Simon, bass. Instrumentalists will join the organ accompaniment of Janet R. Kiehle for some of the works.

The audience will join the choir in singing the processional, O Come, O Come, Emmanuel, and the recessional, Adeste Fideles.

Secretaries Plan Christmas Dinner And Meeting Here

Broglio's, West Park, will be the scene for the December 18 dinner-meeting and Christmas party for the Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter of the National Secretaries Association. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. After a short business meeting, a special program of entertainment, "Presents Under the Tree," will be presented under the direction of Mrs. James Kelly. Miss Lillian M. Styles will also appear on the program as soloist. In addition, there will be a program of group carol singing, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson A. Dayger at the piano. All members are urged to attend and reminded to bring a gift for exchange at the party and also a gift for a patient at the Ulster County Infirmary.

Area secretaries interested in NSA are invited to join the group for their Christmas party. Reservations may be made by contacting Miss Lillian Styles or Mrs. Gloria Starling, president.

Spring Lake Auxiliary

The annual Christmas party of the Spring Lake Auxiliary will be held in conjunction with the regular monthly meeting on Thursday, 8:15 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur Richter on Robins Lane.

The newly elected officers will be presented to the auxiliary and a short business meeting will be held. All members are reminded to bring a Christmas gift for the exchange and to bring a neighbor or any lady of the district who would like to familiarize herself with the Auxiliary.

Unusual Gift Ideas

This Christmas, don't hike in and out of department stores hoping for Gift inspirations. Think before you shop about every person on your Christmas list. To expedite your thinking and your shopping, a leading magazine offers Very Special Gift Ideas For Very Special People.

For Relatives Dear But Distant—Don't be afraid to be egotistical in your gifts to faraway members of your family. Examples: 1) A purse-sized scrapbook of snapshots highlighting your family's year. 2) An invitation you really mean, to come for a visit, together with a ticket for the trip. 3) Homemade fruitcake in an attractive container that can be used as a sewing box. 4) Glass paperweight that magnifies, with child's picture underneath. 5) Assortment of exotic honeys or jars of jellies.

For The Man That Matters—Married or otherwise, the following are proven pleasers: 1) Subscription to a business news letter or stock-market service. 2) Camera accessories, geared to his special brand of photography. 3) Chef's apron. 4) Initialed golf balls, gold golf tee, set of tees in trick shapes. 5) Chess set. 6) Electric shaver to plug into car lighter, or battery-operated model for camping trips. 7) Folding poker table. 8) Lobsters or other saltwater delicacies ordered by mail and delivered alive; lobster forks as a bonus.

For Senior Citizens—Older people are especially grateful for gifts tailor-planned for no one but themselves: 1) Slanted leg rest to attach to a chair for living-room use. 2) Two-cup coffee percolator or teapot. 3) Pillow with arms and back for sitting up in bed. 4) An extension phone with extra-long cord. 5) Heating pad; electric foot massager; electric blanket. 6) Hand coffee grinder with bag of coffee beans. 7) Assorted spice and/or spice apothecary jars filled with homemade jelly, jam, and marmalade.

If you have Full Heart But Flat Purse—If the end of your list finds you at the end of your money, you can lend yourself out as a Christmas gift. Here are ways to do it: 1) Volunteer to be a babysitter for a special number of days or evenings. 2) Form your own homemade-cake-of-the-month club and give away membership cards. 3) Brighten Christmas for a shut-in by setting up and trimming a table-top tree. 4) Help stock a hungry freezer by donating your favorite casserole together with its recipe.

Tips on Letter Writing

In this frenzied era of constant telephonitis—the staccato yammer of the typewriter and the abbreviated spurt of the telegraph—the "old-fashioned" art of letter-writing has indeed become cherished. Grandma may still pen a wonderfully warm, cozy letter but chances are Mother, Dad and the youngsters not only don't bother, but have forgotten how.

These days, stereotypes in letters or the rushed postcard seem to be about all most of us can muster. But everyone likes to receive a thoughtful, newsy letter.

For homemakers who would like to recapture the old-fashioned virtues of letter writing with both competence and regard for proper etiquette, a new booklet has been written by Nancy Evans, Customer Service Director of The Paper Mate Company.

Entitled 'Better Letters," this booklet offers many helpful suggestions on keeping up with correspondence of all kinds. Along with tips on brightening letters, Miss Evans includes illustrated examples of socially correct replies to invitations, gifts, announcements and a gamut of both formal and informal social situations.

The letter expert points out that handwritten correspondence bears the stamp of personal interest and consideration. Friends, relatives and business associates get a special glow from a written note or letter — far more than from the impersonal typewritten letter.

"Better Letters" describes the meaning of handwriting as an important social grace and tells just what a letterwriter can do to make sure he is putting his best foot — and hand — forward. Suggestions on both the content and the style of composition are included, as well as actual samples of appropriate replies to a variety of social situations. Miss Evans particularly stresses ways and means of adding deft touches and graceful flair to handwritten correspondence.

The interplay of penmanship and self-expression is, of course, basic and Miss Evans encourages everyone to practice a form of penmanship that is neat, attractive and easy to read but still individual.

"Don't try to copy someone else's handwriting," she advises. "Concentrate on improving your own writing style. Don't copy others, but also don't make your writing mechanical and anonymous-looking," she advises. "Above all, remember your handwriting is you."

The new booklet also contains examples of the accepted formalities of responses to wedding, dinner and party invitations, along with illustrated thank-you notes, letters of condolence and other frequently used (and frequently confused) letter forms. Both the knowledge of how to use vivid non-stereotyped expression and how to follow proper etiquette are essential for the letter writer, Miss Evans feels. Her booklet encompasses both.

Free copies of "Better Letters" can be obtained by writing to Nancy Evans, 437 Merchandise Mart, Chicago 54, Illinois.

Women's Club of YWCA

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Club will be held Thursday at the YWCA.

A special Christmas program will be presented by Mrs. Clair Schaeffer entitled, "The Land of the Christ Child."

A community sing will be conducted and refreshments will be served.

CALLING ON A NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE

Q: My son has been married for three months now and his bride has not as yet invited anyone to come to see her—including the members of both families. There is no important reason for this except that she claims it is not up to her to invite people to come to see her, but that relatives and friends should go to see her first without waiting to be invited. I've never gone to a new house without first being invited and I think her attitude ridiculous and unfriendly. I would very much appreciate hearing from you about this.

A: Your daughter-in-law is right, but obstinately insisting that her relatives and friends must call on her first is certainly not the way to start her married life. As for your own attitude, no matter what the custom in your community may be, it is absurd to feel you need an invitation to go to see your own son and his new bride.

In Keeping with the Spirit of Christmas

Q: I have been seeing quite a lot of one boy for the past year, although we are not engaged. I have been invited to supper at his house on Christmas day. I met his mother on two occasions and she was very gracious. Would it be in good taste for me to take her a Christmas present?

A: On Christmas day an impersonal present of a few flowers or a box of candy would be entirely proper.

Clothes of Men in Wedding Party

Q: Will it be proper for the bridegroom, two ushers and best man to wear plain everyday dark blue suits at a morning wedding? The bride says "no" as she is wearing a bridal dress and veil. My son says that he is almost certain he read in your column that these clothes were entirely proper. Will you please settle this?

A: The answer depends upon the formality of the wedding. Unless the preparations are extremely elaborate, the blue suits would not be improper.

Hurley Parents Club

The second meeting of the Hurley Parents Club was held on Wednesday, Dec. 6, in the school auditorium. The guest speaker for the evening was Franklyn Hazard, assistant superintendent of schools. Mr. Hazard's topic covered the school budget and, with the aid of slides, gave a breakdown of the apportionment of the school tax dollar.

In response to the many questions asked about the teaching of reading, Mrs. Dennis, a first grade teacher at the Hurley School explained the use of phonics in the reading curriculum. Her talk was so well received by the parents that it is planned to have another phase of teaching explained at future meetings.

The next regular meeting of the Hurley Parents Club will be on the first Wednesday in March.

DECEMBER 26th
On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.
Their socks are too large;
Their ties are too bright;
Their slippers are wrong;
Their shirts aren't right.
They have too many pencils;
Their books they have read,
Or have two of a kind
And wish something instead.
Now if you are anxious
And eager to learn
How to give and be sure

Lyric Choristers Present Lucille Baker In Christmas Concert Here on Wednesday

The Lyric Choristers of Kingston will present Lucille Baker, lyric soprano, as guest artist at the annual Christmas concert Wednesday at the George Washington School Auditorium. Curtain time for the concert will be 8:15 p. m.

Miss Baker has had extensive solo experience, both as a recitalist, and in opera. She has sung with the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra, the Chautauqua Opera Association, and the Provincetown Light Opera Company, and has done radio and church work in New York City.

She is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity for women, and of Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music society. She is presently on the faculty of Ithaca College, Ithaca, as a teacher of voice.

The Lyric Choristers, under the direction of Edward T. Green, will present a program of Christmas music from the Waring Choral Series. Among the numbers to be presented is The Story of Christmas with a narration by the Rev. Robert Clementz of the Marbletown Reformed Church of Stone Ridge. The group will be accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Schwartz.

Rinschler in School Play

Watkinson School's students will present a one-act Christmas play called "Dust of the Road," in St. David's chapel on the school's campus, on Friday, Dec. 15, 8 p. m.

"Dust of the Road," by Kenneth E. Goodman, relates how a man and his wife are prevented from embezzling a younster's funds entrusted to them by the deceased parents.

On Christmas Eve, the man and wife are visited by two "tramps" symbolizing Judas and Christ. In allegorical terms, the struggle between good and evil ensues. Good wins out.

Roger Rinschler, an eleventh grade student from Kingston, assumes the lead role of Judas. Faculty advisors are: Homer H. Richards Jr., John C. Kaynor and Alfred J. Genegras III.

Reservations Now Being Made for Temple Party Here

Some reservations are still available for the New Year's Eve party at Temple Emmanuel, Chairman Gerald Gruberg announced. The Couples Club sponsors the party.

This year, the annual event will feature Bob Steuding and his orchestra, a champagne cocktail party and a midnight buffet supper.

Reservations may be made by calling any of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Kaye, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gruberg or Mr. and Mrs. Willard Goodheim.

Decorations will be handled by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Landesman. Publicity is under the direction of Mrs. Willard Goodheim, Mrs. Lewis Neporent and Lou Kaye.

An effort is being made to limit the party to 100 couples so that anyone interested is advised to get in touch with the reservation committee as soon as possible.

Pa. to Conduct Full Review of Price of Milk

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Milk Control Commission today planned a full-scale review of prices paid by dealers to producers for milk used in manufactured products.

The commission Monday set Dec. 18 for a hearing in Harrisburg to examine pricing orders in all areas of the state except western Pennsylvania and Pottsville, where earlier hearings explored the question.

The review will be limited to Class II, III and IV prices. It will not go into Class I (drinking) use prices.

Though most of the milk produced in Pennsylvania is of Class I grade, the price actually paid to producers—as regulated by the commission—depends on its ultimate use.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —Interest rates are moving higher again.

Part of this is due to official money management policies. Part is due to a change in the economic atmosphere — specifically, the growing feeling among businessmen and consumers that times are getting better, and maybe much better. And part is due to a fierce competition for funds within banking and other financial institutions.

Anticipate Slow Rise

Many expect the rise to be slow and modest. But some think a business boom could see a faster rise on short order.

The increase in interest rates will benefit some savers. It will prove costlier for some borrowers, but probably not enough to discourage many of them. It will both please and worry the Kennedy administration.

That is because the money managers, on the one hand, want interest rates, especially on short-term securities, higher so that investors won't be taking their money out of the United States to get better return abroad. This could weaken the dollar and step up the outflow of gold again.

Interest Rates Higher

But if long-term interest rates also rise, as they seem likely to now, the administration might worry because it wants these costs low enough to encourage business to expand, new homes to rise, and consumers to buy big ticket items. This would stimulate economic growth, a prime administration aim.

So far, the administration has had good luck in both its aims. The Federal Reserve Board has cooperated by keeping short-term rates high. There is some talk in Wall Street now that it may again raise its discount rate—what it charges for money it lends member banks. All of this helps keep short-term funds here, or at least hold down their flow abroad.

Good Supply of Money

Long-term rates have risen a little in the mortgage field, but mostly have held fairly steady. This is largely because the banks and other lending institutions had a good supply of money to lend, and the demand for long-term loans hasn't risen much.

Business has kept its expansion plans well under boom proportions, and it has been able to finance many of its activities out of its own funds—retained earnings, depreciation allowances and the like.

Loan Charges Studied

Now the trend on interest rates is toward the higher road. Commercial banks are being allowed to raise their interest payments on some savings accounts as high as 4 per cent. Savings & loan associations which have been paying as high as 4½ per cent on the West Coast are debating whether to aise their payments to investors, to lure in more funds, and if so, whether to raise charges on mortgage loans to pay for the increase.

Consumers are reported planning to spend more, and already have been buying more big ticket items on time. This can help dry up any excess funds lying around looking for borrowers.

Expansion Plans Gain

But the big jump, if it comes, would be in business borrowing. This hasn't developed yet. Industrial capacity is still in excess of customer demand. The question is: How long will it be?

Some note that total business expansion plans are already rising, pointing to more borrowing in the next few months.

Others stress a growing confidence among businessmen of the type which in the past has often led to stepped-up expansion.

If all this occurs, the demand for money might put a strain on the administration hopes for holding down long-term rates.

Charge Father Drove Car That Struck Son

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—The automobile that struck 16-year-old Albert Johnson was driven by his father, sheriff's deputies said Monday. They charged the father, Charles A. Johnson, 35, with leaving the scene of an accident.

Deputies said the boy was struck Sunday near his home on the Rome-Oriskany Road while returning from a grocery store.

After the accident, police said, the father continued home, where he was notified his son had been struck by a car.

The father pleaded innocent to the charge Monday in city court. Judge Abraham H. Baker released him in $100 bail.

Church construction in the U. S. reached $1 billion in 1960, an increase of 10 per cent over the preceding year.

Students to Plan Tuition-Protest March on Albany

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — A group of students at the state university college here has called a meeting next month to plan a possible tuition-protest march on Albany.

The group said representatives from the other 10 state teacher-training institutions had been invited to the meeting Jan. 6.

Stephen Tibbits of Oneida, a sophomore, said the protest was against the possibility of tuition at state colleges.

The trustees of the State University are deciding a uniform tuition policy for state institutions of higher education. They were empowered by the 1961 Legislature to impose tuition.

Tibbits said well over half of the 250 students who attended a protest meeting last night at Cortland indicated by a show of hands that they would have to drop out of college if tuition were imposed.

TOOTHSOME gift for most anyone on your yuletide list is a box of these taste-tantalizing chocolate-walnut cookies.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's an American version of a Viennese cakelette, made with a crumb topping and bottom layer. Half the cookies are chocolate flavored, half butterscotch, although both are baked in the same pan.

Twin "Bake-in-Bulk" Cookies
(Chocolate-Butterscotch)
(Yield: Approximately 6 dozen cookie squares)

Crumb Layers

1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter or margarine, melted

Combine bread crumbs, sugar and cinnamon. Add butter, mix well. Use one-half crumb mixture to line bottom of 2 greased 8x8x2-inch pans or a 9x13x2-inch pan.

Chocolate-Butterscotch Batter

1 cup butter or margarine
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon almond extract
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1—6-ounce package (1 cup) semisweet chocolate morsels
1 cup walnuts, divided
1—6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels

Cream together butter and sugar. Beat in eggs, one at a time, add almond extract, beating until very light and fluffy. Sift in flour and salt; stir until blended. Divide mixture in half. To one-half of mixture add semisweet chocolate morsels and ½ cup walnut halves. To other half, add butterscotch morsels and remaining walnuts.

Spoon chocolate mixture over crumbs in one baking pan, spreading gently to cover. Spoon butterscotch mixture over crumbs in other pan and spread gently. (If one pan is used, spread chocolate mixture over one-half of crumbs and butterscotch over other half.) Sprinkle tops with remaining crumb mixture, pressing in lightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Cool. Cut in 1¼-inch squares.

Health Problems Seen as Result Of Pupil Pressure

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Pressures on junior high school pupils stemming from demands for admission to college, honor courses and higher academic achievement could result in health problems and frustration with school work, an educator says.

Dr. William T. Gruhn of the University of Connecticut said the pupils were faced with pressures "that approach the point where they are excessive for 12 to 15-year-olds."

"These pressures used to exist primarily in the senior high school but now have extended downward into the junior high school," he said.

Dr. Seelig Lester, assistant superintendent of schools in New York City, urged strong measures to reduce the number of children leaving school before graduation.

He said failure in one or more subjects was a prime factor for drop-outs. Young people should be encouraged to improve ther grades by attending summer school, he said.

The three-day convention, attended by more than 800 principals, ended today.

Kingston High Hosts Wappingers Falls Cagers Tonight

Visitors Seeking Initial Victory, Have Good Height

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Fresh from a narrow victory over Liberty Central, Kingston High cagers are scheduled to entertain a tough Wappingers Falls quintet tonight at the Kate Walton Field House. The Fallsmen are coming in with an 0-2 record but have lots of height and will be a tough foe.

Tonight's card is a slim one. Port Jervis is at Liberty and Poughkeepsie debuts at Monticello in DUSO action. In non-league tilts, Rhinebeck plays at Cardinal Farley, Lourdes at Arlington and Newburgh at Beacon.

Saugerties doesn't move back into action until Thursday when the Coach Bud Smith's hoopsters journey to Beacon for a matinee DCSL clash.

Wappingers is a new foe for Kingston. The Indians from Dutchess County play in the DCSL and are always near the top of the circuit, though not having won a title in several seasons. The team is coached by Dave Beverly, a good tactician. This year the club has bowed, 59-48, to Newburgh and, 67-56, to Beacon.

Big Center

Ole Peterson, a 6-5 center, is the best player for the visitors. He's had 33 points in two games. Jeff Wood, a 6-2 forward, is the other big scoring threat. Those two are the tallest players on the club and they pose a serious threat on the backboards.

In both the Newburgh and Beacon losses, the only thing the Fallsmen weren't able to handle was an all-court press. They were in contention in both contests until the press. If the team is able to solve that weakness, it figures to cause trouble in the DCSL.

Kingston was not impressive in beating Liberty, 51-47, but that's understandable. Most of the players were on the football squad and they haven't shaken off their gridiron legs as yet. Though stripped of three veteran performers of last season, the Maroon squad figures to get better as the season progresses and is expected to challenge Newburgh for the league title.

Mike Ferraro, who had 17 points against Liberty, did not play one of his better games. He threw the ball away several times and took some bad shots. Coach John Gilligan is counting on Mike, an All-DUSO selection last season, to lead the others.

After tonight's battle, the locals have two league tussles. They play at Port Jervis on Friday and are host to Poughkeepsie next Tuesday.

Lohmaier Wins Carroll's Pool

Joe Lohmaier of Kingston has been named winner of the deer pool conducted by Carroll's Bait Box on Route 28 in West Hurley.

Lohmaier's entry — an 8-point, 148 pounder—was the smallest deer ever to win this pool. More than 280 entries were registered, the highest total for any contest in the area.

HOT POTATO — Tom Meschery looks for a teammate to pass off to as the Warrior is harrassed by Clyde Lovellette of the St. Louis Hawks in Philadelphia engagement.

St. Mary's Rally Wins CYO Game

St. Mary's I squad staged a strong second half rally to defeat St. Augustine's 49-44 in a CYO Junior basketball game at the George Washington school gym.

Tony Spada, who led the winners with 15 points and Lonnie McAndrew (14) sparked the late drive. St. Augustine was in front 15-9 at the quarter and 22-19 at halftime.

Naccaro and Rozzi of St. Augustine tied for scoring honors with 16 points each.

The score:

St. Mary's I (49)

Wilt Hits 47.8 Clip

NEW YORK (AP)—It hardly seems possible, but there is a chance that Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors is just beginning to find the scoring range in the National Basketball Association.

In his third NBA season and with a long list of records already to his credit, the 7-foot-1 scoring machine set another one last Friday night with a 78-point performance in the midst of his best week as a pro. In five games he totaled 272 points and in three starts over a 48-hour period this past weekend he cashed in 194.

The big burst, of course, was the 78 against Los Angeles in a triple overtime match which the Warriors lost 151-147. Wilt's records in that one were most points, most field goals made and attemped—31-for-62, and most free throw attempts—31.

Chamberlain followed up with 61 points as the Warriors beat Chicago 135-113 Saturday and 55 in a 118-109 victory over Chicago Sunday. NBA statistics show he has 1,242 points in 26 games for a 47.8 average—10 points above his record lifetime average.

Los Angeles' Elgin Baylor is runnerup in scoring with 1,040 points and a 37.1 average.

Davis' Sleepless Nights Worry Schwartzwalder

Davis, an All-America halfback and scoring leader of the Syracuse team, has missed several practices in order to receive his various postseason honors.

"They call him at all hours of the day or night," Schwartzwalder said. The calls presumably include professional football offers, since Davis was a first-round draft choice by both pro leagues.

"I hope they let him alone in Philadelphia before the game," the coach said.

Davis will be Schwartzwalder's main weapon Saturday against the passing of Miami's George Mira and the Hurricane's rugged interior line.

Syracuse also has an aerial attack of its own, featuring the tosses of Dave Sarette to John Mackey, Walt Sweeney and Davis.

Miami is a "well-coached ball club and as tough as any we've met this year," Schwartzwalder said.

Both teams have 7-3 records. Miami lost three games while Mira, a sensational sophomore quarterback, was injured. Syracuse lost to Penn State, Maryland and Notre Dame, the latter in the controversial field-goal game.

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawrence A. Levine, fullback on Cornell's 150-pound team, has been named to the All-Eastern Intercollegiate team.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Many moons have come and gone over the Saltine City since Tommy Maines' flying cleats rambled over the turf of Archbold Stadium. But the former Kingston High School athletic star still retains a secure niche in the Syracuse University football Hall of Fame.

Maines, a 4-letter star under Coach G. Warren Kias in the pre-war period at Kingston High, did not make the All-America at Syracuse, but was always regarded as one of the finest runners in Orange history.

The late George Trevor of the now defunct New York Sun, then dean of Eastern intercollegiate football writers, wrote that Maines had it in him to become the greatest football player in Syracuse history. Injuries and other complications curtailed Maines' career and he never had a chance to play out his full potential.

At Kingston High, the big, blond was one of Coach Kias' more gifted performers. He could make the long run in football, hit the long ball in baseball and was more than adequate in basketball and track. Any poll to list the No. 1 all-time athlete at Kingston High would have to include Maines.

The Maines legend is revived in conjunction with a brochure Syracuse has just issued on the upcoming Liberty Bowl game with Miami next Saturday in Philadelphia.

• Davis Could Be:

Ernie Davis is the newest of the Syracuse All-Americans and there are some who rate the Elmira blockbuster No. 1 in the all-time Orange ratings. Davis, first member of his race to win the coveted Heisman Award, has just completed wrecking all the Syracuse records hung up by the fabulous Jimmy Brown. But preceding Davis among the Syracuse's All-Americans are such legendary stars as Bob Fleck, Ron Luciano, Jim Steen, Fred Mautino, Bob Yates, Rog Davis, Vic Hanson, Joe Alexander, Lou Usher, Ty Cobb (not the baseball immortal), Chris Schlachter, and Bill Horr.

Maines is bracketed in distinguished company among Syracuse gridders who were all-America nominees and some of whom earned a large measure of sports page fame in other capacity. How many of this group do you remember? Harry Kallet, Babe White, Chick Meehan, Joe Schwarzer, Harry Robertson, Willard Ackley, Bert Gulick, Dutch Heers, Pete McRae, Lynn Waldorf, Ribs Baysinger, Jack McBride, Roy Simmons, Mort Starobin, Chet Bowman, Gotch Carr, Ray Barbuti Jonah Goldman, Ed Jontos, Marty Glickman, Wil Sidat-Singh, Bunky Morris, Bernie Custis, Pat Stark, Carl Karilivacz, Jim Ringo, Ray Perkins, Jim Ridlon, Dick Lasse, Chuck Zimmerman, Tom Stephens, Art Baker and Al Bemiller.

Syracuse has just completed its 73rd football season, having started the sport in 1889. The Orange has won 386, lost 229 and tied 42. Top teams have been produced by Frank O'Neill (a member of the Coaches' Hall of Fame); John (Chick) Meehan, Lew Andreas, Vic Hanson, Ossie Solem and Ben Schwartzwalder, the current maestro. Schwartzwalder is the most successful football coach in Syracuse history. To date, in 13 years, his teams won 80, lost 39 and tied 2. He has more wins than any other coach (O'Neill had 52) and has been on the job longer than any other man (O'Neill coached 8 years, Ben has been at Syracuse 13). Syracuse became a nationally recognized football powerful under an enlightened recruiting policy and the superb coaching of Schwartzwalder. The Liberty Bowl is the fifth bowl trip for Syracuse under Schwartzwalder. The Orange have made two trips each to the Orange and Cotton Bowl. Ben came to Syracuse from Muhlenberg where in three years his teams compiled a 25-5 record that included a 26-25 win over St. Bonaventure in the Tobacco Bowl. Schwartzwalder came to Syracuse in 1949 and his 17-year college coaching record of 105 wins, 44 losses and 2 ties ranks with the nation's best. His 1959 team won the National Championship and Ben was named Coach of the Year. Schwartzwalder is an advocate of the straight T, with unbalanced line left or right end flankers. A power football advocate, he adds a few new wrinkles to his system each year. This year he added a slot-T sequence.

Syracuse gives its highly publicized "defeat" by Notre Dame the tongue-in-cheek treatment, describing it as an "overtime" game. The thumbnail treatment of the controversy winds up "An error in rules interpretation gave ND an extra play at the conclusion of the game." Anybody want to take it from here?

Conerly's Comeback Poses Problem for Allie Sherman

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Who will start at quarterback for the New York Giants Sunday in the all-important game with Cleveland—Y. A. Tittle or Charlie Conerly?

Allie Sherman, the Giants' rookie coach, is dodging the question again. He showed fancy footwork on the subject earlier in the season before Tittle established himself as the No. 1 man.

Now Tittle's position is in doubt. Conerly rescued a lost cause Sunday in Philadelphia when the Eagles' jitterbug defense upset Tittle. Charlie, 40-year-old veteran of 14 National Football League seasons, threw three touchdown passes and the Giants won 28-24.

"I don't think I did any different than Tittle so far as play-calling or passing," Conerly said after the game. "We just weren't moving. Sometimes you change your quarterback and things start moving."

Old Story to Him

Conerly knows all about such changes. He has been on the other end more often than not. It was Conerly who started the season as No. 1 with Tittle still nursing injuries. Not until the fourth game of the year, at St. Louis Oct. 8, did Tittle make his first start. Tittle had pulled out the game the week before in Washington.

When Tittle was in trouble against the Los Angeles Rams, it was Conerly's turn to take over late in the third quarter. Two long TD passes to Kyle Rote and Del Shofner saved the day.

Neither Conerly, who started, nor Tittle, who played the second half, was too effective in a losing effort against Dallas, Oct. 29. Tittle took over the next week against Washington and played all or most of every game until Green Bay. Sherman called for Conerly when Tittle faltered against the Packers.

Triandos Wants To Be Traded

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gus Triandos, slugging catcher of the Baltimore Orioles, said today he wished to be traded to another club before the start of another baseball season.

The 31-year-old catcher, an American League All-Star selection in 1958 and 1959, said his desire to be dealt off had nothing to do with the Baltimore club, or anyone personally.

"It's just that I feel that a change would be best for all concerned," he said in an interview with sports writer Jim Elliott of the Baltimore Sun.

"I've asked Lee Macphail (Oriole president) to trade me," Elliot quoted Triandos in today's editions. "If I'm not traded by the interleague deadline (midnight Friday), I would have to say that I'll be greatly disappointed."

Jim Owens Signs Five-Year Pact

SEATTLE (AP) — Jim Owens, the man who steered the 1959 and 1960 versions of the Washington Huskies to Rose Bowl victories, has accepted an offer of his job for five more years.

"I am most happy to accept the extended term," he said after the official word came out Monday. "I am not considering offers from any other institutions, and I am delighted to be able to represent the University of Washington at the Athletic Association of Western Universities meeting in San Francisco this week."

The salary wasn't disclosed. Owens has received $20,000 a year since he became athletic director as well as head football coach.

Tom Howard turned back Alex Bahl, 125 to 95, in the city pocket billiard tournament last night at the Uptown Billiard Parlor. Howard had a high run of 20, with 14 for Bahl.

52 Points For Baylor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With all of this talk about the scoring feats of Wilt Chamberlain, don't forget about Elgin Baylor.

Monday night, he scored 52 points as his Los Angeles Lakers bombed St. Louis 132-119 in a National Basketball Association Western Division game. In the past six games, he's scored exactly 300 points for a 50-points per game average.

Cincinnati, in second place in the West, didn't lose any ground Monday night as Oscar Robertson scored 32 points, had 20 assists and 15 rebounds in leading the Royals to a 133-117 victory over the Chicago Packers.

There was no other NBA action.

Bribe Offered Utah State Ace

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—"There was a knock on my hotel room door around midnight. I opened it and a guy came in and pulled out his billfold. I saw $1,000 on top of a wad. It was the most money I ever saw in my life. He said to sign and it was mine. I didn't."

Clyde Brock of Utah State, a 6-foot-6-inch, 280-pound tackle, says this bit of intrigue happened to him last Friday night in New York.

This is what Ray did, according to Brock, a B major in criminology at Utah State.

"He came in and opened his wallet. I saw a wad, and I think a $1,000 bill was on top. He said: 'Sign with the Oilers and all this is yours.' I told him to get out. I wanted to play in the National Football League. He left. There was no pressure. No contract. Just money. Never saw so much. He did tell me there might be legal steps if I didn't sign. But the NFL had said the same thing."

Brock, in a news conference called by the Bears, said he signed a contract at an undisclosed sum with George Halas' of the NFL club Monday.

Third ERA Title For Old Spahnie

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Spahn of Milwaukee won the National League earned run championship, had the most complete games and was the co-leader in victories and shutouts, the official 1961 pitching records disclosed today.

It is the third ERA title for the peerless Braves' left-hander, who yielded 88 earned runs in 263 innings for a 3.01 average. He also finished on top in 1947 and 1953. With 21 complete games, it was also the seventh time he led in that department.

Spahn won 21 games, including four shutouts. These totals were matched by Joey Jay, ace right-hander of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds. Spahn lost 13 games and Jay 10.

Spahn also extended two records, the major league mark of "most times, winning 20 or more games, left-handed pitcher" and the National League standard of most shutouts by a southpaw. He now has 12 twenty-game winning seasons and 55 shutouts. While boosting his lifetime record to 309 victories against 195 defeats, the Braves' star had the only no-hitter in the NL. He victimzed San Francisco April 28.

KHS Wrestling Team Opens Season Jan.12

Is Liberty Bowl On the Decline?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Promoter Bud Dudley today reported an advance sale of about 16,000 tickets for Saturday's third annual Liberty Bowl football game in Philadelphia Stadium matching Syracuse against Miami.

At the same time Dudley kept a keen eye posted on weather reports, hoping for favorable forecats which would boost late ticket sales.

Dudley told the Touchdown Club Monday.

"We had 33,000 for the first Liberty Bowl game two years ago. 'Last year snow kept it down to about 17,000. This year, if good weather prevails, there should be a good crowd.

"This game has all the ingredients for making a great afternoon with such top college stars as Syracuse's Ernie Davis, the No. 1 college player of the year, and Bill Miller, the All-America end from Miami, who is star receiver for a great passer, George Mira."

In Miami, the University of Miami may get some contact work today when it reports for its last hard workout before the Liberty Bowl game.

The squad had a long scrimmage Monday and came out of the tussle without injury. The Hurricanes were reported fairly sharp in their first contact work since the Florida game Dec. 2.

Coach Andy Gustafson said he may have some further work on defense but the offense appears to be moving well.

Bowlers Moving Around a Lot

HOUSTON (AP) —At least seven of the Bluebonnet Bowl football players from Kansas and Rice start a busy holiday season Saturday.

They will be in the first of six postseason games that take them in as many different directions.

The business at hand, Saturday's game, is the third in the bowl's history. It will be nationally televised (CBS) starting at 1 p.m. (CST).

Roland Jackson, Rice's All Southwest Conference fullback, will be the busiest player on either team. He closes his Rice career in his home stadium in the Bluebonnet.

Jackson has three other postseason dates — the North-South Shrine game in Miami, Fla., Christmas night, the Blue-Gray All Star game in Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 30 and the Senior Bowl in Mobile Jan. 6.

Johnny Burrell, a Rice end, has three extra dates this year—the Saturday game, the North-South game and the Hula Bowl Jan. 7.

Rice tackle George Karam plays in the Shrine game. Halfback Butch Blume, the leading scorer in the Southwest Conference, plays in the Blue-Gray game, as does Larry Anthony, a guard.

John Hadl, Kansas' triple threat quarterback whose running is supposed to be better than his passing, will show the pros his stuff in the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco.

Curtis McClinton, Kansas' right halfback and Hadl's rival for the spotlight, will also play in San Francisco.

Iowa State Back Is Top Gainer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

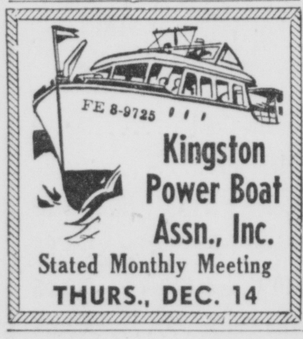

Dave (Hoppy) Hoppmann of Iowa State moved the football almost a mile—1,638 yards—to win individual offense honors among major college players during the past season.

The National Collegiate Service Bureau released final figures Tuesday showing that the versatile Iowa State back gained 920 yards rushing and 718 by passing.

Hoppmann played in only nine of the 10 games of a team which ranked 67th in the country on offense.

Special Defense Works

Maritime Academy Checks Dillman and Hawks, 58-48

COME OUT FIGHTING—In a battle of towering basketball players in Honolulu, Gene Conley, left, of the Washington Tapers scuffles with Hawaii's Fred Sawyer, who also stands six feet eight inches. Conley, the oft-traded major league baseball pitcher, suffered a broken hand.

New Paltz Star Gets 7 Points

Maritime Academy's specially devised defense — a combination zone and man to man affair— stopped Bob Dillman cold, as the Academy turned back State University College of New Paltz, 58 to 48, Monday night on the Fort Schuyler board.

Dillman, the Hawks' top point producer, was limited to seven points, one of his lowest scoring totals in several games.

Despite the job done on Dillman, Coach Sheppard's cagers had ample opportunity to make up for the deficit. But while Dillman was fighting off the defense, the other New Paltz cagers simply couldn't find the range. Mike Hazelton, the Copiague sophomore, emerged as the Hawks' high scorer with 13 points. Eddie Szymanski, West Babylon junior, added 10.

Rolling to its first win in four games, Maritime ground out a 28-23 lead in the first half. Ryznai, the center, led the winners with 16 points. Three other players hit in double figures all with ten points.

Having let the Academy slip through their fingers, the New Paltz squad is faced with sterner stuff Saturday night when the crack Potsdam Teachers come to town.

The score:

State University (48)

	FG	FP	PF	TP
Dillman	3	1	2	7
Kellett	2	2	0	6
Szymanski	5	0	3	10

Harvard Wins Over St. Lawrence Pucksters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Jim Dwinell and sophomore Gene Kinasewich each scored for Harvard and goalie Bob Bland held off St. Lawrence as Harvard scored a 2-0 hockey victory Monday night.

The victory snapped St. Lawrence's three-game winning streak and left the Larries with a 6-3 record. Harvard is 3-1, its only loss being to Clarkson.

Buffalo Council Wants Davis, Too

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Buffalo's City Council has passed a resolution urging Syracuse University football All-America Ernie Davis to sign with the Buffalo Bills.

Davis, halfback, was the first round draft choice of the American Football League Bills. The council said after passing the resolution Monday that a copy would be forwarded to Davis.

Meanwhile, Bills' general manager Dick Gallagher said he talked Monday night with Anthony De Filipo, an Elmira attorney and Davis' adviser .

"No negotiations will be held until a much later date," Gallagher said. We just anted to know a little about Davis' intentions."

The Washington Redskins of the rival National Football League also drafted Davis.

Drake Nipped in Thriller

Technicals Against Coach Almost Ruin Bearcat Streak

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

An exuberant coach whose sideline enthusiasm has helped fire his team to the nation's longest college basketball winning streak almost brought the string to an end Monday night by his sideline fervor.

Cincinnati's Ed Jucker cost his Bearcats two points and they almost made the difference. It took a brilliant display of defense and shooting in the closing minutes to bring the Bearcats a 60-59 triumph over Drake for their 26th straight victory.

Cincinnati, currently ranked second nationally and the defending NCAA champion, was behind 28-27 at the half and the one-point deficit stemmed from a technical foul called on Jucker for an overenthusiastic protest of an official's decision. Dave Reed had cashed it in.

Drake swept ahead by ten, 52-42, with five minutes left. Cincinnati cut the margin with a basket, then another technical was called on Jucker. Again Drake converted, this one by Billy Hahn with 4:09 left.

The fiery, quick-handed Bearcats then staged their whirlwind finish, outscoring the Bulldogs 16-6 down the stretch. Larry Shingleton made two interceptions. Tony Yates and Paul Hogue made one apiece. All four steals resulted in baskets. Hogue dumped in another shot with 41 seconds remaining for a 58-57 lead, and clinched it with two free throws at the 11-second mark. The 6-foot-9 pivotman ended up high point man with 27.

Drake Coach Maurice John also was called on a technical, but Ron Bonham missed on the foul try for the Bearcats.

Purdue Is Upset

Sixth-ranked Purdue was upended by Wichita 71-68. Seventh-ranked Duke smothered Clemson 89-66 in an Atlantic Coast Conference rout.

Two outside gunners, 5-10 Ernie Moore and 5-11 Lenny Vaneman, did the job against Purdue by clicking on 10 of 16 shots from the field. All-America Terry Dischinger totaled 36 points for the losing Boilermaker.

Tom Bolyard's scoring spurt in the closing minutes carried Indiana over North Carolina 76-70. Ernie Wilholt broke the final tie in the close game with a pair of free throws for the Hoosiers. Bolyard put it away with a layup, two foul shots and a 2-pointer at the final buzzer.

Kentucky got a 30-point performance out of sophomore star Cotton Nash in an 86-77 decision over St. Louis. Hubie White collected 20 of his 29 points in the second half, leading Villanova to its fifth victory in a row, 74-53 over Iowa State.

Arizona State university clouted Kansas' fading Jayhawks 72-58. Larry Armstrong, a 5-9 backcourt man, scored 20 points for the Sun Devils, who won their fourth straight and handed Kansas its fourth straight loss. Dave Debusschere pumped in 35 points as Detroit beat Xavier Ohio) 88-73.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF KINGSTON, (formerly HOME-SEEKERS' SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF KINGSTON, N. Y.),
Plaintiff
— against —
CARMEN FINELLI and EVA MAE FINELLI, his wife.
Defendants.

IN PURSUANCE of a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale duly granted in the above entitled action and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 22nd day of November, 1961, I, CHARLES KAISER, the undersigned, Referee in said Judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the Court house at 285 Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster, New York, on the 20th day of December, 1961, at 11:30 o'clock in the forenoon, the premises described in said Judgment as follows, viz:—

ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being in the said City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, on the Faux Hall Road (now Foxhall Avenue) and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

COMMENCING at a point on the easterly side of said road, northerly eighty six feet from the northerly corner of the White lot; on the said road, and runs from thence easterly one hundred and twenty (120) feet parallel with the northerly line of the lot formerly held and owned by William White; thence northerly forty feet parallel with the said Faux Hall Road (now Foxhall Avenue); thence westerly and parallel with the first mentioned line one hundred and twenty feet to the said road; thence southerly along said road to the place of beginning; being forty feet in front on the said Faux Hall Road (now Foxhall Avenue) and holding that width extends back one hundred and twenty feet.

Being the same premises conveyed by Robert G. Beesmer and Gertrude M. Beesmer, his wife, to Carmen Finelli and Eva Mae Finelli, his wife, by deed dated March 20, 1959 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office simultaneously with this mortgage which is given to secure a part of the purchase price.

ANTHONY CANATA and NICHOLAS D. GARAFOLA,
Plaintiffs,
— against —
FLORA LANZANO,
Defendant.

Pursuant to judgment of foreclosure and sale made and dated March 24, 1961, the undersigned will sell at public auction in the lobby of the County Court House, Wall Street, City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, on the 5th day of December, 1961 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the following described premises:

ALL THAT CERTAIN PLOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the Town of Gardiner, County of Ulster, and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron set in the southerly bounds of a private road leading to the lands herein described, in range with the fence on the easterly side of the orchard and three hundred ninety-two (392.0) feet measured along said private road in a westerly direction from the center of the public road leading northerly toward the mountain past Tillson Lake, and runs from the beginning, as the magnetic needle pointed in 1932 along said orchard fenceline North 6 degrees 10 minutes West 371.0 feet to a stake set in the corner of the stone walls; thence along the old stone row South 83 degrees 00 minutes West 257.2 feet to a corner of the wall; thence South 56 degrees 46 minutes West 406.0 feet to a stake set; then along the high bank of the Kline Kill the next three courses; (1) South 59 degrees 02 minutes East 210.2 feet to a stake; (2) South 47 degrees 20 minutes East 95.5 feet to a marked locust tree; (3) South 24 degrees 00 minutes East 115.8 feet to an iron; then North 82 degrees 05 minutes East 205.6 feet to an iron; then North 10 degrees 00 minutes West 119.9 feet to a stake set on the south side of the private road aforementioned; then along the same North 83 degrees 00 minutes East 153.8 feet to the beginning and containing 4.57 acres of land, more or less.

Approximate amount due plaintiffs as per judgment $3,242.38 with interest, costs about $229.00, taxes of approximately $500.00 and first mortgage in the sum of $7,914.63, with interest.

Weather Delays Camp Drum Jump

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (AP)—A mass jump by 1,260 paratroopers, participating in Exercise Trail Break, was postponed today because of freezing rain at this Northern New York training camp.

The drop was rescheduled for Wednesday morning.

If weather prevents the jump Wednesday, the Army will truck the men to a zone marked for a mock battle. The invaders, from the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N.C., will meet 350 men from Fort Devens, Mass.

The Weather Bureau forecast rain, changing to snow before daybreak Wednesday. A snow cover on the almost barren ground would be helpful for the jump.

Workers Favor Loss of Jobs to Cut in Salary

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Told they would have to take a pay cut or lose their jobs, workers at the Geneva Forge Division of Ekco products have decided they would rather lose their jobs.

About 90 percent of the 250 workers at the forge yesterday reportedly voted against the pay cut, although the company had told them the plant would have to be closed unless they accepted it.

Two weeks ago, 500 American Can Co., workers here, faced with the same choice, accepted a 25-cent hourly cut in pay.

Workers of both plants belong to the International Association of Machinists.

Ekco announced three weeks ago it would close the forge next Feb. 18 when the union contract expires, to join a consolidation program at Canton, Ohio.

Mayor Harold M. Simpson asked the company to reconsider and was told the plant would remain open if the workers would take a scaled-down contract. Existing wage scales and the size of proposed cut were not made public.

Dames to Collect Clothing

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—In the teeth of a bitter cold wave, the University of Oklahoma Dames Club announced plans Monday to collect clothing for 286 foreign students from warm climates.

It's needed here. A cold wave hit Sunday coating the campus with ice and snow and tumbling temperatures far below freezing.

Heavy Snow for Some

Frigid Air Covers Western Mountains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blanket of bitter cold weather lunged out of Canada and sent temperatures below zero today in the western mountain country.

The thermometer registered -31 at Havre, Mont., at 1 a.m.

Temperatures ranged in the teens from Oklahoma northeastward through northern Missouri, Iowa and into the upper Great Lakes area. South of this line, the readings moderated with rain, sleet and snow. In the Gulf states, readings were in the 70s.

10 Inches for Iowa

A low pressure center over southern Illinois and another in the Kentucky-Tennessee area created havoc in the weather around the Midwest.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for Wisconsin, northern Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota and northwestern Illinois, with up to 10 inches predicted for Iowa.

Rain mixed with snow glazed thoroughfares throughout northern Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. Rain also fell from central Texas northeastward through the lower Mississippi Valley into Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

The unruly weather started out of Canada early Monday. Snow fell all day long over portions of Kansas and Missouri, depositing up to 10 inches in north central Kansas and from 3 to 8 inches in the western portion of the state.

At Des Moines and Waterloo, Iowa, 6 inches of snow had accumulated by nightfall, and 7 inches were recorded on the ground at Omaha, Neb.

Three Tornadoes

Three tornadoes were reported Monday in Alabama and Louisiana. A small twister struck the community of Deridder, La., causing some damage to property. Similar twisters struck Jacksonville and Marion, Ala., with total damage of around $100,000.

Showers hit most of the South Monday. Heavy rains fell over Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Police Seek Man In Stabbing Case

Poughkeepsie police are seeking to learn the whereabouts of a man wanted for questioning in the recent stabbing of LeRoy Derello, 52, bartender, of 50 South Water Street, who was reported in satisfactory condition at Vassar Hospital.

The stabbing took place Saturday night outside the Dutchess Tavern, 115 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, where Derello is employed.

Bingo Probe Is In Second Day

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) —The state began a second day of public hearings on bingo here today, after logging more testimony on money-making operations in bingo-hall rentals.

A former caterer now serving a 15 to 24 month sentence in Attica State Prison for passing a worthless check testified Monday that he leased part of a local fraternal lodge in 1958 and sublet it for bingo games.

Hans W. Steuerwald said the building owner got $10,000 a year rent for the leased section, plus half of the $175 a night Steuerwald received from the bingo operators.

Testimony in New York City's bingo hearings last week dwelt on profits in bingo-hall rentals.

Special bingo commissioner Thomas B. Gilchrist will complete testimony here today and move the hearings to Syracuse and Utica next week. He was appointed by Gov. Rockefeller to rid the game of non-charitable and professional gambling interests.

Two Vehicles Damaged

Two vehicles were damaged but the occupants escaped injury shortly before 9 a. m. Monday when the cars collided on Route 9W opposite Broglio's Restaurant. Highland State Police said Hilda Smith, 73, of West Park, was driving from a driveway and turning south when the car was in collision with a vehicle operated by Thomas Rieley, 254, Manor Avenue, Kingston. Trooper Harry Foster said no injuries were reported.

Yule Party Out, Fund Will Help Drive in Broome

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—Hall Printing Co. has the Christmas spirit, but there won't be any company party at the plant this year.

The firm's management donated $500, the company's share of the expenses of the annual party, to the Broome County United Fund.

Strauss Staying At Present Site Until Jan. 31

It was disclosed Monday by Howard Beck of Strauss Stores Corp. home office in Maspeth, L. I. that no move has been made as yet to obtain a new location for the Kingston store, now at 55 Albany Avenue.

Beck said no effort will be made to look for a new location until after the busy Christmas season. Strauss Stores, he added, will leave its present site on Jan. 31 when the current lease expires.

Beck said officials to Strauss will be in Kingston the week of Jan. 8 to seek a new location for the local store.

New Hampshire Man Wants to Go On Trial for Plot

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Richard P. Pavlick, 74, of Belmont, N.H., says he is ready to stand trial on a charge of plotting to assassinate President Kennedy.

Pavlick was arrested a year ago in Palm Beach, Fla. Pavlick told officers who found several sticks of dynamite in his car and motel room he planned to kill Kennedy because of "the underhanded way he was elected."

Pavlick has been held at the Federal Prison Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., under a law that permits an accused person to be held until he is mentally competent to stand trial.

Troopers Probing Dutchess Thefts

State Police are investigating the thefts of equipment valued at more than $500 from a trailer parked at a construction site in Rhinebeck, and power tools from a building on North Road, Town of Hyde Park.

Investigator Emmett F. Donahue, BCI, Rhinebeck, said items taken from a trailer owned by the Merritt-Meridian Corp., Town of Poughkeepsie, while the vehicle was parked at the Smithers Tool Co., project in Rhinebeck consisted of a lock bolt machine, acetylene torch, a portable generator, an impact wrench and other equipment.

Hyde Park State police reported five power tools were taken in a weekend theft from the Windsor Building Supplies Co., Hyde Park. Stolen were two drills, a jigsaw, and two power saws. The articles were valued at about $200.

Reliefers Would Get Spuds, Idea Of U.S. Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of Congress urge the Agriculture Department to distribute government-owned potatoes to persons on welfare.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R.-NY, and Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., said potatoes purchased for distribution in the school-lunch program and welfare institutions should also go to persons on relief.

Walter said "this would help those on relief and also stimulate the market."

Keating said a program of purchasing potatoes should be expanded to include persons on welfare.

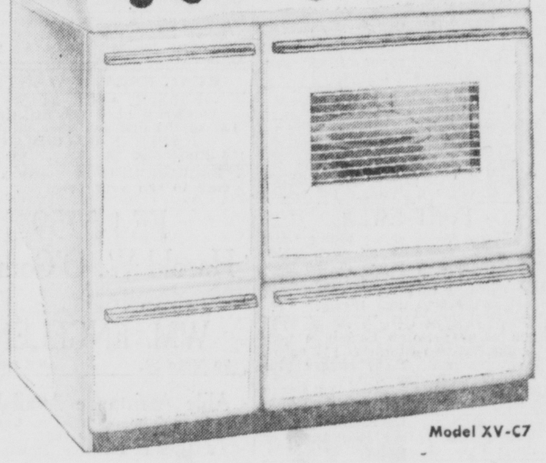

The Agriculture Department said last week it would purchase potatoes from New York, Pennsylvania and three other states as part of the government's potato diversion program.

Educators Urged on CD Plans

Lead Thinking Is Expert's Advice

Educators should take the initiative in promoting community thinking and action in Civil Defense and the fallout shelter program, a state Civil Defense expert told 55 persons at a public meeting in the Onteora Central School in Boiceville last night.

John Sayers, shelter architect for schools under the state Civil Defense program, said educators are best qualified because of their knowledge of the community, its geographical characteristics and many other factors vital to a sound Civil Defense program.

The schools are staffed by capable, qualified people who are best suited for the job, Sayers said.

Economy Is Concern

Commenting on the upcoming school shelter program initiated by Gov. Rockefeller's $100 million appropriation in the special session of the legislature, Sayers said it would be the responsibility of architects to combine economy with maximum efficiency in designing school shelters.

Onteora's sprawling 18,000 square foot structure on Route 28 in Boiceville currently has between 30 and 50 per cent protection factor, far short of the desired minimum of 100 to qualify, Sayers said. He said it might be possible to erect a block partition along the westerly length of the building to accommodate a large number of pupils in an emergency.

Sayers noted a recent survey of state school facilities indicated that not more than 10 per cent have the minimum potential for converting to shelters. He said there were several methods of handling the problem —adopt space in existing buildings, or adjacent structures or erecting new buildings on the school grounds. Most schools have very poor protection against blast, he said because of the excessive amount of thin pane glass.

Explains Best Design

The best designs for new schools would be compact, regular buildings, with several interior courts, the architect said. He indicated the state would hold the line as long as possible against below ground classrooms.

Sayers also projected the possibility that at West Hurley and Woodstock, there might be underground construction to accommodate both the school and the community.

Jack Hess, president of the Shandaken Republican Club which sponsored the meeting, introduced three other Civil Defense officials.

Miss Florence Louth, state director of women's Civil Defense activities, warned the audience that New Yorkers have much at stake, being vulerable by sea and air. She said survival will be a local responsibility for two weeks, with the state moving in during the third and fourth weeks of the federal government the fifth week. By means of picture slides, showing charts and graphs she explained basic Civil Defence policy and defense measures.

Study Shows Kingston Hospital Needs Wing

The continuing high demand for hospital beds at The Kingston Hospital makes increasingly imminent the need for additional patient facilities

This was the conclusion of studies made by the Board of Trustees of the hospital over the past several months, according to Richard M. Kalish, president of the Board, who revealed today that the hospital has retained Otis N. Auer, hospital consultant, and Harry Halverson, architect, to develop schematic plans for a new wing to occupy the front of the present hospital property, paralleling Broadway, Kingston.

"The Board of Trustees has committed itself to moving forward to meet the needs of the community," President Kalish said. "We find every indication that the population growth in this area will continue in both adult and children's age groups, and we wish to be prepared," he said.

"Many people in our community are conscious of the fact that on occasions non-emergency cases have had to wait several days before a bed became available. Patients requiring emergency care or treatment must of necessity be given priority and immediate attention, but we appreciate that postponement of non-emergency cases causes inconvenience in many ways to patient and doctors alike," Kalish said.

Population studies reveal that Ulster County was among the fastest-growing counties in New York State during the 1950 to 1960 decade. During this 10-year period, the largest percentage increase in the state's population has been in the infant to 15-year age group, and in the over-65 age group. The former group increased 37.6 per cent, and the latter 34.1 per cent over the decade. It is these two groups which require the greatest need for hospitalization.

26 Bombs Dropped in Five Hours

Tshombe Forces Using Heavy Fire

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Unidentified aircraft attacked Elisabethville Airport four times before dawn today, dropping 26 bombs without damaging U.N. installations, the U.N. command announced.

The U.N. headquarters in the Katanga capital also came under heavy attack during the night, the U.N. spokesman said, from Katangan mortar batteries located on a ridge west of the headquarters building.

Origin Unknown

The spokesman said he did not know the origin or type of the aircraft that attacked the airport or if more than one plane made the attack. Bombs were dropped over a five-hour period, beginning a midnight.

(The Katanga mission in Brussels said the United Nations attacked President Moise Tshombe's residence, a veritable stronghold in Elisabethville. It was not clear whether the attack referred to shelling or an attack by planes.)

Two Indian Gurkha troops were killed and one wounded in the attack on the U.N. headquarters, the United Nations announced. It said this brought U.N. casualties in the Katanga operation to 10 dead, 37 wounded and 13 missing.

50-60 Katanga Dead

Katangan casualties are unknown, but Gen. Sean McKeown, the Irish commander of U.N. forces in the Congo, estimated them at 50 to 60 dead.

At U.N. headquarters in New York, Indian Brig. I. J. Rikhye, acting Secretary-General U Thant's military adviser, told a news conference U.N. forces had captured a secret Katangan plan, drawn up by French mercenaries, which included the dynamiting of the huge Union Minicre copper-cobalt complex in Katanga if U.N. forces joined with the central Congo army in an offensive to end the province's secession.

Other Parts Employed

Rikhye said the plan also was to be used if the Congo army attempted an invasion alone and that Katanga army units already had employed other parts of the plan in the week-old fighting with U.N. troops in Elisabethville.

The Indian army officer claimed that 12 French veterans

Foreign Leaders Cool To Leadership of U.S.

PARIS (AP)—The Western foreign ministers pursued their efforts to tighten unity on Berlin today amid signs the European Allies are sharply questioning the kind of leadership the United States is giving the Western alliance.

Diplomatic sources said the four ministers had gotten nowhere near a common policy on the issue of whether and under what circumstances the West should enter negotiations with the Soviet Union on Berlin.

Produces Bitter Taste

The same informants said Washington's line on the complex Congo problem has produced a bitter taste in London and Paris.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and his British, French and West German colleagues met for slightly more than two hours in the Quai D'Orsay to talk about Berlin. Delegation spokesmen decline to indicate what development. One conference source said no important progress was made.

However, West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, referring to a communique that will wind up the meeting, told newsmen "I think you'll hear something satisfactory tonight."

President Charles de Gaulle was reported still resisting Allied efforts to draw him into joint negotiations with the Soviet Union about West Berlin's future. But French officials said he does not intend to block another American-led attempt to come to terms with Moscow.

Secrecy Covers Talks

The ministerial talks were conducted with unusual secrecy.

Outside the conference room it was whispered that a crisis of confidence in American leadership was building up. That appeared to be an overstatement for two reasons:

Ultimately the Allies have nowhere else to look for long-term leadership.

Any public admission of quarreling in the alliance could only comfort the Soviet bloc in the long run.

However, an American source said the policies the Soviets are following "tend to keep us together." Premier Khrushchev himself "seems to have been particularly belligerent lately."

No Complete Integration

One example is the Soviet Union's demand today that the United States hand over German Gen. Adolf Heusinger for trial on war crimes charges. Heusinger is chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent military committee which normally works in Washington.

As a final headache, the United States has been trying for years to get France to integrate all her forces into the NATO alliance. De Gaulle is against this.

Premier Michel Debre told the French Senate today France will not accept complete integration.

Informants emphasized no announcement was likely of the plan for renewed American-Soviet exchanges until the matter is thoroughly aired in the North Atlantic Council of Foreign Ministers, beginning a three-day parley here Wednesday.

Won't Oppose Talks

But the word from the French was that De Gaulle would not oppose a resumption of talks in Moscow between the Russians and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, who expected to be entrusted again—as he was early in the fall—with the job of trying to hammer out main points of an East-West Berlin compromise.

Prospects for such a compromise appear slight. Even if Thompson does shape up a deal with the Russians, it would have to clear the veto France holds as one of three Western occupation powers in Berlin.

Japs Smash Plot to Kill Ikeda, Aides

TOKYO (AP) — Police today claimed to have smashed an ultra-rightist plot to assassinate Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and other leading members of Japan's pro-American government. Thirteen men were arrested and weapons and uniforms seized in predawn raids.

Police said the conspirators planned mass murder because they felt Ikeda's government was incapable of preventing a Communist revolution in Japan.

Industrialist Gave Funds

Authorities said a Japanese industrialist apparently financed the plot.

Arrests are 90 per cent complete, police said, and an attempt is being made to learn if there is "a man behind the scenes."

Daikichi Imoto, chief of public safety, said the conspirators apparently were given a spur by the success of the South Korean military junta that took over the Seoul government in May.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that the plan called for attempts on the life of Ikeda and 16 Cabinet members and bomb attacks on police headquarters, the giant leftist Sohyo labor union and Communist party headquarters.

Officials said the 13, who included a prewar general, tried to win over members of the nation's 240,000-man self-defense force but failed.

Arms Cache Seized

Police raiders in Tokyo and at various places on the island of Kyushu in southern Japan seized rifles, gas masks, swords, helmets and work uniforms of the type worn by the self-defense service.

The plotters hid their activities behind a study group known as the Society for Japanese History, led and financed by Toyosaku Kawanami, 59, president of Nichinan and Kawanami Industrial Co. Three hundred helmets and 150 gas masks were found in his Tokyo home.

Ex-General Top Leader

A top leader of the group was Tokutaro Sakurai, 64, a former lieutenant general in the pre-World War II imperial army. Another member was Taku Mikami, 56, a former lieutenant in the imperial navy who served 13 years in prison in connection with the 1932 assassinaion of Prime Minister Tsuyoshi Inukai. Mikami now is president of Eiko Industrial Co. in Tokyo.

Police said they learned of the plot in September and mapped an earlier crackdown. Plans leaked and the raids were called off.

Eichmann Worse Than Executioners

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli court which convicted Adolf Eichmann of capital crimes against the Jews said today the former Gestapo officer was a worse criminal than the underlings who actually operated the gas chambers.

"He who delivers a soul for extermination bears a legal and moral responsibility even greater than he who does him to death," he declared.

Harsh Indictment

This harsh indictment was written into a section of the opinion which explored how Eichmann rounded up millions of Jews and meticulously conducted the complex task of transporting them to the death mills.

Judge Halevy, presiding Justice Moshe Landau and Judge Izhak Raveh expected to complete the reading of the judgment late today. Monday they found Eichmann guilty of crimes against the Jews, crimes against humanity, war crimes, and membership in hostile organizations.

On the first three counts he can be sentenced to hang. The fourth is punishable by a prison sentence. The sentence will be handed down later this week or next Monday at the latest.

Point to Evidence

The special tribunal today assessed documents and evidence of witnesses it said proved:

1. Eichmann's main task was to feed the extermination camps, as the Gestapo's principal operating officer "for Jewish affairs" and "the final solution of the Jewish problem."

2. Eichmann extended his authority even into the death camps by delivering at various times specific orders stepping up the mass slaughter.

3. Eichmann kept in his hands considerable authority over the Bergen, Belsen and Resienstadt camps "up to the very end," as proved by evidence from the International Red Cross.

The court brushed aside Eichmann's denials that he had any connection with the death camps as "implausible and patent falsehoods."

To Run for Texas Governor

Connally Resigns Navy Job, JFK Picks Korth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — John B. Connally, President Kennedy's first secretary of the Navy, will leave his post Dec. 20, come back to Texas and run for governor.

He disclosed his decision Monday. The President appointed Fred Korth, a Fort Worth banker to succeed Connally as civilian head of the Navy.

In Background Power

Connally, 44, is a Fort Worth attorney. As a friend and confidant of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn, he long has been a background power in Texas politics. His move promised a scramble for Democratic party leadership in the state.

In Korth, 52, Kennedy picked another Democrat known to associates as "a cool veteran of Washington politics."

Last June 2 Korth became an aide to Secreatry of the Army Elvis S. Stahr Jr., primarily responsible for liaison with civilians on Army policy and missions.

Also a lawyer, Korth served with the Air Transport Command in World War II, attaining the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was named deputy counsellor for the Army in 1951 and served as assistant secretary of the Army in 1952-53.

Korth received the Army's outstanding civilian service award in 1959. He was appointed a director of the Panama Canal Co. this year.

Wilson Hits Decision

His departure is the first top-ranking personnel change at the Pentagon since Kennedy became president.

Connally's move clearly took Texas Gov. Price Daniel, now serving a third term, and State Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, an announced Democratic candidate for governor, by surprise.

Daniel has hinted he might seek re-election if the Texas Legislature fails to approve his program in a special session starting Jan. 3.

Wilson said it was inconceivable to him that Connally would "abandon ship in the face of peril to come home and politic."

Governor Favors Driver Exams for Highway Safety

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller believes a state law requiring re-examination of drivers would further highway safety in the state.

The governor did not indicate, however, what type of re-examination he had in mind or whether he would make any specific proposals to the 1962 Legislature, which convenes next month.

William S. Hults, state motor vehicle commissioner, has said he would ask the Legislature for broader power to require re-examination.

Rockefeller's comments were in a letter made public Monday. The letter was to President Kennedy, who had asked state governments to report on progress in prevention of traffic accidents.

The New York Legislature has rejected in recent years various proposals for mandatory, periodic eye examinations for renewal of operators' licenses.

An eye test now is given to applicants for drivers' licenses but there is no provision for general re-examination of persons who hold licenses.

Rockefeller wrote that New York State's progress in traffic safety included stricter laws against drunken driving, revitalization of the Citizens Council on Traffic Safety, research programs and educational programs on safe driving.

Yanks Ready 40 Copters in Laos

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —U.S. Army service troops today began readying some 40 U.S. combat helicopters for use against the Viet Cong rebels.

The helicopters, with nearly 400 U.S. Army pilots and ground crewmen, arrived in Saigon Monday aboard the converted U.S. carrier Core. They reportedly will be ready to start flying missions in about two weeks.

The U.S. crews manning the helicopters will fly Vietnamese troops and equipment to attack positions when Communist rebels are sighted. The Vietnamese ground forces have had great difficulty trapping the roving Viet Cong units because of the lack of speedy transport over the jungle.

It will be the first time U.S. personnel have flown such missions against the rebel forces.

Against Using Lottery to Run State Government

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A state lottery would be "a hell of a way to run a state government," Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy said today.

Murphy, a Republican, cited Democratic legislative proposals for raising additional state revenues by establishing a state lottery.

The commissioner's comments were in a speech prepared for delivery to a legislative workshop of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce.

He said the state administration was "committed to using responsible and business-like methods in financing and administering the functions of state government."

Murphy gave the Western New York gathering the same report that Budget Director T. Norman Hurd gave last week to the Chamber's legislative workshop at Albany—that state revenues for the current fiscal year were running somewhat under estimates and some spending would have to be trimmed to keep the budget in balance.

Neither Murphy nor Hurd specified what spending would be cut.

The tax commissioner said that Republican Gov. Rockefeller would submit a balanced budget to the Legislature and would continue pay-as-you-go financing.

The state constitution requires that the governor submit a balanced budget.

Christmas Mail Heavier Locally

Christmas mail, as of this date, is in greater volume locally than in 1960, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk reported today.

Monday, he said, 14,000 more pieces of mail were cancelled than on the same date a year ago. The total was 57,900.

Parcel post has also been heavier, but figures on that were not available, as of today.

Extra men, it is expected, are due to be hired by the end of this week. Regular employes are on overtime schedule.

Evidently, he said, this year more people are reacting to the usual pre-Christmas request to get their mail moving early.

LEAGUE HEARS CONGRESSMAN — Visiting this area Monday, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton spoke to several groups, including the League of Women Voters, about legislation acted upon in Congress at the last session and matters likely to come up at the next session. At a dinner sponsored in the Governor Clinton Hotel by the League are (l-r) Mrs. Morton Kamen, treasurer; Mrs. Gifford Beal, president; Congressman Wharton, Mrs. Jeremiah Sachs, first vice president and Mrs. Roland Neice, second vice president. Five Officers Are On Force 15 Years

Five members of the local police department this week are to observe completion of 15 years of service on the force.

They are sergeants William F. Hanley and Carl C Janasiewicz, detectives Gurnsey Burger and Leonard J. Ellsworth and Patrolman Ernest G. Bartroff They will reach the anniversary date Dec. 15, and plan to dine together then at a place to be decided upon.

The five began as patrolmen when the late Ernest A. Boss was chief. They served under Raymond VanBuren, who retired a few years ago, and continue under Chief Robert F. Murphy, his successor. The department had a total personnel of 38 when they began duty. It now has 61 members.

Supervisors to Schedule Budget Hearing Tonight

A meeting of the board of supervisors will be held tonight at 8 o'clock to set a date for the public hearing on the 1962 proposed budget. This will be the only matter to come before the special meeting which has been called by Chairman Robert F. Phinney.

The regular December meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 14, at 8 o'clock at which time regular business will be transacted.

Setting the date for the public hearing on the proposed 1962 budget means the tentative budget is rapidly taking form.

It is expected the tentative budget as proposed will be but slightly larger than the 1961 budget which totaled $7,425,347 of which $3,103,674.14 was raised by local taxation.

At the meeting on Thursday appointment of trustees for the proposed Community College will probably be made. Several organizations and groups have submitted names to the Board of Supervisors or the Community College Committee, suggesting names be given consideration as possible trustees. Among the names submitted is that of Macdonald DeWitt, prominent New York attorney, who has offered a $100,000 grant toward the capital cost. The money will be presented to the board of trustees as soon as they have been named.

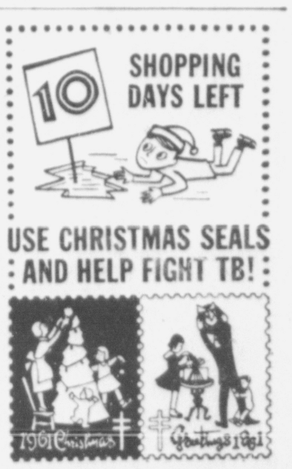

In view of the fact that no board of trustees presently exists and therefore no estimated Community College cost for the year 1962 has been made, no major sum is expected to be incorporated in the 1962 county budget. However, it is expected there will be sufficient funds available for necessary preliminary expenditures toward establishment of the college.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—When Octavia Jones, 53, of Pittsburgh went before Judge William F. Cercone Monday on charges of operating a speakeasy, he asked her why she allegedly had sold beer and liquor illegally.

"The church needed an organ, and I wanted to make some money to buy one," she explained.

Pumper Damaged

Arlington's new fire department pumper was damaged and taken out of service early Sunday, after it was involved in a collision with a car while on the way to answer an alarm which proved false. Fireman Floyd Hawley, 29, was driving the apparatus when it was involved in a crash with a car operated by Merrill Diamond, 17, of the Town of LaGrange. No injuries were reported.

U.N. Installations

of campaigns in Indochina and Algeria had drafted the plans for dynamiting the Union Miniere, a $400-million Belgian-British firm whose taxes provide the largest measure of support for President Moise Tshombe's regime and the chief reason why the Leopoldville government wants control of Katanga.

Rikhye said a Maj. Bouque and a Maj. Faulque, are in charge of Katangan strongpoints in the current fighting and that stores of dynamite have been accumulated by Katangans for use if the demolition plan is ordered.

Reports Heavy Damage

In Elisabethville, Tshombe claimed that U.N. planes heavily damaged facilities on the big copper and cobalt company in a weekend raid at Kolwezi, site of a Katanga air strip 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville. He said the attack also knocked out the town's fuel supply, scoring hits on diesel oil and water tanks.

Tshombe condemned the raid and disputed a U.N. declaration that the U.N. military action is a defensive one aimed at restoring law and order.

From Brussels, Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak sent a message to the Big Three Western foreign ministers meeting in Paris urging them to ask Thant to arrange an immediate ceasefire in the Katanga fighting.

Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, former U.N. chief of operations in Katanga, urged in a British television interview Monday night that the United Nations should not once again go looking for a ceasefire in Katanga. "I think they should continue until they have established clear superiority," he said.

Report Indicates Firm Is Seeking Mt. Marion Site

Persistent reports in recent weeks — all unconfirmed — have indicated that a paper cup manufacturer is interested in a factory site within the Town of Saugerties.

Frequently mentioned as the principals interested in a factory site at Mt. Marion is the Dixie Cup Division of American Can Company, 100 Park Avenue, New York City. The Dixie Cup Division is at 93 Worth Street.

Hendrick A. Wolter, well-known area builder and developer, one of the principals in Mt. Marion Industrial Park Corp., said today representatives for an unidentified firm have inquired about a factory site in the industrial park. However the name of the firm is not known, he said.

Services Wednesday For Sgt. C. Schmeltz

Funeral services for Staff Sgt. Charles F. Schmeltz, 34, of Cottekill, who died Friday at El Centro, Calif., will be held at the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main Street, Rosendale, Wednesday 2 p. m. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery Stone Ridge. Friends may call at the funeral home any time today.

A veteran of 15 years service with the U. S. Air Force, S/Sgt. Schmeltz died following a heart seizure. He was the son of Frank and Rose Schmeltz of Cottekill and husband of the former Caroline Countryman of High Falls.

Educators Urged

tative for Civil Defense, said he would like to clear up apparent misquotes and mistaken impressions given in newspapers. He emphasized that the home shelter program has not been scrapped because of Gov. Rockefeller's recent pronouncement on the shelter-where-you-are theory. This was based, he said, on the probability there would be only 15 minutes warning in the event of attack by intercontinental ballistics.

A rule of the thumb on state aid to school fallout shelter construction was set at about $25 a pupil, with the stipulation that the state's contribution would not exceed 50 per cent of the total cost. Roughly, if a school shelter has an occupancy of 1,000 pupils and cost $50,000, the state would return state aid not to exceed $25,000. However, it was emphasized that the mechanics of the state aid program have not been entirely decided.

Major H. Edgar Timmerman, Ulster County Civil Defense director, scored public apathy on Civil Defense and foresaw the possibility that every member of school faculties would have to take training to qualify as a medical aid in times of emergency.

Deals With Air Current

Timmerman said it was not true that the entire population will be killed, nor is it true that everything will be levelled. The greatest potential threat from fallout to the Ulster County area would come from the Philadelphia-Camden sector and not New York City as is generally supposed. This is because of a peculiar air current that travels from that sector north over the county at an altitude of approximately 65,000 feet, he said.

The worst problem that Civil Defense must contend with is "indecision on the people's part," Timmerman noted. He said that Onteora Central School was fortunate from the standpoint of bus runs in that the district has very few double runs and not a single triple run. Plans should be developed by all districts and responsible elements of government. A flexible county plan is under constant change to meet new conditions. In the final analysis it might be necessary to return to wartime conditions.

The forum concluded with a question and answer in which all the principal speakers participated.

Cafeteria Frier Spreads Fire Through Kitchen

A fire which spread from a French frier in the Trailway Cafeteria, 495 Broadway Monday night damaged the kitchen and other areas.

Flame spreading through an exhaust duct, firemen said, damaged a nearby roof area and the blaze there was checked by a pump stream. A sprinkler system in the kitchen was activated.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks, Union and Rapid companies and the Wiltwyck volunteers responded to a telephone call at 11:19 p. m. followed by an alarm from Box 1112, Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue. Chief James M. Brett with Capt. Glyn M. Southard were in charge.

A section of flooring above near a stairway was removed. Food and stock were damaged by fire, water and smoke.

The building, owned by the Terminal Building Corp. houses the Trailways bus terminal and restaurant on the ground floor, the Bern-Mar Manufacturing Co. on the second floor and Max Ulman, Inc. on the third floor.

Anthony Pino, restaurant employe, said the fire started soon after he had seen smoke coming from the frier and turned off current, but he was unable to check the flaming grease and firemen were called.

A call at 5:52 p. m. Monday was for a car fire near 322 Broadway. Firemen said the blaze started from a short circuit in wiring on the car of Q. Gonzales Ruiz, of 327 Broadway. A unit from central station responded.

Wharton Talks About Congress:

Disarmament, Peace Corps, Aid to Areas Are Subjects

Legislation acted upon at the last session of Congress and legislation which may come up before the coming session was discussed with three groups of Kingstonians Monday by Congressman J. Ernest Wharton who paid a visit to Kingston.

Meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel with the National Legislative Affairs Committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting, Congressman Wharton discussed legislation of the last session, which he said despite the unusually long session which wound up in September, only three really new major pieces of legislation resulted. They were establishment of a World Disarmament Agency (which one hopes will be able to function with some marked degree of success), the Aid to Depressed Areas Bill, and the establishment of the Peace Corps. He also discussed with the Chamber of Commerce certain anti-trust legislation.

Included in the busy day was a meeting with the 29th Districts Medical Association and wound up the day with a dinner meeting tendered by the League for Women Voters, representing several clubs in the district, the Kingston League being host for the dinner.

Before each group Congressman Wharton discussed legislation acted upon by the last session of Congress and also touched upon legislation which may be brought up at the coming session which begins in January. To each group he spoke on matters of special interest to the group.

It was Congressman Wharton's opinion that the upcoming session would again have before it administration proposals for Aid to Education; Medical Aid and also the request for new tariff regulations.

At all of the meetings yesterday, Congresssman Wharton warned against too much government regulation and suggested that where at all feasible measures affecting the individual should be left to the state and local governments.

"Once big government gets a foot in the door, the individual rights of persons and business become impaired to a degree where liberties and freedoms are encroached upon," Congressman Wharton cautioned.

Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery in Newburgh.

Social Security Office to Open Thursday Night

George J. Johnson, district manager of the Kingston Social Security Office, announced today that the public response to evening hours the last three weeks has been even greater than expected. Johnson attributed this response primarily to the excellent cooperation of the local press and radio. The office wishes to advise the public that all individuals, age 65 or over, regardless of whether they are still working or not, should visit their local office.

The office will be open Thursday night, December 14 from 6 to 8:30 in order to serve those individuals who are unable to call at the office during the day. This will be the last opportunity to visit the office during evening hours in 1961.

The office is located at 61 Albany Avenue over the Empire Market. Plenty of free parking is available.

Ike Gets Honor, Says Nation Best Hope for World

Eisenhower also called for a continuation of teaching of freedom's principle during ceremonies Monday at which he was honored at the nearby Valley Forge Military Academy. The former president was given Freedoms Foundation's first "American Patriot's Medal."

Santa Will Tour Spring Lake Fire District Dec. 16

Fire Chief Clayton S. Elmendorf said Fire Commissioner John Mahoney is chairman of the committee.

Santa Claus will ride the fire truck, starting from the firehouse at 12 noon and accompanied by his helpers will ride through the entire district. A department spokesman said the 1961 event will be the seventh sponsored by the firemen.

Board Approves Levies

Dutchess County's Board of Supervisors Monday approved the 1962 budget levies for Poughkeepsie and Beacon, which provide a 61 cent per $1,000 of assessed valuation in the Poughkeepsie share of the county government tax levy and a one cent increase in the Beacon share. Elting Burger, chairman of the board, said the levies will change the Poughkeepsie share of the tax rate from $7.12 to 7.73 per $1,000 and the Beacon share from $7.94 to $7.95 a $1,000 assessed valuation.

Town of Ulster Man, 80, Found Dead in Garage

An 80-year-old retired Town of Ulster man was found dead shortly before midnight Monday of self-inflicted gunshot wounds of the abdomen. The body was discovered lying face down on the floor of a garage near his residence.

Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle identified the victim as Wilford Mower, RFD, Box 3, Sandy Road, Town of Ulster, who retired in 1953 after being employed as maintenance carpenter at Lake Mohonk for many years.

Coroner McCardle said Mower died of massive abdominal hemorrhages due to self-inflicted gunshot wounds. A verdict of suicide was recorded.

Lived Alone

According to the coroner, Mower lived alone in a cottage behind the property of his son, Harold Mower on Sandy Road, Town of Ulster. The son and his wife returned home from work late yesterday and sometime later missed the elderly man.

McCardle said Harold and his wife thought his father might have gone riding with another son Allen who resides in Glenerie Lake.

When Mower didn't appear before midnight, his son and daughter-in-law went looking for him. They noticed a pin was not in place on the garage door and as they opened the door they found Mower lying on the floor, a 12-gauge shotgun nearby.

McCardle said one discharged shell was found in the gun. He said the victim had been dead several hours. The body was removed to the W. N. Conner Funeral Home Inc., 296 Fair Street.

Had Been Seeing Doctor

No notes were found, the coroner said.

McCardle stated that Mower's son and daughter-in-law told authorities the retired carpenter didn't seem to be despondent, although he had been under the care of a physician from time to time. Harold said his father never gave any indication that he would take his own life, McCardle said.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith investigated for the sheriff's department.

In addition to his two sons, Mower is survived by two granddaughters; a brother, Fred Mower of Katsbaan and several cousins. His wife, Lillian M. Mower, died several years ago.

Funeral services will be held at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home Inc. Thursday 2 p. m. Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Concedes Defeat

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The trend of votes took a surprise turn in the past 24 hours, promising a photo finish in the weekend general election and putting the future of Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies' Liberal-Country party coalition government slightly in doubt.

Labor party leader Arthur A. Calwell conceded defeat Saturday night, but late today political observers said Labor still had a slight chance for victory.

The government had apparently won 60 seats in the 122-member House of Representatives, Labor apparently had 55 and 7 were in doubt. If Labor won all sever, it would win the election and unseat Menzies, but political observers considered this unlikely.

Court Says Store May Do Business In Legal Hassle

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)— A judge has permitted a Butler area supermarket to operate on Sundays pending new developments in a Blue Law legal hassle.

Judge Clyde S. Shumaker of Butler County made the ruling Saturday in the case involving Friedman's Supermarket at the nearby Bon Aire Shopping Center.

The store was open Sunday, but two others in the Friedman chain were ordered closed.

Three officials of the chain were fined for operating the Bon Aire store on Sunday, Nov. 26. The judge's decision Saturday comes as the result of appeals by the store officials on the fines.

Stores with 10 or more employes are prohibited from making food sales on Sundays under the new law.

The attorney for the chain argued that the law is unconstitutional on grounds that it denies equal protection under the law and that some provisions of the law are unclear.

Says Car Wasn't Paid in Full

Smith Raised Record Corn Crop on Less Land in '61

By LORANA SULLIVAN
Elmira Star-Gazette

BIG FLATS, N.Y. (AP)—That Cadillac that farmer Bill Smith bought with federal funds paid for not growing corn wasn't the outright gift from Uncle Sam that he thought it was, he reports.

Of the $6,712 he received last spring from the government, Smith said, he netted only $4,313, or 70 per cent of the Cadillac. The remaining 30 per cent, he said, is what his net profit on the diverted land would have been if he had not participated in the federal feed-grain program.

Says Crop Not unusual

Smith, who raised a record corn crop on 105.5 fewer acres this year, contends the crop control programs are "diabolical and ineffective."

He also says his bumper crop and government bonus are not unusual this year.

"This is what is being done all over the United States," he said. "this is why we (the farmers) beat the program. They should have known it would happen."

Smith normally plants 262 acres in corn to feed 15,000 laying hens and a dairy herd of 150 cows. Last year, this land yielded 12,000 bushels of dried corn and 500 tons of silage.

Cuts Corn Acreage

This year, he participated in the federal feed-grain program. He removed from production 40 per cent of his corn land—104 acres of his poorest land. He diverted an additional 1.5 acres as a precaution.

From the remaining 156.5 acres of his best land, he again harvested 12,000 bushels of dried corn and 500 tons of silage.

The federal program was designed to cut production and reduce surpluses.

To dramatize his belief that distributing the taxpaers' money this way was "not morally right," Smith bought a $6,166 Cadillac last June. He attached a tongue-in-cheek sign thanking President Kennedy, Secretary of Agriculture Freeman and the voters who elected Kennedy. He drove the car to Washington to gain further publicity.

Planted Corn Closer

Smith predicted that the nation's farmers would outwit the program by planting more corn per acre and by increasing fertilization. He followed the advice of the Chemung County Extension Service, planted closer and applied more fertilizer, he said.

Smith also used a new weed-killer that the extension service recommended. Because weeds were eliminated, he cut out three cultivation operations, which paid for the weed-killer.

Smith figures the corn's market value in Chemung County at $1.15 a bushel, or $7,297 for the entire yield. But it would have cost him $4,747, or about $45 an acre, for seed, planting, cultivation, fertilizer and harvesting. He also would have had to dry it, at 10 cents a bushel, or $123.

The result, he suggests, would have been a net profit of only $2,399—$4,313 less than his federal payment of $6,712.

Smith said participation in the program this year saved a $4,747 investment and spared him the headaches of an uncertain crop.

Asked whether he planned to participate in a 1962 feed grain program, Smith replied dryly:

CHARITY RACKETEERS

As the holidays approach there is a great impulse toward kindness and an endeavor to help the less fortunate. Evidence of this charity and good will abounds everywhere at Christmas time.

Cognizant of this spirit, the State Department of Social Welfare warns the public against charity racketeers who exploit the holiday season by soliciting contributions that ought to go to the legitimate charities.

The Social Welfare Department advises contributors to be wary of out-of-state solicitations from organizations that have not registered with the department and did not file a financial report as required by law. The department says a number of these organizations now are mailing unsolicited merchandise, such as key chains to New York State residents.

There are numerous local activities to help the less fortunate which need our generous support.

THE VALUE OF THE MOON

The imminent orbital flight of an American astronaut has focused renewed interest on the question whether it is worth all the effort and expense that will be required to place a man on the moon. Even some eminent scientists have suggested that, despite all the adventurous implications, reaching the moon will be of small practical use. Many reflective persons are disturbed at the thought that money thus spent might be better spent on dealing with problems of human suffering.

Arthur C. Clarke, a fellow of Britain's Royal Astronomical Society, has made a valuable contribution to the dialogue on this interesting subject. It is his contention that conquest of the moon can be "justified to the cost accountants" as well as in terms of scientific values. "A century from now," he writes in Harper's, the moon "may be an asset more valuable than the wheat fields of Kansas or the oil wells of Oklahoma."

Because of conditions on the moon—low gravity, no atmosphere and therefore no weather, absolute radio "quiet" — Clarke feels that it could be a remarkable base for interplanetary communications and travel. He also believes that it could become a great manufacturing center because of cheap materials and the total vacuum vital to so many processes.

Clarke puts forward other reasons to bolster his argument. There is about them something fantastic, yet in an era that has seen space flight develop within a few years who can say that fantasy will not become fact? This distinguished British scientist makes an excellent case for the value of flights to the moon, scientifically and in terms of dollars and cents.

Farmers have to keep replenishing the lime in their fields. But with so many hunters blasting away, they never have to worry about the land's lead content.

TAX SELLING FLURRY

So far this month, the feature of the stock market has been the flurry of selling for tax purposes. We have become used to that about this time each year, as many investors prepare to take a gain or loss on their tax return.

This flood of sales naturally puts heavy pressure on day to day price quotations. But so far the market has behaved very well as it absorbs this trading with little or no ill effects. As a matter of fact, the Dow Jones industrial averages remain within the vicinity of their recent all-time highs. They even give promise of penetration to higher ground before the year's end.

Not all investors are satisfied with things as they are. Wall Streeters take note of the depth of portfolio switching as revealed by heavy trading in large blocks of securities. Institutional holders are probably behind most of this activity as they get ready for statements of assets to be published at year end. The fact that all this selling can be carried off so neatly is confirmation of the general optimism prevailing over prospects for the stock market in the near term.

'These Days'

THUNDER ON THE RIGHT

When a movement is discussed, the writer needs to understand what it means. Such a movement as the Rightist or the Leftist represents ideas, concepts of life, the meaning of events. The reporter who runs to a fire or who gets excited over a kidnapping is not necessarily capable of understanding a mass movement which is basically philosophic. In fact, many who speak most loudly in these movements cannot describe them with any degree of accuracy. They know that something has happened but what is important is why it has happened.

Thus "Newsweek" recently published a lengthy article on "Thunder on the Far Right," the material for which was gathered by several persons and the collection assembled by someone who picked an item here and there out of a congeries of material.

To one who has studied Rightist movements in the United States, the article is puzzling because it is not a study of mass response to a philosophic concept but rather a selection of items about this and that. No sociologist in a foreign land could possibly get a correct picture of the Rightists from the article although he might put together items which are occasionally sensational and occasionally exciting. It is a job of tailoring, not of study.

The Rightist movement in the United States is a response of youth in the 1960's to the ideological offenses of the 1930's. It is a revolt against an effort to impose upon the American mind an offensively alien concept of life. As such movements do, the Rightist movement in the United States swings from extreme reaction to middle-of-the-road resistance to Leftist movements, particularly Communism.

Among anti-Communists are numerous segments of the population ranging from intellectual opponents of Marxism who have profoundly studied both the economics and sociology of Marxism to those who are indignant that the course of events has changed without their consent. Just as the Communists believe in historic inevitability, assuming that unless things go their way, they are unscientific, so the extreme Rightists assume that all human movements which differ from their concept of what is right are essentially evil. Among the latter are religious fundamentalists who do not understand the Hebrew Bible but demand that every word of it translated into post-Elizabethan English be accepted as absolute truth. Curiously, while many of them do not question a comma or semi-colon of King James's version of the Hebrew Bible, they are nevertheless anti-Semites devising numerous concepts to justify their confusions.

From this irrational reaction to the scholarship of Eugene Lyons or Lawrence Fertig, to mention only two names that come to mind, is a vast range of thinkers who are no more closely associated than Earl Browder and Norman Thomas on the left or James Wechsler and Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., in the center.

Unfortunately, the author of the "Newsweek" study of Rightism throws everything into a potpourri. He makes no sharp distinctions of what is being thought by a variety of persons of differing experience.

Much is made of the John Birch Society, a newcomer in the political world which has taken over what remains of the Joe McCarthy effort. Bob Welch, the leader of the John Birch Society, was in the candy business in Massachusetts but he is very new in any kind of ideological struggle and it is doubtful whether he has studied the literature of Marxism although he is efficiently opposed to this movement. It is not to be assumed that Bob Welch or even Dr. Fred Schwarz, an Australian who operates out of Long Beach, California, could stand up in an intellectual discussion on Marxism.

They are emotional anti-Communists which is insufficient to influence the scholarly mind. Anti-Communism is not sufficient as a mass movement. A mass movement must be positive; its assertions must be related to the growth of the human mind, not merely a resistance to development of offensive movements.

What is interesting about the Rightist movement is not that it displays varieties of human emotions but rather that here is an opposition to Marxism and even to Liberalism. True, American conservatism has not yet established its own ideas fully but out of the welter of contesting concepts, a philosophy will develop which will provide the leadership which the country sorely needs.

Diet Helps Some Victims Of Multiple Sclerosis

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Can you tell me about a diet cure for multiple sclerosis? I've tried everything and I'm getting so bad I soon may have to quit my job.

A—For the past 11 years, Dr. R. L. Swank has experimented with a low fat diet in an effort to halt the progress of (not to "cure") multiple sclerosis.

The diet simply eliminates most of the obvious fat-containing foods from the regular foods you normally consume. That is to say, butter, cream, egg yolk, shortening meat fats, ice cream, desserts and sauces made with cream and/or butter, oleomargarines, etc.

Except that you may elect to take skim milk instead of whole milk, you need not buy any special food or ask for specially prepared meals.

In Dr. Swank's experience, severe recurrences were prevented and mild relapses were reduced to a minimum, particularly in the cases of those who went on the diet in the early stages of the disease and who adhered faithfully to it.

It is only fair to say that other equally reliable observers who experimented with the diet report less enthusiastically of its results. Because of its simplicity and harmlessness, it is certainly worth your best consideration. But, one way or other, please don't give up your job.

One sure way to invite progressive invalidism is to accept it as a matter of course or even take refuge in it.

To learn more about your affliction and what's being done about it, why don't you write for information to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society at 257 Fourth Ave., New York 10, N. Y.?

Q—Are salt and sugar substitutes harmful?

A—Neither is harmful. And, as a matter of fact, neither is particularly useful. Very few persons require salt restrictions to the extent that they can't handle the amount that's used in the ordinary preparation of foods. If they require seasoning at table, they can use any of the ordinary condiments that are commercially available.

As to sugar substitutes, they've required even less, if ever. With the aid of available antidiabetic products, even those with severe "sugar sickness" can take care of the few additional grams derived from one or two lumps of sugar in coffee or tea or a bit of powdered sugar on cereal.

From where I sit, few things are as ridiculous as the sight of those who take a rich dessert and then carefully sweeten their coffee or tea with the sugar substitute. But, if you know any such, please don't quote me!

"The Restless Are Going Native"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Latin America is the most dangerous area in the world today, in the off-the-record opinion of one of the senior European ambassadors in Washington.

This gives it priority over Berlin, the Near and Middle East, Southeast Asia and Africa, any one or all of which have been considered major crisis areas up to now.

THE NEW MAN who is apparently going to be top thinker and planner for Latin America —and for the assorted underdeveloped headaches in Africa and Asia as well—is Chester Bowles. He chartered a sailboat as soon as he was sworn in as adviser to the President on these areas and went for a cruise in the Caribbean, to get away from Washington.

This is neither an inspection trip nor is it a pleasure cruise. It is Bowles's standard operating procedure.

When things get too complicated, he goes off in a corner someplace to figure them out. He'll be back in mid-December. And if he is still in form, he'll be full of ideas and rarin' to go.

The word is that he will then move out of the State Department and into the Executive Office Building, across a narrow street from the White House side door. Whether he will be there just to write memos or whether he will be given some authority to get the Alliance for Progress moving in time to do any good remains to be seen.

THIS RECALLS that at the start of the Kennedy administration, there was a special adviser on Latin-American affairs by the name of Adolph Berle hanging around. Things didn't work out under him. He isn't here any more.

The man who was his busy little helper in the White House, 29-year-old Richard N. Goodwin —who has never worked in Latin America and knows none of its languages—has been moved over to the State Department as deputy assistant secretary for Latin-American affairs.

He succeeds Wymberley DeR. Coerr, who is being shipped off someplace as an ambassador. He is an experienced diplomatic hand who held Latin-American affairs together for six months while the White House was conducting a search for someone to run them.

THE MAN FINALLY PICKED was Robert F. Woodward. Adlai Stevenson is supposed to have "discovered" Ambassador Woodward, serving in Santiago, Chile. This was during Stevenson's swing around South America for the President. Stevenson recommended that Woodward be made the assistant secretary of state for Latin America, and he was.

But the talk among Foreign Service officers around State is that if matters in Latin America continue to get progressively worse, Woodward will be made the fall guy. Then look out for young Mr. Goodwin.

A case might be made that since the professional diplomats haven't done too well in steering U.S. relations with Latin America for lo, these many years, some new blood and new ideas are needed.

The two people in line would seem to be either Deputy Assistant Secretary Goodwin, or Ambassador Bowles. The latter will no longer be a State Department official, but a member of the Policy Planning Staff, by virtue of his office. How much weight he will be able to throw around is not clear.

WHEN THE COMPLICATED SWITCH of White House assistants into the State Department and vice versa was first announced, the feeling was that it would strengthen Secretary of State Dean Rusk's hand. But many people in Washington are now beginning to do a retake on this.

Career Foreign Service officers, who ran things high, wide, and handsome during the Eisenhower administration are now being farmed outside the country or shifted to minor jobs in State.

Deputy Undersecretary for Political Affairs U. Alexis Johnson and Assistant Secretary for European Affairs Foy D. Kohler are the exceptions. Political appointees now hold nearly all the top jobs and the White House is running the show.

UN Action in Congo Called 'A Plain Violation' of Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Those who at times envisage the United Nations as a sort of superstate are getting considerable satisfaction out of the military operation of the UN which is supported by this country. For there is an intervention in the Congo's internal affairs today with the excuse that the UN is obligated to "restore order" when requested to do so by a central government involved in that disorder.

Great Britain has been reluctant to allow its bombs to be shipped to the Congo for the UN forces to use. There have been a lot of conferences held and euphemistic statements issued contending the UN is merely fulfilling the request of the central Congolese government.

But the whole Congo is in a state of disorder, and the very request on which the UN is acting came from the late Patrice Lumumba, who was ousted and then assassinated.

Hypocrisy Charged

In the face of such a confused situation, it seems hypocritical for the UN to claim that it has a legal right to go into the Congo. It may have a paper record of such a request, but it is ignoring the will of a large bloc of people in the Congo's richest province.

The present activities of the UN are based on a resolution adopted by the Security Council on Feb. 21, 1961. France and the Soviet Union abstained from voting. The UN command was authorized to use force, if necessary, to prevent a civil war in the Congo.

Presumably, the UN Security Council majority could, with the consent and even with the inspiration of the Soviet Union, call some day for UN forces to prevent "civil war" in Hungary, Romania, Czechoslovakia and the other satellite states as long as the Soviet-controlled government in each of these countries requested it. The right of a people to determine for themselves—by arms, if necessary—what form of government they should set up has long been recognized in democratic countries as worthy. But today, if the political alignments inside the UN favor the existing government against which a justified revolution might be directed, then presumably the entire military strength of those UN members which wish to contribute to such a venture can be mobilized.

The United States is in a rather difficult situation. If the UN had been in existence in 1776 and the British government had made a formal request for military help, maybe the American Revolution wouldn't have succeeded. The right of peoples to choose their own form of government has always been supported by the United States. It has never used force—openly at least—to assist any government suffering from an internal disorder. Wherever the United States has intervened in Latin America as a rule, it has done so to protect the lives and properties of American citizens and not to interfere with the right of the people to establish any regime they wish.

Not long ago the United States was on the verge of intervening in Cuba, but never made public the legal basis for its contemplated action, though it did have plenty of legal right to land troops to protect American citizens and their properties.

Less than a month ago, also, the United States sent its fleet to cruise off the shores of the Dominican Republic with the idea of landing a military expedition or using naval aviation units to aid the constituted government if it made a request for such help. Here, too, it isn't clear on what legal basis the United States was relying.

The Monroe Doctrine

Broadly speaking, the United States has no right whatsoever to use military force to set up any government in another country, but it does have a right under the Monroe Doctrine—and the principle has been accepted by the Organization of American States—to use force to drive out any European power which attempts to establish a foothold in any part of this hemisphere.

The Congo example does not help the cause of the United States in Latin American—or in Africa, for that matter. To supply military force to the UN itself to protect the lives and properties of foreigners is one thing, but to engage in a mission which has for its avowed purpose the "restoration of order" and the ending of civil war is a plain violation of the historic code of international law.

If the UN members had maintained a policy of merely protecting the properties of Europeans and had themselves kept out of local politics, the chances of an eventual settlement would have been vastly improved. Instead, European countries like Britain and Belgium are today hesitant to allow the military force of the UN to be used to "restore order" when this really means aiding elements which cannot by themselves force the secessionist province of Katanga to bow to the central government.

Maybe a loose federation of states in the Congo, with autonomy for those provinces which desire it, is the only possible solution that can end the disorder and bring peace. That's the objective which the UN professes to seek, but it is being pursued not by a doctrine of recognized law, but by the pretext that the end justifies the means.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The name of Frederic Remington has been in the news lately. He had many talents so it seems, according to the Art Students League News of November, 1961. Most of us know Remington as an artist of the early west, especially for his horse pictures. It is said, the only formal art training Remington had was at the Art Students League, and before coming to the League he had been a football star at Yale. The League has an art school on 57th Street in New York City and in the summer, one in Woodstock.

Remington is part of our heritage, and on Oct. 4, the United States Post Office issued a commemorative stamp with one of Remington's Indian pictures reproduced on it to mark the centennial of the great illustrator's birth in Canton, N. Y., on Oct. 4 1861. The painting is called Smoke Signals and the author of the article felt it was a happy choice, for it was the Indians way of sending messages across long distances, a sort of post office for them.

Teddy Roosevelt was a pal of Remington when they were both young, and traveled around the west, and Roosevelt said of the artist then, "One of the men who tend to keep alive my hope in America." Much has been said lately about Remington sent as war correspondent in the Spanish-American war, which he could not find. He went to Cuba with Richard Harding Davis in 1898, and he did paint a famous charge by Teddy Roosevelt, then he went back to painting his famous pictures of the West. Very often in TV pictures of the west one may see, hanging on the wall are reproduction of one of Remington's hourse pictures.

No doubt, stamp collectors know and perhaps have, Remington's picture of "Troops Guarding a Train," which appeared on the 8 cent stamp in the Tran-Mississippi issue of 1898. The author thought perhaps Teddy Rooevelt may have had something to do with this choice, because Remington before that had illustrated Roosevelt's "Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail" first published in 1888, with some 100 illustrations. Then came 1940, and again Remington's portrait of Roosevelt was used in a series of stamp honoring famous Americans.

Those who study the Spanish-American War, or the life of Teddy Roosevelt, or are stamp collectors, or are interested in horses, or the history of the west, will find, time and time again, they will run across the name of Frederic Remington. He not only put the history of the west on canvas, but also was a camp cook, sheepherder, ranch hand ,cow-puncher, storekeeper and stockman, and he was forever sketching people, places, horses and activities of cowboys, Indians and soldier.

No doubt this sort of life appeals to the youth of today, but who could follow around the enthusiastic and energetic Remington. You would have to follow him to North Africa, Russia and Germany as well as to famous stables around the world. He sketched Arabian steeds, Cossack mount and even the blooded stock of the imperial stables at Trakenhnen in Prussia. He became, through his constant study, one of the world authorities on the movements of horses. He could not meet all the demands for his talent as sculpture, painter and illustrator, and finally began to rely on photographs. Remington also could write, which he did in his early days.

Dollar Fight Fatal

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A man was stabbed to death Sunday night in an argument over a dollar, police said.

John King, 36, was found on the back porch of a rooming house where he lived. He had been stabbed in the abdomen with a long knife or bayonet.

Police were hunting a man described by a neighbor, who said she heard him and King arguing over a dollar King owed him.

After 25-Year Exile

Windsors Are Still Snubbed By Church, Landed Gentry

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON — (NEA) — On the bitterly cold night of Dec. 12, 1936, the British destroyer HMS Fury slid out of Portsmouth harbor carrying a sad, white-faced monarch into exile.

King Edward VIII, now known to the world as the Duke of Windsor, had just tossed away his crown for "the woman I love," as he described American divorcee Wallis Simpson. The nation he left behind was reeling from the shock.

Looking back after 25 years, it is hard to visualize the excitement, the bitter recriminations which the abdication touched off. But at the time, there were no neutrals as far as the ill-starred monarch was concerned.

The king either was involved in the "romance of the century," or he was the central figure of a scandal which threatened to bring the institution of the monarchy into disrepute.

Whatever the outcome of the abdication crisis, the monarchy would never again be the same, the pessimists predicted. They said the delicate fabric of esteem surrounding the royalty had been torn beyond repair. But Edward was succeeded by his brother, George VI, who in turn was succeeded by Queen Elizabeth II.

Far from suffering from the abdication, the monarchy today is stronger — and commands greater respect and admiration than it did then, most observers believe.

At the same time, the British nation appears to have been less than just to the Duke of Windsor.

"It's love and love alone that caused King Edward to lose his throne . . ." Thus runs a Trinidad calypso which swept the world in the wake of the abdication.

No Briton under the age of 30 today would ever have heard this calypso, nor have any independent memory of the events which it celebrates in song. All that the present generation of Britons knows about "Edward and Wally" is what their parents have told them.

The Windsors have been buried alive by the Establishment, that curiously British combination of church, peerage and landed gentry. One sees press photos of the Duke and Duchess occasionally on the society pages as members of the international smart set glimpsed at Cannes or Palm Beach. Otherwise there is a conspiracy of silence, abnormal in a country which is so curious about its royals.

The Duke of Windsor slips in and out of England almost stealthily, his movements barely noted by the press. He still, quite obviously, is the black sheep of the royal family.

The vendetta has in some cases been carried to extremes. For example, Clarence House recently went to great pains to let it be known that the choice of David as name of Princess Margaret's baby was in no way influenced by the fact that David was likewise the favorite family name of the Duke of Windsor.

No, David was chosen because it was the Christian name of the late Sir David Bowes-Lyon, brother of Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, it was disclosed.

Why has no effort been made to let bygones be bygones and restore the Duke to the affection of the British people? What does the Establishment fear?

The answer, it is explained, is that the duke in some quarters is still regarded as a moral transgressor. The Church of England, for one, cannot forgive him for having married a divorcee.

The harsh judgment of the church was summoned up 25 years ago by Cosmo Lang, then Archbishop of Canterbury. The king had received his high and sacred trust from God, the archbishop declared, "yet by his own will . . . he has surrendered the trust.

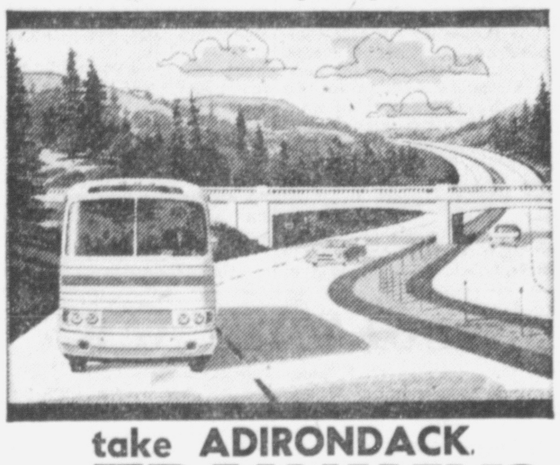

"Strange and sad it is," the archbishop continued, "that he should have sought his happiness in a manner inconsistent with the Christian principles of marriage . . ."

Many Britons feel that this judgment is much too cruel to be allowed to stand, and that the duke and duchess should now be welcomed into the royal family fold. As the duke, himself, has said in his memoirs, "Time has long since sanctified a true and faithful union."

Biggest Tribe

The Navahoes are the largest Indian tribe in the United States. Contrary to the myth of the "vanishing Indian," their number has increased from 12,000 in 1868 to more than 90,000 in 1960.

Ribicoff Denies Newburgh Reason for Welfare Shift

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff called today for voluntary welfare groups to join the government in improving national welfare laws.

"If the nation is to do a more effective job of preventing dependency, there will be work enough for all of us," Ribicoff said in remarks prepared for the Salvation Army Association luncheon. He was selected to receive the organization's annual citation.

Reviews Changes

The secretary reviwed briefly some of the administrative changes he announced Monday in the federal-state public assistance program. He said they are designed to eliminate abuses and develop constructive ways of getting people off relief.

Ribicoff denied at a Washington news conference Monday that the revamping of the federal-state assistance program was stimulated by the controversial welfare plan for Newburgh, N. Y.

"Absolutely not," he said. "It was under way long before that."

Enforcement Restrained

Enforcement of the Newburgh plan has been temporarily restrained by court action brought by New York State. Among other things, it called for unemployed men to work on public projects and halted aid to women who continued to have children out of wedlock.

At Newburgh, City Manager Joseph Mitchell, who spearheaded the local campaign, agreed that Ribicoff's action was unrelated to the Newburgh campaign "because his solution is to spend millions more of taxpayers' money to further a philosophy which has failed."

He added:

"I sincerely hope and pray that responsible senators and congressmen will not be hoodwinked by Ribicoff and that they will have the courage to tell him that he flunked the course and that the taxpayers want less —not more— of the welfare state."

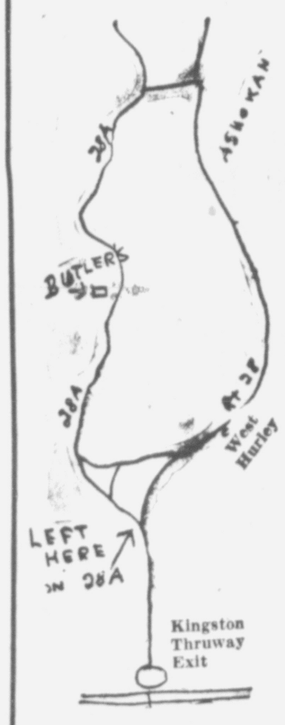

Bid to Ribicoff

The Newburgh City Council unanimously approved Monday night a resolution by Republican Councilman Irving Green to invite Ribicoff to Newburgh for the purpose of informing the city officials how his proposed changes could affect Newburgh's program.

At the same time, the council wants to exchange ideas with the cabinet officer and present a clearer picture to him of what Newburgh has been trying to do.

Green said he also wanted to know exactly what effect Ribicoff's proposed changes would have once they filtered down to the local level.

Dedicate New City Court Room In Poughkeepsie

Dedication ceremonies for Poughkeepsie's new city courtroom on the second floor of the Slote Building, 2-4 Washington Street, that city, were conducted Monday prior to the first session of court in the new room.

Mayor Victor Waryas and Lloyd L. Rosenthal, president of the Dutchess County Bar association, were among the speakers.

The last several months a special committee of the Dutchess Bar Association has been working on plans to obtain a new city courtroom. The committee comprised John R. Heilman, assistant district attorney; Paul S. Samuels and Joseph C. McCabe.

The new City Court suite includes a large courtroom, at least twice the size of the former courtroom in City Hall, and four adjoining rooms to be used for juries or conferences, court clerks and secretaries, a judge's chamber and quarters for filing court records.

Six Wallets Are Reported Stolen In Area Church

The rifling of wallets in church cloak rooms, experienced in Kingston area churches shortly before the Christmas holidays last year has started again, this time in Dutchess County.

State police at South Millbrook today continued investigation of the theft of six wallets from the choir room in the Pleasant Valley Presbyterian Church.

Troopers said the wallets, which contained about $48.34, belonged to members of the choir who were singing in the church. The theft occurred on Sunday, Nov. 26.

Owners of the wallets and contents taken by the thief were identified by troopers as Mrs. Ernest Palmquist, South Quaker Lane, Hyde Park, $2.50 and papers; her daughter, Marie $5.34 and personal papers; Mrs. Gertrude Talleur, Town of Poughkeepsie, $5.50 and credit cards; Margaret E. Howe, Pleasant Valley, personal papers; Mrs. William Dederer, Pleasant Valley, $7 and papers and Mrs. Frances Waye, 69 North Grand Avenue, Poughkeepsie, $28 and credit cards.

About this time last year local law enforcement agencies were investigating a series of wallet thefts in area churches. Five of the seven women victimized by the thief reported their wallets and valuable papers were recovered at the Governor Clinton Hotel where they were discarded after the money was taken.

Other wallets with money missing were also found at the Kirkland Hotel washroom where they had been discarded by the thief.

Wallets were taken from cloak rooms at Old Dutch Church, Kingston; Saugerties Methodist Church and Saugerties Reformed Church, and Woodstock Reformed Church. The thefts were usually reported following a choir rehearsal or other church program.

Man Hurt Near Alsen Leaves Hospital Today

Michael A. Dowdell, 20 of Long Island City, who was injured during the weekend in a highway mishap on Route 9W near the Alsen underpass, was discharged today from Greene County Memorial Hospital.

Leeds state police reported Dowdell in his 1960 foreign car was proceeding south on Route 9W, failed to negotiate a sharp left curve and struck the railroad abutment near Lehigh Portland Cement Company plant at Alsen.

Troopers said he suffered multiple lacerations of the forehead, abrasions of the head and possible shoulder injuries. The mishap occurred at 12:15 a. m. Saturday.

Kent to Tour World

NEW YORK (AP)—Blue chip leadership continued to push a churning stock market higher early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .50 at 267.10 with industrials up 1.50, rails off .60 and utilities up .20.

Two Fined Today In Local Court

A man booked last month on a charge dealing with the illegal carrying of a gun was sentenced in city court today on the lesser charge of disorderly conduct and a driver paid a $50 fine after another reduction of charge.

Raymond Johnson, 19, of 40 Murray Street, who was booked originally on the rifle charge, was fined $10 after pleading to disorderly conduct. Police said when he was arrested that he had threatened another man. Attorney S. James Matthews appeared for him.

Margaret Crumpton, 45, of Shokan, originally charged with driving wwhile intoxicated, paid the $50 today on a reckless driving charge. Attorney Joseph M. Campbell appeared for her.

Frank Banskie, 27, of 341 First Avenue, was booked Monday night on the charge of "illegal possession of lands." His wife, Marian, is listed as complainant, and it is alleged that he had returned to a property without due permission to do so. He is under $200 bail for City Court appearance Dec. 16.

Dennis Alexander, 20, of 101 Abeel Street, booked Monday night on a third degree assault charge is due in court tonight. Police said the charge was lodged by his wife.

Bids Put on 12 Properties at Local Tax Sale

Only 12 of 175 properties listed for tax sale in the city hall Monday attracted individual bids, City Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl reported today.

Of 150 properties on the block a year ago, 11 brought individual bids. In 1959 the sale brought 25 bids from individuals and a total of 116 properties were listed that year. All bids on Monday were small properties.

Will Join Mate

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—"I am not going to let my husband go to jail alone when it is my fault. If he is guilty, so am I."

Mrs. John F. Byrne, attractive mother of four, made that statement Monday after insisting on pleading guilty to a federal charge of evading $5,670 in income taxes for 1956-57.

Byrne, developer of a chain of restaurants, and his wife were indicted April 3.

Soothes Disposition

LONDON (AP)—Richard Gilbert, 45, was mild mannered and affable before a car knocked him from his motorcycle and he suffered brain injuries.

Afterward, his attorney said Monday in court, Gilbert became touchy, difficult and offensive, with a streak of nastiness he had not had before.

Would Test in Open

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., says he is so concerned over whether U.S. nuclear weapons actually will work that he wants testing resumed in the atmosphere.

"We don't know, actually, if an intercontinental ballistic missile will work with an atomic warhead," he said Monday. "We've never tried one."

Jacksonville Has 83

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Santa Claus had better trade his fur-trimmed suit for Bermuda shorts if the heat wave continues in the Jacksonville area.

A high temperature of 83 set a record Monday, beating the 80 recorded Dec. 11, 1931. Sunday's high of 82 also was a record breaker. Another day in the 80s was forecast for today.

Dutchess Votes Sick Leave

Dutchess County's Board of Supervisors Monday approved a sick leave plan for county employes. The board will allow employes to accumulate up to 120 days of sick leave. The previous allowance was 60 days. Under the new plan county employes are entitled to 12 days' sick leave with pay each year, in addition to annual three weeks' vacation.

Ryan's Car Parked

Charles A. Ryan, 62, of 105 Foxhall Avenue, said today that his car, one of three which police said was involved in an accident, was parked, and not in motion as indicated in a Monday report. The mishap Saturday night police said, was at Foxhall Avenue and Garden Street.

DR. NEAL BOWMAN

Speaker Listed For IMC Dinner Tonight at 6:30

The Kingston Industrial Management Club, sponsored by the YMCA, will hold its regular meeting tonight at the Hotel Stuyvesant starting with dinner at 6:30. Dr. Neal Bowman, a member of the staff of the National Association of Manufacturers will be the speaker.

Dr. Bowman will speak on the subject Inside With the Boss. This depicts ideas of top management getting to his supervisory staff personally and then on to the general overall employe in industry. This idea in management was derived at many years ago and set aside, but today it is regarded right up front and paying off for business and the employe as well.

The speaker was in attendance at the meeting of the National Association of Management last week when President John F. Kennedy was the main speaker. Club president Alfred Guerdon will ask Dr. Bowman to relate some of the ideas that the President expressed.

Dr. Bowman has had a rich and varied background as an educator, author, lecturer and sales psychologist. He became a member of the staff of NAM in 1944 and has traveled from coast to coast speaking on the latest ideas and techniques used in management and industry. He has also made many radio and television appearances.

IMC members are asked to bring a guest, so that others besides club members may get first hand information on the latest facets in industrial education, particularly what it means to know top management intimately.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband and I are 50 years old. We own close to $10,000 in savings, another $10,000 in 'E' bonds and $15,000 in a checking account (of which $5,000 is really all we need to meet business and personal expenses). My husband is not too inclined toward stocks, but it seems to me that the excess in our checking account could serve us better in some investment." — A. G.

A) I must say that I agree with you. The $10,000 excess in your checking account should be invested so that the idle funds are kept working for you both.

Some people do not feel comfortable owning common stocks, and I can readily understand your husband's feelings in this matter. Nevertheless, I do want to point out that all of your capital is now in fixed income investments, the purchasing power of which will probably be pared over the years by inflation.

My suggestion is that you and your husband take the time to earnestly talk over the idea of investing the extra $10,000 in sound common stocks as a cost-of-living hedge.

All stocks have some degree of market risk. However, I believe that a diversified list of top grade issues such as Reynolds Tobacco, Scott Paper, American Electric Power and CIT Financial has strong defensive qualities and in the years ahead should appreciate more than enough to balance the purchasing-power loss of your other fixed income assets.

To me, this is sound investment policy, and I think you owe yourselves the opportunity of considering it.

Q) "What do you think of Atlantic Research?" — E. W.

A) Atlantic Research has a big stake in various defense programs, with emphasis on rockets and missiles. Earnings progress has been exceptional, and I rate the shares as a good commitment for those who can afford to hold a speculative issue.

Protest Display

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — A life-sized Nativity display on the Broome County Court House lawn is an insult to Jews and a travesty on religious freedom, a Universalist minister contends.

The Rev. Richard M. Woodman of the First Universalist Church says the display, depicting the birth of Jesus, would be "quite appropriate on a church lawn (but) has no place on the court house lawn."

State to Have Impact on His Political Future

Reporter Revisits W. Virginia To Check on JFK Standing Now

EDITOR'S NOTE—West Virginia has played a special part in the fortunes of John F. Kennedy. Here he won a pivotal political battle. Here he also encountered, in stark outline, the biggest domestic problem that he would face as president. A reporter revisits the state for this second of five articles examining the Kennedy record.

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—No state can match West Virginia in its impact on the eventful political life of John F. Kennedy.

Here Kennedy spent a month last year slugging it out in a tough presidential primary.

Here he scored what he himself calls his most important victory in his race for nomination.

Here he was so impressed with the problems caused by automation that to this day he seems to use a special tone when he refers to the economic lessons he picked up first hand in West Virginia.

Here, in a battle of promises with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., he firmly vowed things would be better if he became president.

"I take the commitments which I have made in this state very seriously," Kennedy told West Virginia voters.

It has been 19 months since Kennedy so diligently toured this state, trying to convince audiences—sometimes large and enthusiastic, sometimes as small as a dozen mildly interested spectators—that he should be in the White House.

For 11 months he has been President.

In May 1960, Kennedy, his voice almost gone from excessive speech-making, left booming, prosperous Charleston, crossed the Kanawha River and went up famed Cabin Creek, where coal is everything.

Kennedy went as far as Eskdale, arriving at a politically opportune moment for a man preaching a doctrine of economic revival. Times were so rough the company store had closed that day, for keeps.

Fortunately, Slim Robertson, the longtime manager of the company store, is still around. He has moved down the road a piece, where he manages the state liquor dispensary.

He's Convinced

"I'm convinced," he said, "that things are going to get better."

He recited some of the things Kennedy has helped bring to West Virginia: New factories are opening or are being planned, food stamps for the poor are in use, a public works program has been started, a big interstate highway has been announced.

"What worries me are the young people," he went on. "What is going to happen to them? Used to be, they went into the mines automatically. Now only one thing can happen at the mines. They need fewer and fewer men."

Not So Cheerful

Cross the road and the railroad tracks that follow Cabin Creek. Here, as it has for almost 49 years, stands the N. A. Nehman Grocery.

Mrs. Nehman isn't so cheerful about the results Kennedy has obtained. Business has steadily dropped.

"You should have seen this place right after the war," she said. "Charleston depended on us then. City buses every two hours. Now all those vacant homes. And these are such good people. It's a shame really."

The three Nehman boys have solved their problem by migrating to Washington to work for the government. While most of the nation grew, West Virginia lost 145,151 residents between 1950 and 1960.

A 19-year-old hitchhiker, picked up on the way back to town, shows how tough the problem is. He seemed like a bright youngster, but, no, he had never held a job.

"To tell you the truth, I haven't looked too hard," he said. "The mines are about blowed out."

He dropped out of school in the ninth grade.

Automation Hurts

Now drive to the fine residential area in the hills of South Charleston. Lights from a cluster of industrial plants in the valley shine eerily but spectacularly through a haze of chemical fumes. Despite this activity, some of these factories, by using automation, get the same job done with fewer men.

Now, to complete the confusion, let's drop in at the state capital.

Big Welfare Problem

A couple of examples will show how serious this problem is: Around 300,000 persons are entitled to surplus food. More than half of the McDowell County residents are entitled to some form of relief. McDowell, in the heart of the coal country, is trying out the food stamp idea.

In the state bureau of Labor the word is that things are picking up, that those who draw unemployment insurance have fallen from a high of 45,527 in February to 17,657 in October.

Bleak Fact Remains

Cheering as this may be, one bleak fact remains. Many unemployed West Virginians don't have this insurance—and one worker out of 10 still has no job.

In the words of Miles Stanley of the AFL-CIO: "More basic answers to the state's problems of chronic and persistent unemployment must be found."

Throughout his campaign Kennedy stressed that a sturdy economic growth was essential if this nation was to come up with 20,000 new jobs it needs each week for the next 10 years.

"How is it going to be possible," candidate Kennedy asked, "for this country to maintain full employment with a low rate of economic growth, especially at a time when machines are taking jobs of men? I would consider that to be the No. 1 domestic problem which the next president of the United States will have to meet."

Those around the President say a start has been made.

And in a speech at Trenton, N.J., Kennedy insisted America is on the move again.

But a nation's economic health is incredibly complex, involving everything from gold reserves to interest rates to inflation.

Rest on Job Demand

But on one statistic they all agree: More people are working, but, because more jobs are needed, the rat of unemployment has not changed much, though some improvement was noted in November.

As Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg put it: "We have a stubborn and continuing unemployment problem. I wish to reaffirm the determination of the Kennedy administration to reduce this unemployment problem to manageable proportions. We shall continue vigorously to pursue our objectives of a higher rate of economic growth."

For John F. Kennedy, it's still his No. 1 domestic problem.

Javits Says Nixon Leads GOP Race For Nomination

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R - NY, says former Vice President Richard M .Nixon is the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, not Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Javits Saturday challenged a recent statement by GOP national chairman William Miller that Goldwater was the leading contender, followed by Nixon and New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Javits, in an interview, criticized Goldwater's conservative policies, adding:

"He has had a constructive role in the party but I don't think Goldwater represents the viewpoint of the party as a whole."

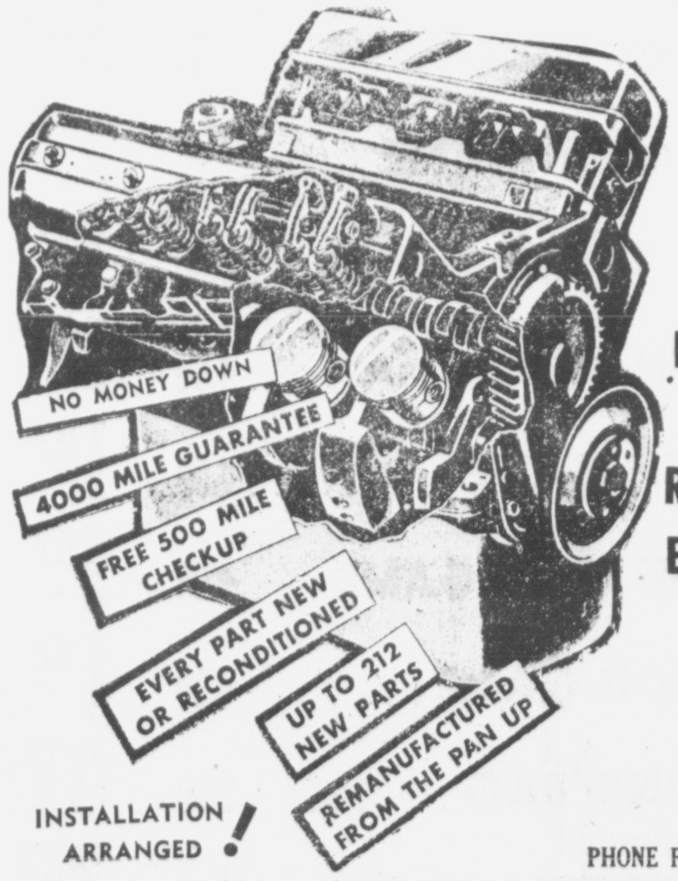

Javits is a member of the more liberal Republican wing. He also ranked Rockefeller ahead of Goldwater as a presidential possibility.

Stop That Rattle

If the rattling of a flashlight or other metal object in the glove compartment of your car is annoying, here's how to eliminate it. Pad the glove compartment with a layer of foam rubber. First make a paper pattern, then cut the foam rubber to size and glue to the bottom, back and sides of the compartment.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

The Town of Rochester furnished many recruits for the Union Army and one of these was Enoch V. Schoonmaker, youngest of 15 children of Moses and Jane Vreeland Schoonmaker. While living at Accord, he enlisted in the 20th N. Y. State Infantry. He was at the battle of Petersburg, Virginia at the time of the great explosion there. The regiment was mustered out June 17, '65 at Fortress Monroe. Death loss of 220th (known earlier as the Ulster Guards and also as the Eightieth Regiment of Infantry, Veteran) was 284 officers and men. These casualties included six killed in the ammnition explosion at City Point, Va., Aug. 9, 1864, and 22 who died in the hands of the enemy. Col. Jacob B. Hardenbergh was in command at time of its final mustering out, Jan. 29, 1866. Veteran Schoonmaker was married, Sept. 13, 1865, to Sarah C. Sahler and their six children were Catherine N., Robert R., Margaret H., Mary C., Carrie D., and Florence D. He was a Republican in politics and a member of the Kingston 2nd Dutch Church.

Monday afternoon, May 31, 1886, Odd Fellows Hall on The Strand, Rondout, was the scene of an interesting ceremony when the members of General Grant Post, Grand Army of the Republic, were presented with one of the finest stand of colors that the Ladies Auxiliary of the post could secure. The Rev. A. K. Fuller in presenting the stand to the veterans who were drawn up in line on the raised platform, said in part: "And now what need I say. Does not this flag speak more eloquently than any words of mine? To the soldiers especially how much it means! You will prize this banner because of the source from whence it comes. It is the gift of woman, the soldier's truest friend and helper in war or in peace. All honor, I say, to our loyal daughters and patriotic mothers. You will never regard this with just the feelings you do those old flags, blood-stained and bullet-torn, which you followed and fought under, in the day of conflict. But it is an American banner, and, as such, has a value no other ensign can possibly have to you."

Professor Bunten, a member of the post, in accepting the flag said: "We shall prize these beautiful colors for what they represent, for the sacred memories that cluster so thickly around them as the symbol of our nation's grandeur and glory—won and perpetuated no less by the self-sacrificing devotion of woman than by the manly courage and heroic deeds displayed on many a hard-fought field of battle. We shall prize them still more highly because they assure us that the women—God bless them—still retain the great interest they have always shown in the soldiers of the Republic. Comrades, these colors come to us from the same hands that during all the long and terrible war were so busy providing for the wants and comforts of the soldier; caring for him in sickness and in suffering, deftly and tenderly binding his wounds, and soothing and generally administering hope and consolatioin as only woman with her warm, loving heart can do. The women of the free North in 1861 were loyal and true, and their tender love and sympathy followed the soldier wherever he was called. All honor, then, to the noble, true-hearted women of America! For four long years of trial and suspense, of bitter anguish and sad bereavement, they furnished a noble, a splendid example of more than Spartan heroism and self-abnegation. May their chidren's children rise up and call them blessed!

Ulster County veterans of service with the 120th Regiment in June of 1886 were making preparations to journey to Gettysburg where the 23rd anniversary of the great three days battle was to be observed on the following July 2. Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, the dapper little ex-Tammany Hall politician who had literally fought his way to command of the renowned Third Army Corps was scheduled to deliver an address. Our local boys belonged to Sickles' Corps and they with other regiments bore the brunt of the battle the second day and probably did much toward giving the Union Army a victory on the third day. Sickles had requested Capt. James K. Holmes of the 120th to get the name and address of every surviving member of the unit so that a circular regardinig the reunion could be sent to them. There were 240 surviving members in '86, 150 of whom resided in Ulster and Greene Counties.

General Sickles, a fearless fighter if ever there was one, had made bitter enemies as well as loyal friends in the course of his meteroric rise to military fame. The man who boasted that he was the friend of five presidents, including Lincoln, was of such personal magnetism that even his brigade chaplains, Twichell and O'Hagan, came to like the man, his rather unsavory reputation in civil life nothwithstanding; impetuous, he disregarded General Meade's command to hold back his men until further orders. The carnage was frightful and several generals were among the killed. The Confederates came over like swarms of bees, — "They appeared to have the devil in them," one officer observed. The peach orchard and the knee-deep wheat field became a shambles. Colonel Haskel, viewing the struggle from Cemetery Ridge, described the scene thus tersely: "What a hell there is down that valley!"

The sun was setting over Cemetery Ridge after bearing down upon those tens of thousands of men all that long hot summer's day; the rain of hot metal from enemy artillery had begun to taper off a little and Dan Sickles was sitting on his horse watching the awesome scene. A cannonball contacted the general's right leg, shattering it beyond repair. He was losing a lot of blood despite the tourniquet which he directed an aide to fashion from a saddle strap. Placed on a stretcher, the redoubtable Yankee from New York City appeared not long for this world, and his two chaplains prepared to accompany him to the operating tent. Now Sickles was a born showman, a characteristic possibly acquired from his friend, P. T. Barnum. Upon being informed that rumor had gone around the field that he was mortally wounded, he told a stretcher bearer to get a cigar out of the case in his inside pocket and light it. Thus fortified with a Havana, and puffing away for all to see, he had at once gratified his own ego and set the minds of his corps at ease.

General Sickles liked his joke, too. After a long period of treatment in a Washington hospital during which time President Lincoln came to see him, he was able to go to Lake George, N. Y. for recuperation. But he took time off to have his departed leg 'embalmed' and placed in a glass case in a museum. It pleased him greatly to know that many persons came to view the remains. Sickles loved the New York State regiments of his famous Excelsior Brigade; he thought they were just about the best fighters in the whole Union Army. His men reciprocated this affection and in fact rather idolized him. They knew that when Dan Sickles sent them against the Johnnies, he sure enough went right along with them.

Proposes Changes In Absentee Vote

New York—Residents of New York State should not lose their right to vote simply because they happen to be away on vacation on Election Day, Secretary of State Caroline K. Simon said Monday.

In remarks prepared for delivery at hearings of the Joint Legislative Committee to Study Election and Related Statutes, Mrs. Simon suggested that the State Legislature extend the rights of the absentee ballot to qualified voters, whose vacations take them away from their county of residence on Election Day.

Mrs. Simon also suggested that the committee consider legislation in two other areas:

1. Extend absentee registration rights to students pursuing studies outside their counties of residence, but still within the state.

2. Let newcomers to the state, who were qualified to vote in the state where they formerly made their home, vote in presidential elections here.

Mrs. Simon urged that the right to register on an absentee basis for students within the state be added, basing her recommendation on that fact that present law permits a New York State student to register and vote by absentee ballot if he is attending an institution outside the state.

Mrs. Simon also said that the requirements that newcomers must spend a year in the state before qualifying as voters should be reduced in the case of national elections.

Conceding that the newcomers to the state would need time to acquaint themselves with local issues and candidates, Mrs. Simon said that these factors did not apply in national campaigns.

"A citizen would be as familiar with the national issues and political personalities in his new location as he was in his previous residence. National candidates and national issues are equally well-known to members of the voting population wherever they may reside."

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Bing Crosby, on motion picture business in England recently, turned his trip to television's advantage. He converted a stroll through London into a pleasant, relaxed and decidedly off-beat variety hour.

Bing's Hollywood-made specials of other ABC seasons have been among the best. Monday night's, although completely different, maintained the same high standard of taste and gentle humor.

We first saw Bing wandering into a tea shop for a cup—and running into Dave King, the personable entertainer who was Perry Como's summer replacement. Aided by a pretty girl singer, Marian Ryan, they sang and clowned in this unusual setting. Then he roamed on, next encountering comedian Terry-Thomas playing a civil servant. Perhaps at this point, the comedy writers let both Bing and Terry-Thomas down a bit. Later there was a delightful number in a court room with a judge who was a jolly combination of the duchess in Alice in Wonderland and someone out of Gilbert and Sullivan.

Bing wound up in a pub, of course, with a brief appearance by Bob Hope. It was a real nice show.

NBC's David Brinkley, reporting the news during the dinner hour Monday night, used a forbidden five-letter word—although he was quoting a U.S. senator. Question: does language which routinely is edited out of dramatic shows by network censors as unfit for tender ears become fit in news reports? Lots of children watch news shows as well as cartoons and Westerns.

Recommended tonight: "Dick Powell Show, NBC, 9-10 EST)—"A Swiss Affair," international spy stuff with Powell and Hazel Court; "Ernie Kovacs Special," ABC, 10?30-11—an off-beat excursion into comedy.

200 Attend 10th Anniversary Fete Of Little League

More than 200 attended the 10th anniversary celebration of the Little New Paltz League recently at the Methodist Church.

The Rev. Willett Porter gave the blessing as he has done for the past nine years. President Leon Keator welcomed the adults present and thanked them for their interest and attendance. A generous vote of thanks was given the Men's Club which served the dinner.

There were 116 boys on this year's six teams. A total of 30 boys are leaving the league to join the 239 past members.

Two new teams will be added to the league next year, they will be the Mets, managed by Ben Lardiere, and the Tigers to be managed by Dick Heroy. A total of 48 new uniforms, 32 new tee shirts and 160 caps lettered NP have been ordered. Each team will play a total of 14 games.

A greater effort on the sale of booster tickets and another tag day will be made to meet the additional expense.

Mayor Henry DuBois and Supervisor Peter Savago, both spoke in praise for the members of the Little League and their supervising staff.

Ed Palladino, sports writer for the Kingston Daily Freeman, not only praised the boys and their leaders but the mothers as well for their support.

The following awards were presented:

A plaque for ten years of service to the league by the New Paltz Independent and Times was presented to Mrs. James O. LeFevre.

The first individual trophy ever presented to a player was given to Larry Federsen for the first no-hit, no-run game which was played July 7.

William Kelly, former coach with the Red Sox was awarded a trophy for his years of service and devotion to them. Individual trophies were given the Red Sox, champions for 1961.

Receiving trophies for their ten years service to the league were umpires Bill Porter, Pete Rooney and Bob DuBois; managers George Ackert, Warren McDowell and Lee Keator.

Yule Lighting Program Slated On December 20

The Christmas tree lighting program, sponsored by the local Jaycees, will be held Dec. 20 at 7 p. m. in front of the Municipal Building, Plattekill Avenue.

The ceremony will begin with an invocation and will be followed by carol singing and a prayer.

Mayor, Henry DuBois, will speak briefly before he lights the tree.

Santa will arrive with candy for all the children present. Hot chocolate will be served to all after which groups will sing carols through the village streets.

Over 350 attended last year's lighting of the tree program and the Jaycees are looking for an even greater attendance this year.

Education Group Meets Thursday

The next meeting of the Independent Citizens Committee for Education will be held Thursday, Dec. 14 at 8 p. m. in the Municipal Building, Plattekill Avenue. All committee chairmen will report on the study of the question Are Our Facilities Adequate for the Satisfactory Education of Our Children?

Committees under the direction of Robert Corey, Walter Dyer and Michael Landis, have spent the last two months making an exhaustive study of the enrollment, space and financial aspects of the question.

All delegates and alternates are urged to be present for these important reports. Using the information obtained by these committees, the ICCE will consider its future course of action.

Music Department Begins Benefit Sale

The announcement has been made that the New Paltz Central School Music Department will be conducting a door-to-door candy sale starting this week.

The sale is to raise funds for sending students to the New York State Sectional Music Festivals, to finance the music awards given each spring, and to start a fund for the aquisition of band-chorus seated risers which are much needed for music and dramatic programs.

Two hundred and thirteen students will be involved in the project which is being conducted by the following committee to represent the various music organizations: Eugene Cotton, band president; George Bond, chorus president; Bernard Bartz, orchestra; Charlotte Rohe, girls ensemble; Alice Jaeger, color guard and drill team; Stanley Ackerman, intermediate band; Bethany Tucker, junior high girls chorus; John Dayger, junior high boys glee club; and Bruce Blatchly elementary students.

Sockman Is Speaker

The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, noted radio preacher and retiring from the pastorate of Christ Methodist Church, New York City, at the end of this year, will be the guest speaker at the concluding services of the 175th Anniversary Year celebration of the New Paltz Methodist Church at the 11 a. m. worship service Sunday, Jan. 7.

Betrothal Is Told

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Van Kleeck of Sunset Ridge, New Paltz, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to Joseph Sorge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sorge of Lake George, N. Y.

Shirley is a graduate of Kingston High School and is presently employed as a secretary by IBM in Kingston.

NY Union Leader Threatens Strike Of 6,000 Workers

BAL HARBOR, Fla. (AP) —A labor leader says he will ask his union's 6,000 members in New York City to authorize a city-wide strike Jan. 1 unless they get a 20-hour work week. He got pledges of support from other labor leaders of the city.

The workers—members of Local 3 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers—now have a 6-hour day, 30 hours a week. They work an extra hour a day at overtime rates.

Harry Van Arsdale, business manager of the local and head of the New York City Labor Council, said employers will be asked to inaugurate a four-hour day, 20-hour week at the same pay yield plus a 40-cent per hour increase in wages and benefits.

Van Arsdale said the demand is intended to share available work since factory prefabrication of electrical compents has eliminated considerable on-site work.

He said that with rising automation the four-hour day probably will become a general thing for all American workers by 1970.

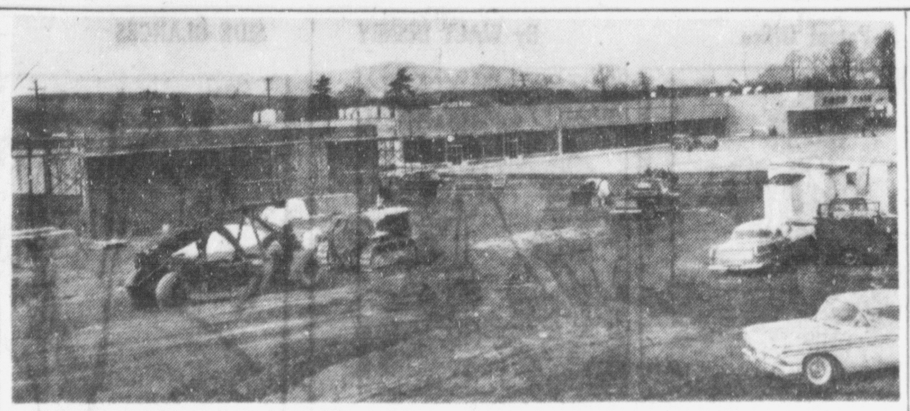

"That's too long for us to wait," he added.

matter of Fact

A two-inch-long "stop and go light" is the luminiscent railroad worm of South America. He got his name for obvious reasons. At his head a red light glows; greenish-yellow lights adorn each side. Sometimes this glowworm's lights are turned off. But blow on him and his red signal flashes. His green lights will shine anytime you give him a little shake. You just have to know the combination.

PROGRESS AT ULSTER SHOPPING CENTER—Recent mild weather has permitted continual progress in the construction of the shopping center on Albany Avenue Extension in the Town of Ulster. The Food Fair super market (far right) is expected to be open for business early in January. The two open fronts next to the Food Fair will house a cleaners and the Ulster Branch of the Savings and Loan Association, Kingston, 267 Wall Street. The closed-in establishment (Center) will house F. W. Woolworth Company and the building to the far right will be The Wallace Company department store, expected to open in the summer. Jay Steel's girder installation was completed this week on the Wallace store. (Freeman photo).

Legion Post Slates Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party for members of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, and their children, will be held at the American Legion Home, West O'Reilly Street, Sunday, December 17, beginning at 2 p. m.

This annual party with a visit from Santa Claus, motion pictures for the children, singing of Christmas carols and serving of refreshments is always an outstanding affair of the Legion Christmas season program.

Damages Figure Low

NEW YORK (AP)—Limiting individual damages in international airline accidents to $8,300 is as outdated as flying passengers in fabric-and-wire biplanes, says the New York State Association of Plaintiffs' Trial Attorneys.

The group wired President Kennedy Sunday urging the federal government to denounce the 1929 Warsaw convention agreement which limits air damages to $8,300.

The group said the agreement has become a "Frankenstein, shackling the victims of air disasters to an absurdly inadequate" financial recovery.

NewSiteProposed For Abstract Art Depicting Woman

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A new city site has been proposed for sculptor Larry Griffis' "Spirit of Womanhood" statue, a piece of abstract art that has touched off a public uproar here.

City Parks Commissioner George Martin, who likes the statue, asked the city council Monday to let him shift its proposed location to Lincoln Parkway on the North side.

The statue, a toothpick-like figure of woman holding a large hoop, was originally planned for another city plot, but the widow of the man for whom the plot was named didn't like it.

Meanwhile, a fresh batch of public opinion rolled in to both local newspapers which had published pictures last week of a two-foot wax version of the figure. Most of it came from women.

"The statue means nothing more than a string-bean skeleton holding a hula-hoop," said one woman. "If this is a symbol of what I am, I better give up."

Griffis, an art teacher, would get a $9,000 commission for a 12-foot bronze version of the figure. The sculpture was commissioned to honor the local founder of the Zonta Club, now a nationwide women's organization.

Griffis' design was one of four submitted. He said he likes all the public clamor because controversy is good for art.

The city council reserved decision on the site, indicating that it wanted to hear more from the public.

Farm Bureau Head Scores Price Support

CHICAGO (AP) — President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation Monday attacked federal farm price support and control programs as violations of divine law.

He said that by giving something for nothing through subsidies and by limiting individual intiative, these programs deny "the unmitakable pattern of God's plan" that individuals accept and discharge greater responsibilities.

Shuman took this position in a talk prepared for his organization's annual convention, which opened Sunday and extends through Thursday. The farm leader has been s sharp critic of Kennedy administration farm policies.

Postmaster Says Checks Were Late, Not in Any Bin

CORNING, N. Y. (AP)—Incoming social security checks were delivered three days late here last week because they arrived late and not because they were mistakenly dumped into a bin for low-priority "junk mail," says Corning Postmaster Floyd English.

"I never heard of any bin for 'junk mail' at any post office, and we don't have one here," English said Monday night.

"The checks arrived late because someone somewhere else made a mistake and stuck them in the wrong bag, that's all," English said.

He said the checks arrived in second-class mail sacks, instead of smaller first-class mail pouches.

Syracuse Man Pleads Innocent To Murder Charge

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Ex-convict Charles Trudeau entered a mandatory plea of innocent Monday to a charge of first-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Louise Temple, real-estate saleswoman whose body was found in the trunk of her automobile.

Trudeau, indicted Sept. 28, also pleaded innocent at arraignment in county court to charges of forging and cashing a check allegedly stolen from Mrs. Temple and stealing her automobile and other checks and cash totaling $415.

Judge Donald H. Mead of Onondaga County court set trail for Feb. 5.

Mrs. Temple, a 50-year-old divorcee from Auburn, showed Trudeau an expensive suburban home Aug. 18 police said.

Turkey Growers Will Give Views On Federal Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Northeastern turkey-growers came here to air their views today on whether they favor or oppose a plan for federal regulation of the turkey industry.

The hearing, last in a series of six, was called by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

The proposed federal marketing order for the industry would:

1. Regulate the number of turkeys hatched, if there still were an oversupply.

2. Require holding some marketable turkeys back for disposition in a non-competitive manner. Hatcherymen and final processors would carry out the market stabilization.

Other sessions have been held at Richmond, Va.; Des Moines, Iowa; Las Vegas, Nev.; Oklahoma City and Chicago.

At those sessions, witnesses testified that overproduction of turkeys this year cost turkey-growers losses totaling approximately $75 million.

Crushed in Mixer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Charles George, 30, a construction equipment driver for the State Thruway Authority, was injured fatally Monday when he was crushed in the moving parts of a cement mixer on a bridge repair job near here. George lived in nearby Clarence.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Does it pay off to be Ben-Hur's best girl? Yes and no, says Haya Hayareet.

Yes, said the Israeli beauty, "it is good to be a part of a movie that is now part of history.'

No, she added, she doesn't want to be a museum piece.

"I am not Esther of 'Ben-Hur,'" she argued. "I am an actress who played the part of Esther. But that doesn't mean I have to go on playing Esther for the rest of my life."

I have heard that plaint before. But Haya is doing something about her problem. Rid of her MGM contract, she stepped right into the role of an up-to-date lady doctor in Columbia's "The Interns."

"I finished my contract with MGM on Nov. 11 and this picture came up immediately," she reported. "That is a good sign.

"MGM treated me as a father would have treated me. I was well taken care of. But I was not allowed to grow up. They could think of me only in terms of Biblical pictures."

"Ben-Hur" took three years of her life: a year of study, a year of active preparation and shooting, a year of waiting for the movie to come out and playing traveling salesgirl for it.

Haya made but two pictures in two years—one a forgettable suspense drama made in England with Stewart Granger, the other a costume epic in Rome that brought on the great Israel naval battle.

"It was quite a scandal in my country, because I played the role with my navel exposed," she said. "I didn't even have a jewel in it. I don't know why they got so excited about it.

"I am not ashamed of my navel. It is there, like everyone else's.

"After the picture was over, I went home to Israel and straightened them out. I told them they should worry about Ben-Gurion, not my navel."

OCS Memorandum Reviews Bus Transportation Policy

A comprehensive review of the school transportation situation in the Onteora Central Schools District and the legal aspects of transportation in general was released today by Watson I. Goodrich, Director of Transportation for the district.

The memorandum notes that New York State requires that elementary students living more than two miles and secondary students living more than three miles from their school be transported to school at district expense.

The Onteora Board of Education has superseded this requirement and ordered that the Chief Administrator provide transportation to all children living more than one mile from the school they attend. Additionally, children living more than one mile from a main bus route must be provided with transportation to the nearest school bus stop.

The organization and administration of the transportation system has been delegated by the District Principal to the Director of Transportation. The Director of Transportation is responsible for the setting up of all main line and feeder routes, route specifications, transportation budget, student bus lists, loading and unloading, bidding of routes, screening of drivers—both district and contract, bus contracts, small vehicle scheduling, special trip scheduling, bus fire and civil defense procedures and daily safe operation.

Each year the transportation system is completely re-evaluated. During the month of February a survey is made to determine the requirements for the following school year. New bus routes are established and old routes discontinued or rerouted when necessary. Feeder routes are scheduled and a budget request is compiled and presented to the Board of Education Budget Committee. This year the transportation budget for the Onteora school district is $215,000. Approximately 90 per cent of this amount is returned to the district in the form of transportation state aid.

Private Contractor

Once the budget is approved by the voters of the district, bid specifications are written, advertised and awarded. Since the district owns only five of its own buses, this year 34 main bus routes and nine feeder routes were awarded to private contractors. Most main line buses are 60-66 passenger buses. They travel a distance of 2,216.4 miles per day or 398,952 miles per school year. The longest bus route is 20.5, taking 45 minutes to make the complete run. The average school bus run takes less than 30 minutes.

Each school bus driver must be approved by the District Superintendent and the Board of Education. He must file a physical examination report each year indicating he is physically qualified to drive a school bus. All drivers hold Class II chauffeur licenses. New drivers are road tested by the school's head bus driver and interviewed by school administrative staff members.

All buses are inspected quarterly by a representative of the New York State Public Service Commission. Vehicles failing inspection may not be used until fault is corrected. The district-owned vehicles are serviced and maintained by the school mechanic. In addition to the five large buses, there are three carry-alls, two station wagons, two dual-controlled Driver Education cars and one passenger car to be maintained.

Many Pickup Points

Student pick-up points are established for each route. In areas where several families live near each other, only one bus stop is established. Since each stop causes more traffic to be held up, central pick-up points are safer than attempting to stop a school bus every 100-200 feet. All students are returned to the pick-up. The school does not transport students to places other than home for any reason. Sudents are instructed to board the buses only at the bus stop nearest their homes. Failure to follow this procedure could cause the student the loss of riding privilege. Additionally, student disturbance on a school bus could also result in loss of riding privilege.

During winter months, school will be closed when road conditions are not good. A road check is conducted every morning at 5:00 a. m. by the District Principal and the Director of Transportation. On questionable mornings, road superintendents are consulted. If a decision to close is made, announcements will be made by Radio Stations WKNY, WGHQ, WBAZ and WGY. School closings on bad winter days do not short change your child. There are seven additional days in this year's school calendar just for this purpose.

Parents Can Help

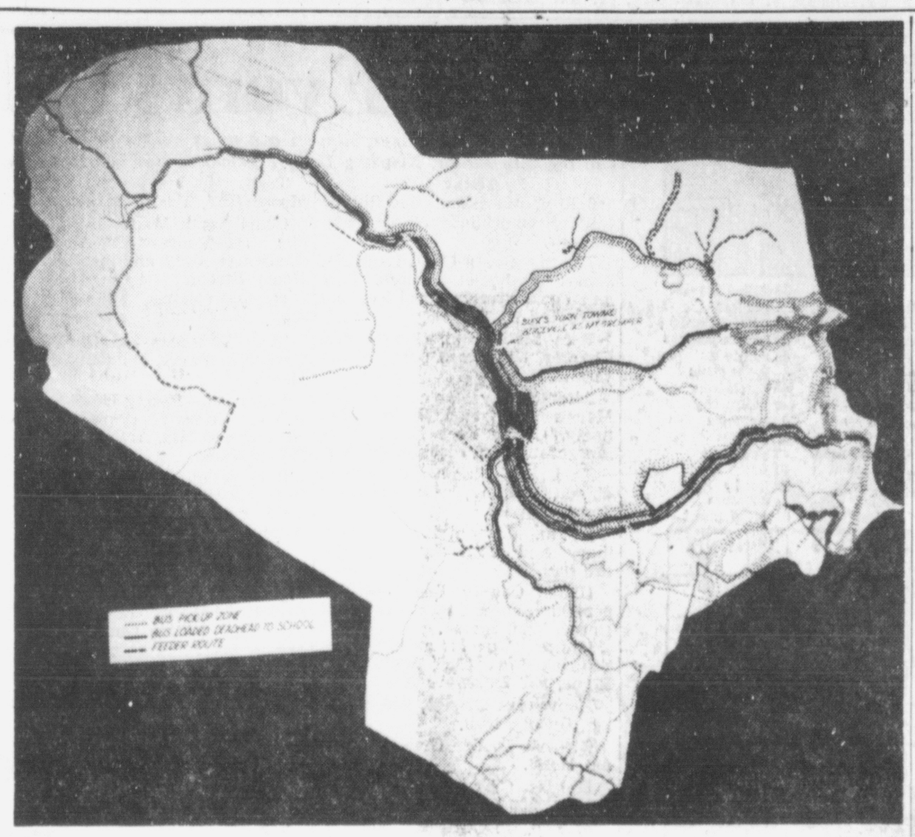

Transporting 2038 students each day is a great responsibility. Parents may help by having their children to the bus stop on time; insisting on pupil cooperation with school officials; complying with school requests; observing best safety practices in their own driving; studying with the child the list of transportation regulations; accompanying children to the bus and meeting the bus in the afternoon for the purpose of supervising their conduct and assisting in the establishment of desirable safety practices. In heavily populated areas, parents could work together taking turns meeting the bus.

Transporting children to dental offices, barber shops, stores or to a friend's house is a parenal responsibility that the school should not and does not assume. Also, parents should report traffic violations near school buses to law enforcement officials. Passing a stopped school bus could cost the life of a child and the car could be driven by a neighbor who regularly exhibits a disregard for traffic safety and your children.

Safety is first in our school bus program. School officials and drivers are continually searching for safety devices. Currently we are experimenting with a bus speaker system which will enable the driver to speak to students in and outside of the bus. The driver will be able to tell students when to cross the road and also easily speak to anyone in the rear of the bus.

All questions regarding transportation should be referred to the building principal or to the Director of Transportation. Together it is possible to strive to make our transportation system safe, efficient, economical and completely functional in that it meets the needs of those to be served.

Christian Science Theme: Evolution

Is the Universe, Including Man, evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be heard Sunday Christian Science churches.

Opening the Scriptural readings will be this message from Psalm 19: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament shewth his handywork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge. There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard . . . The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes."

Also pointing up the supreme power of God are correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scrip- which include (p. 272): "God is the divine Principle of all that represents Him and of all that really exists."

Famous Artists Design Cards for UN's Child Fund

Since 1950 the United Nations Children's Fund has sold greeting cards at Christmas time designed by famous artists from many countries, Mrs. Helen Buttrick points out.

This year their catalog includes a delightful series of five cards, "A Child's World" by Andre Francois of France; five decorative and unusual scenes of Eskimo life by Eskimo artists of Cape Desert on Baffin Island, Canada; "Carol Singers" by Ludwig Bemelmans; "The Journey" by Bedri Rahmi Eyuboglue of Turkey; a delicate and beautiful design, "The Star" by R. M. Raman Chughtai of Pakistan; Marc Chagall's "Glad Tidings"; Misch Kohn's "The Herald" and a copy of Pablo Picasso's tapestry in the lounge of United Nations headquarters, called "Haven."

All proceeds from the sale of these cards, like the proceeds from UNICEF Trick and Treat at Halloween, are used for food and medicine for sick and hungry children. The Fact About 'Silent Night' By Schimmerling

It was not just so that the names Franz Gruber, composer of Silent Night became generally known right after he had composed it in 1818. The story of how this song came into existence in the small Austrian town of Oberndorf is too well known to be retold in this column. The song might have been forgotten if the man who came from the Tyrol to repair the organ in the Oberndorf church wouldn't have taken with him a copy of the song. We know that the song was written to substitute something that couldn't have been done otherwise because of the damage done to the organ, ostensibly by a mouse—to which we, therefore, are indebted for this most celebrated among all Christmas Carols.

Torstein O. Kvamme in "The Christmas Carolers' Book" reports that the song was published in 1840 in Leipzig, Germany. Neither composer Gruber nor author Franz Mohr received any credit: their names were not mentioned. The song, because sung by some folksingers from the Tyrolean Ziller-Valley, was then a Tyrolean folksong, also when performed at about the same time for the king of Prussia by the Berlin Cathedral Choir; and this at a time when both, composer and author, were still alive. Why for sometime thereafter the song was attributed to Michael Haydn, brother of the famous Joseph Haydn, might be due to Michael Haydn's choral arrangement of the carol.

Now in Museum

The only authentic manuscript of the song in Gruber's handwriting is preserved in the museum of the little town Hallein in the Austrian province of Salzburg. This museum is actually the room where Gruber died in 1863. Peculiar enough that this only manuscript shows significant melodic and rhythmical differences from the version which we are used to hear and to sing. It might so be that the copy which the Tyrolean organ repair-man took with him was different, or that the folksingers or the Leipzig publisher made changes. One thing, however, is certain: the version we know does not agree with the Hallein Manuscript which is a setting for horn, strings, organ (bass) and four-part chorus. On that manuscript we read these words (in German, of course) in Gruber's handwriting: "Dear friend, here the promised Christmas song in score from . . . . good-bye and all good wishes to your wife and children, your friend Franz Gruber."

Years later, after the names of the composer and author had been rightfully connected with the song, publishers and editors continued to publish erroneous statements. Wrong spellings of both names are found even in recent reprints.

For example, G. Schirmer, one of this country's foremost music publishers, published still in 1932 (date of copyright renewal) a choral book, edited by Archer Gibson, "For Sunday-School, Choir and General Use," in which Gruber's song appears as "German Folksong" with words from the "Parish Hymnal." Neither author or composer is mentioned. —Father Finn's Carol Book (Birchard & Co., Boston 1917) mentions Gruber (not Mohr) but uses a wrong melody that neither agrees with the version we know nor with the Hallein Manuscript. It is peculiar that the same melodic "mistake" is found in "Christmas Carols and Hymns for Schools and Choirs" (American Book Co., N.Y. 1910). Here the editor Hollis Dann, Professor of Music at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., still attributes the composition to Michael Haydn.

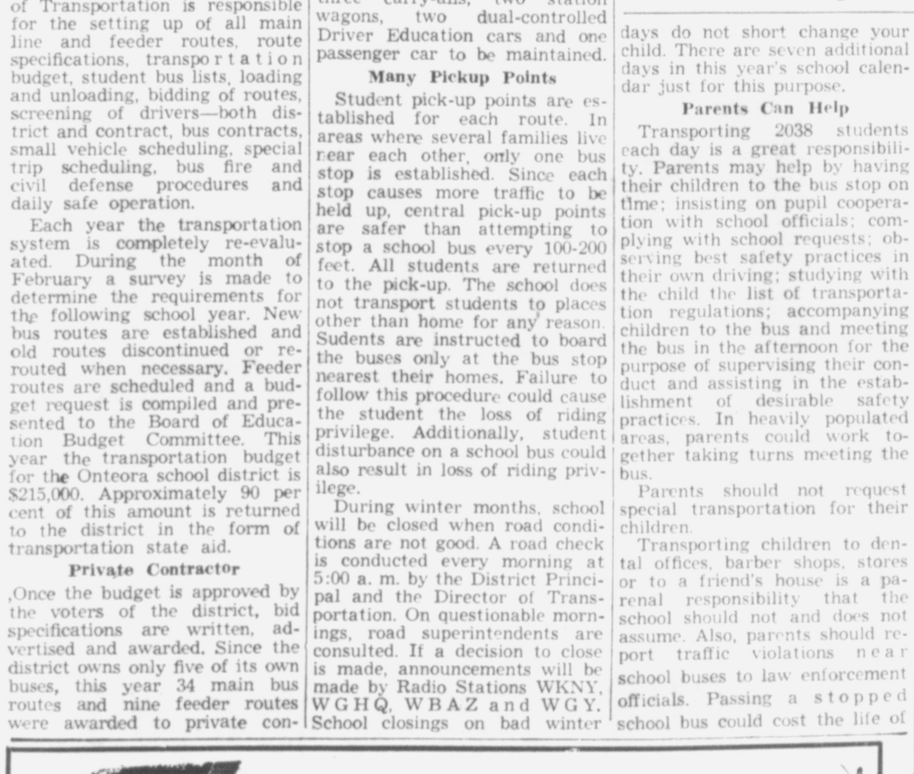

When looking at his photocopy of the manuscript, this writer cannot escape sentimental emotions which he also felt when visiting the chapel on the place where Silent Night was sung for the first time, or when looking at the beautiful memorial windows in the chapel that show Gruber with the guitar and Mohr with pen and paper, or when looking at the music scores with words in Chinese, Japanese, Ethiopian, Indonesian, Arabic and, of course, the more familiar "western" (better: Indo-European) languages, into which this most famous of all songs was translated.

Plum Pudding Pie Is Yule Novelty

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Let's surprise Santa with a different treat this year. Instead of leaving a dish of plum pudding for him by the chimney, how about a handsome plum pudding pie, instead?

Plum Pudding Pie

1 Unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon clove
¼ teaspoon allspice
1/3 cup margarine
1/3 cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup candied fruit
1½ cups ready-to-use mincemeat
½ cup chopped walnuts
3 eggs, separated

Mix flour, cinnamon, salt, clove and allspice together in mixing bowl. Cut in margarine until coarse crumbs form. Combine corn syrup and candied fruit, then stir into crumb mixture with mincemeat and nuts. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised, then beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Fold egg yolks, then beaten egg whites into flour-fruit mixture. Pour into unbaked shell. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven until center is firm, about 1 hour. Decorate and serve warm or cold with Hard Sauce and candied cherries or with Lemon Sauce. Makes 8 servings.

NOTE: Pie can be made ahead and reheated in 300 degrees F. (slow) oven 45-50 minutes.

Hard Sauce

6 tablespoons margarine
1 pound (4½ cups sifted) confectioners' sugar
1 egg
Dash salt
¼ cup rum or 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Cream margarine. Gradually add about 1½ cups sugar, beating until blended. Add egg; beat well. Gradually add remaining sugar and the salt; beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Fold in rum or lemon juice and grated rind. Chill for use in pastry bag. Makes about 2 cups.

Lemon Sauce

½ cup sugar
1½ tablespoon corn starch
¼ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespons lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel

Mix sugar, corn starch and salt in small saucepan. Gradually blend in water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat Add margarine, lemon juice and lemon peel. Serve hot on plum pudding pie. Makes about 1½ cups.

A man famous for his generosity and hearty laugh, Santa is known as well for his sweet tooth. In which case, either of these other two desserts would please him, also.

Plum Ice

1 (1-pound 14 oz. can) plums
½ cup water
¾ cup light corn syrup
⅔ cup sugar
1/3 cup lemon juice
2 egg whites

Empty plums and syrup into strainer placed over a bowl; press plums through strainer; set aside. Combine water, light corn syrup and sugar in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Boil 5 miuntes. Cool. Add lemon juice and puree. Turn into freezing tray or trays. Freeze with refrigerator control set for fast freezing, or in freezer, until mixture is almost firm. Before removing mixture from freezer, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Turn almost frozen mixture into chilled bowl. Cut apart and beat until smooth. Fold in beaten egg whites. Return to tray or trays and continue freezing until firm. Makes about 1 quart.

Eggnog Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
⅛ teaspoons salt
⅔ cup sugar
½ cup milk
1 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 9-inch baked pastry shell
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Holly leaves for garnish

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler Add salt and 1/3 cup sugar. Stir in milk. Cook over hot water until the mixture coats a metal spoon, stirring frequently. Blend in softened gelatin. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Beat in remaining 1/3-cup sugar; fold into mixture. Set aside to cool. Beat pure vanilla extract. Turn int a baked pastry shell. Just before serving whip remaining cream with 1 tablespoon sugar and place around edge of pie. Sprinkle center with ground nutmeg and arrange holly leaves in cream, for garnish.

YIELD: 6 servings.

If by the most unlikely chance, he delays his merry departure until after your Christmas dinner, you may be sure he will relish this festive menu.

Christmas Bell Salad

1 cup red cinnamon candies
1 cup light corn syrup
1½ cups water
6 large fresh pears
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
1/3 cup coarsely chopped pecans or walnuts
Crisp salad greens

Mix cinnamon candies, corn syrup and water in saucepan; constantly, until candy is dissolved. Boil 5 minutes. Meanwhile cut pears in half, peel and remove core. Place pears in syrup; bring to a quick boil, then lower heat and simmer until tender. Lift gently from syrup; drain thoroughly and chill. Mix cream cheese with spoon until softened and creamy, adding a few drops cream if necessary. Stir in nuts. Spread pear halves with cream cheese mixture and put together sandwich style. Arrange on bed of crisp salad greens. Serve with Creamy Salad Dressing. Makes 8 servings.

Propaganda From Press Interview

Gain for Both Sides Seen In JFK, Adzhubei Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's only one unknown remaining about President Kennedy's interview last month with a Soviet newsman.

What effect, if any, did it have on the Russian people or, rather, the Russian people who read it?

There's no doubt about the effect on the Soviet leadership, which would have been predictable anyway, since Kennedy pictured a peaceful America confronted with a trouble-making Russia.

The leadership, through its controlled press, ripped Kennedy's views apart. The interview was printed in full in Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper.

Not Much Impact

But Izvestia, in a country of 220 million people, has a circulation estimated at 4 to 5 million.

If the Kennedy interview made a good impression on some of them, the leadership has sought to offset it. Even if the impression on all who read it was excellent, there isn't much they can do or say.

Since Kennedy's views are not going to appear at much length very often when they are critical of Russia, this interview can hardly be considered of much impact in the long run.

Even if the final score shows no hit, no runs and no errors—if nothing was won and nothing lost—the interview was at least on both sides one more effort in their long-winded propaganda war.

Kennedy could consider it an achievement that his views—those he found time to express in the interview—were printed in full in the Soviet press.

Reflects on Red Press

At the same time the Russian government gave itself a chance to say its press isn't entirely closed to the outside. As a matter of fact Russia would have been in an embarrassing spot if it hadn't printed the whole interview.

Three times this year Premier Khrushchev got his views across in great length to people in this country by giving interviews to American newsmen who journeyed to Russia to see him.

This gave the lively Kennedy a good opening to look for the full treatment in return, in Russia, by giving a Soviet newsman an interview.

The interview was arranged at the request of the White House and Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, did the questioning. The result wasn't quite the same as American interviews with Khrushchev.

The Americans simply asked questions and let him do the talking.

Adzhubei also asked questions but he sandwiched them in between long speeches giving Soviet views on problems Kennedy discussed.

Thus, while Kennedy got into Izvestia in full, he didn't dominate the scene as Khrushchev did in his question-and-answer sessions. The President had to share space in Izvestia with Adzhubei.

Maybe one result will be to make Khrushchev a little less willing to give Americans interviews if he feels he'll be expected to have Soviet newsmen talk with Kennedy and then print the results in full.

Secondary School Group Selects Floral Park Man

Bulgaria to Vote

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Bulgaria will hold national elections for its Communist-dominated Parliament on Feb. 25, 1962, Radio Sofia announced Monday night. Only Communist "Fatherland Front" list will be presented to voters in the fourth election since the Communists took power.

Stay Is Granted In Greene Circus Performer's Case

Seven Greene County circus performers, arrested two years ago and indicted on a charge of illegally obtaining unemployment insurance benefits, were granted a stay of proceedings according to notices received Sunday by their attorneys.

The attorneys Charles Coffin of Catskill; Ernest Puglisi of Cairo, and Henry Werker of Greenville were notified that the Appellate Division in Albany had granted their motion for a stay, effective until the Appellate Court rules on their appeal of Justice Louis G. Bruhn's denial of access to records allegedly seized from five of the defendants, Alexander Hahnl, Ninon Hahnl, Ninon Marie Hahnl Jr. and Janos Kantor.

The other two defendants, Carl and Hedwig Salek, represented by Oreste Vincent of Catskill, did not participate in the proceedings.

Castro Losing Out

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, in a speech last weekend admitting he is a Communist, openly invited Colombia and Panama to sever relations. Colombia did Sunday.

Two Leading Educators Discuss Faults in System

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of America's leading educators see the values of contemporary higher education as "desperately corrupted." Both put some of the blame on college presidents.

Dr. A. Whitney Griswold, president of Yale University, said he believes that "we who hold the office (of president) spend so much time justifying what we're doing that we don't have time to do what we're justifying."

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former chancellor of the Universiy of presidents too often were "the go-getting corporate type, preferably on who is accomplished in public relaions."

Their performance, Hutchins continued, is judged "by the figures—by the amount of money that comes in, by the quantity of brick and mortar that is assembled, by the number of students that enroll, and in some places by the digits in the football scoreboard."

Griswold, expressing his views in a booklet, "the university," published by the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions, saw hope that the "service station concept of the university" might be on its way out.

He attributed some of the defects in current standards of education to the preparation of high school teachers saying that "it's at the secondary school level that these values are most desperately corrupted."

The corruption, he said, proceeds from a "program. . . .of teaching that really has the effect of repelling. . . .those who would be the most likely to influence their students to go into the teaching profession."

As a remedy, he suggested better pay and conditions for teachers; training programs for high school teachers who wish to advance for college or junior college teaching; recruiting many more college-educated women for parttime and fulltime teaching, greater mobility for teachers in the last two years of high school and the first two years of college and better "liberal education" for all teachers.

Christmas Concert At Vassar Is Set For This Sunday

A concert of Christmas music will be given by the Vassar College Choir and the Colgate University Glee Club in the Vassar Chapel on Sunday, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p. m. Area residents are invited to attend.

The Colgate Glee Club, directed by William Skelton, number 65 voices. The acting director of the 90-member Vassar Choir, Miss Margaret E. Cawley, will conduct the Poughkeepsie concert. The program was also given at Hamilton on December 9.

The program will include In Dulci Jubilo, written by Dietrich Buxtehude for a three-part chorus, two violins, and continuo, and Quatre Motets Pour le Terps de Noel by Francis Poulenc. "Sue des Airs de Noel" from Messe de Minuit by Marc-Antoine Charpenter will feature Linda McHenry and Joy Appel, sopranos, Patricia Kennedy, mezzo-soprano, Douglas Naismith, tenor, and Michael Simon, bass. Instrumentalists will join the organ accompaniment of Janet R. Kiehle for some of the works.

The audience will join the choir in singing the processional, O Come, O Come, Emmanuel, and the recessional, Adeste Fideles.

DECEMBER 26th

On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.
Their socks are too large;
Their ties are too bright;
Their slippers are wrong;
Their shirts aren't right.
They have too many pencils;
Their books they have read,
Or have two of a kind
And wish something instead.
Now if you are anxious
And eager to learn
How to give and be sure
Your gifts won't return
For what it is worth —
The suggestion is mine,

Tips on Letter Writing

In this frenzied era of constant telephonitis—the staccato yammer of the typewriter and the abbreviated spurt of the telegraph—the "old-fashioned" art of letter-writing has indeed become cherished. Grandma may still pen a wonderfully warm, cozy letter but chances are Mother, Dad and the youngsters not only don't bother, but have forgotten how.

These days, stereotypes in letters or the rushed postcard seem to be about all most of us can muster. But everyone likes to receive a thoughtful, newsy letter.

For homemakers who would like to recapture the old-fashioned virtues of letter writing with both competence and regard for proper etiquette, a new booklet has been written by Nancy Evans, Customer Service Director of The Paper Mate Company.

Entitled 'Better Letters," this booklet offers many helpful suggestions on keeping up with correspondence of all kinds. Along with tips on brightening letters, Miss Evans includes illustrated examples of socially correct replies to invitations, gifts, announcements and a gamut of both formal and informal social situations.

The letter expert points out that handwritten correspondence bears the stamp of personal interest and consideration. Friends, relatives and business associates get a special glow from a written note or letter — far more than from the impersonal typewritten letter.

"Better Letters" describes the meaning of handwriting as an important social grace and tells just what a letterwriter can do to make sure he is putting his best foot — and hand — forward. Suggestions on both the content and the style of composition are included, as well as actual samples of appropriate replies to a variety of social situations. Miss Evans particularly stresses ways and means of adding deft touches and graceful flair to handwritten correspondence.

The interplay of penmanship and self-expression is, of course, basic and Miss Evans encourages everyone to practice a form of penmanship that is neat, attractive and easy to read but still individual.

"Don't try to copy someone else's handwriting," she advises. "Concentrate on improving your own writing style. Don't copy others, but also don't make your writing mechanical and anonymous-looking," she advises. "Above all, remember your handwriting is you."

The new booklet also contains examples of the accepted formalities of responses to wedding, dinner and party invitations, along with illustrated thank-you notes, letters of condolence and other frequently used (and frequently confused) letter forms. Both the knowledge of how to use vivid non-stereotyped expression and how to follow proper etiquette are essential for the letter writer, Miss Evans feels. Her booklet encompasses both.

Free copies of "Better Letters" can be obtained by writing to Nancy Evans, 437 Merchandise Mart, Chicago 54, Illinois.

CALLING ON A NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE

Q: My son has been married for three months now and his bride has not as yet invited anyone to come to see her—including the members of both families. There is no important reason for this except that she claims it is not up to her to invite people to come to see her, but that relatives and friends should go to see her first without waiting to be invited. I've never gone to a new house without first being invited and I think her attitude ridiculous and unfriendly. I would very much appreciate hearing from you about this.

A: Your daughter-in-law is right, but obstinately insisting that her relatives and friends must call on her first is certainly not the way to start her married life. As for your own attitude, no matter what the custom in your community may be, it is absurd to feel you need an invitation to go to see your own son and his new bride.

In Keeping with the Spirit of Christmas

Q: I have been seeing quite a lot of one boy for the past year, although we are not engaged. I have been invited to supper at his house on Christmas day. I met his mother on two occasions and she was very gracious. Would it be in good taste for me to take her a Christmas present?

Clothes of Men in Wedding Party

Q: Will it be proper for the bridegroom, two ushers and best man to wear plain everyday dark blue suits at a morning wedding? The bride says "no" as she is wearing a bridal dress and veil. My son says that he is almost certain he read in your column that these clothes were entirely proper. Will you please settle this?

A: The answer depends upon the formality of the wedding. Unless the preparations are extremely elaborate, the blue suits would not be improper.

Hurley Parents Club

The second meeting of the Hurley Parents Club was held on Wednesday, Dec. 6, in the school auditorium. The guest speaker for the evening was Franklyn Hazard, assistant superintendent of schools. Mr. Hazard's topic covered the school budget and, with the aid of slides, gave a breakdown of the apportionment of the school tax dollar.

In response to the many questions asked about the teaching of reading, Mrs. Dennis, a first grade teacher at the Hurley School explained the use of phonics in the reading curriculum. Her talk was so well received by the parents that it is planned to have another phase of teaching explained at future meetings.

The next regular meeting of the Hurley Parents Club will be on the first Wednesday in March.

LUCILLE BAKER

The Lyric Choristers of Kingston will present Lucille Baker, lyric soprano, as guest artist at the annual Christmas concert Wednesday at the George Washington School Auditorium. Curtain time for the concert will be 8:15 p. m.

Miss Baker has had extensive solo experience, both as a recitalist, and in opera. She has sung with the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra, the Chautauqua Opera Association, and the Provincetown Light Opera Company, and has done radio and church work in New York City.

She is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity for women, and of Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music society. She is presently on the faculty of Ithaca College, Ithaca, as a teacher of voice.

The Lyric Choristers, under the direction of Edward T. Green, will present a program of Christmas music from the Waring Choral Series. Among the numbers to be presented is The Story of Christmas with a narration by the Rev. Robert Clementz of the Marbletown Reformed Church of Stone Ridge. The group will be accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Schwartz.

Party at Wassaic

On Tuesday, Dec. 5 the Kingston Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women gave a birthday party at the Wassaic State School Colony in Kingston. Mrs. William Kline, Mrs. Harvey Marcus, and Mrs. Stanley Plasker served as hostesses. Approximately 20 girls from the Colony were guests and were entertained by games and songs.

Refreshments were also served.

Rinschler in School Play

Watkinson School's students will present a one-act Christmas play called "Dust of the Road," in St. David's chapel on the school's campus, on Friday, Dec. 15, 8 p. m.

"Dust of the Road," by Kenneth S. Goodman, relates how a man and his wife are prevented from embezzling a younster's funds entrusted to them by the deceased parents.

On Christmas Eve, the man and wife are visited by two "tramps" symbolizing Judas and Christ. In allegorical terms, the struggle between good and evil ensues. Good wins out.

Roger Rinschler, an eleventh grade student from Kingston, assumes the lead role of Judas. Faculty advisors are: Homer H. Richards Jr., John C. Kaynor and Alfred J. Genegras III.

Pa. to Conduct Full Review of Price of Milk

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Milk Control Commission today planned a full-scale review of prices paid by dealers to producers for milk used in manufactured products.

The commission Monday set Dec. 18 for a hearing in Harrisburg to examine pricing orders in all areas of the state except western Pennsylvania and Pottsville, where earlier hearings explored the question.

The review will be limited to Class II, III and IV prices. It will not go into Class I (drinking) use prices.

Though most of the milk produced in Pennsylvania is of Class I grade, the price actually paid to producers—as regulated by the commission—depends on its ultimate use.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —Interest rates are moving higher again.

Part of this is due to official money management policies. Part is due to a change in the economic atmosphere — specifically, the growing feeling among businessmen and consumers that times are getting better, and maybe much better. And part is due to a fierce competition for funds within banking and other financial institutions.

Anticipate Slow Rise

Many expect the rise to be slow and modest. But some think a business boom could see a faster rise on short order.

The increase in interest rates will benefit some savers. It will prove costlier for some borrowers, but probably not enough to discourage many of them. It will both please and worry the Kennedy administration.

That is because the money managers, on the one hand, want interest rates, especially on short-term securities, higher so that investors won't be taking their money out of the United States to get better return abroad. This could weaken the dollar and step up the outflow of gold again.

Interest Rates Higher

But if long-term interest rates also rise, as they seem likely to now, the administration might worry because it wants these costs low enough to encourage business to expand, new homes to rise, and consumers to buy big ticket items. This would stimulate economic growth, a prime administration aim.

So far, the administration has had good luck in both its aims. The Federal Reserve Board has cooperated by keeping short-term rates high. There is some talk in Wall Street now that it may again raise its discount rate—what it charges for money it lends member banks. All of this helps keep short-term funds here, or at least hold down their flow abroad.

Good Supply of Money

Long-term rates have risen a little in the mortgage field, but mostly have held fairly steady. This is largely because the banks and other lending institutions had a good supply of money to lend, and the demand for long-term loans hasn't risen much.

Loan Charges Studied

Now the trend on interest rates is toward the higher road. Commercial banks are being allowed to raise their interest payments on some savings accounts as high as 4 per cent. Savings & loan associations which have been paying as high as 4½ per cent on the West Coast are debating whether to aise their payments to investors, to lure in more funds, and if so, whether to raise charges on mortgage loans to pay for the increase.

Consumers are reported planning to spend more, and already have been buying more big ticket items on time. This can help dry up any excess funds lying around looking for borrowers.

Expansion Plans Gain

But the big jump, if it comes, would be in business borrowing. This hasn't developed yet. Industrial capacity is still in excess of customer demand. The question is: How long will it be?

Some note that total business expansion plans are already rising, pointing to more borrowing in the next few months.

Others stress a growing confidence among businessmen of the type which in the past has often led to stepped-up expansion.

If all this occurs, the demand for money might put a strain on the administration hopes for holding down long-term rates.

Charge Father Drove Car That Struck Son

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—The automobile that struck 16-year-old Albert Johnson was driven by his father, sheriff's deputies said Monday. They charged the father, Charles A. Johnson, 35, with leaving the scene of an accident.

Deputies said the boy was struck Sunday near his home on the Rome-Oriskany Road while returning from a grocery store.

After the accident, police said, the father continued home, where he was notified his son had been struck by a car.

The father pleaded innocent to the charge Monday in city court. Judge Abraham H. Baker released him in $100 bail.

Church construction in the U. S. reached $1 billion in 1960, an increase of 10 per cent over the preceding year.

Students to Plan Tuition-Protest March on Albany

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — A group of students at the state university college here has called a meeting next month to plan a possible tuition-protest march on Albany.

The group said representatives from the other 10 state teacher-training institutions had been invited to the meeting Jan. 6.

Stephen Tibbits of Oneida, a sophomore, said the protest was against the possibility of tuition at state colleges.

The trustees of the State University are deciding a uniform tuition policy for state institutions of higher education. They were empowered by the 1961 Legislature to impose tuition.

Tibbits said well over half of the 250 students who attended a protest meeting last night at Cortland indicated by a show of hands that they would have to drop out of college if tuition were imposed.

TOOTHSOME gift for most anyone on your yuletide list is a box of these taste-tantalizing chocolate-walnut cookies.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's an American version of a Viennese cakelette, made with a crumb topping and bottom layer. Half the cookies are chocolate flavored, half butterscotch, although both are baked in the same pan.

Twin "Bake-in-Bulk" Cookies
(Chocolate-Butterscotch)
(Yield: Approximately 6 dozen cookie squares)

Crumb Layers

1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter or margarine, melted

Combine bread crumbs, sugar and cinnamon. Add butter, mix well. Use one-half crumb mixture to line bottom of 2 greased 8x8x2-inch pans or a 9x13x2-inch pan.

Chocolate-Butterscotch Batter

1 cup butter or margarine
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon almond extract
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1—6-ounce package (1 cup) semisweet chocolate morsels
1 cup walnuts, divided
1—6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels

Cream together butter and sugar. Beat in eggs, one at a time, add almond extract, beating until very light and fluffy. Sift in flour and salt; stir until blended. Divide mixture in half. To one-half of mixture add semisweet chocolate morsels and ½ cup walnut halves. To other half, add butterscotch morsels and remaining walnuts.

Spoon chocolate mixture over crumbs in one baking pan, spreading gently to cover. Spoon butterscotch mixture over crumbs in other pan and spread gently. (If one pan is used, spread chocolate mixture over one-half of crumbs and butterscotch over other half.) Sprinkle tops with remaining crumb mixture, pressing in lightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Cool. Cut in 1¼-inch squares.

Health Problems Seen as Result Of Pupil Pressure

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Pressures on junior high school pupils stemming from demands for admission to college, honor courses and higher academic achievement could result in health problems and frustration with school work, an educator says.

Dr. William T. Gruhn of the University of Connecticut said the pupils were faced with pressures "that approach the point where they are excessive for 12 to 15-year-olds."

"These pressures used to exist primarily in the senior high school but now have extended downward into the junior high school," he said.

Dr. Seelig Lester, assistant superintendent of schools in New York City, urged strong measures to reduce the number of children leaving school before graduation

He said failure in one or more subjects was a prime factor for drop-outs. Young people should be encouraged to improve ther grades by attending summer school, he said.

The three-day convention, attended by more than 800 principals, ended today.

Kingston High Hosts Wappingers Falls Cagers Tonight

Visitors Seeking Initial Victory, Have Good Height

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Fresh from a narrow victory over Liberty Central, Kingston High cagers are scheduled to entertain a tough Wappingers Falls quintet tonight at the Kate Walton Field House. The Fallsmen are coming in with an 0-2 record but have lots of height and will be a tough foe.

Tonight's card is a slim one. Port Jervis is at Liberty and Poughkeepsie debuts at Monticello in DUSO action. In non-league tilts, Rhinebeck plays at Cardinal Farley, Lourdes at Arlington and Newburgh at Beacon.

Wappingers is a new foe for Kingston. The Indians from Dutchess County play in the DCSL and are always near the top of the circuit, though not having won a title in several seasons. The team is coached by Dave Beverly, a good tactician. This year the club has bowed, 59-48, to Newburgh and, 67-56, to Beacon.

Big Center

Ole Peterson, a 6-5 center, is the best player for the visitors. He's had 33 points in two games. Jeff Wood, a 6-2 forward, is the other big scoring threat. Those two are the tallest players on the club and they pose a serious threat on the backboards.

In both the Newburgh and Beacon losses, the only thing the Fallsmen weren't able to handle was an all-court press. They were in contention in both contests until the press. If the team is able to solve that weakness, it figures to cause trouble in the DCSL.

Kingston was not impressive in beating Liberty, 51-47, but that's understandable. Most of the players were on the football squad and they haven't shaken off their gridiron legs as yet. Though stripped of three veteran performers of last season, the Maroon squad figures to get better as the season progresses and is expected to challenge Newburgh for the league title.

Mike Ferraro, who had 17 points against Liberty, did not play one of his better games. He threw the ball away several times and took some bad shots. Coach John Gilligan is counting on Mike, an All-DUSO selection last season, to lead the others.

After tonight's battle, the locals have two league tussles. They play at Port Jervis on Friday and are host to Poughkeepsie next Tuesday.

Lohmaier Wins Carroll's Pool

Joe Lohmaier of Kingston has been named winner of the deer pool conducted by Carroll's Bait Box on Route 28 in West Hurley.

Lohmaier's entry—an 8-point, 148 pounder—was the smallest deer ever to win this pool. More than 280 entries were registered, the highest total for any contest in the area.

HOT POTATO—Tom Meschery looks for a teammate to pass off to as the Warrior is harrassed by Clyde Lovellette of the St. Louis Hawks in Philadelphia engagement.

St. Mary's Rally Wins CYO Game

St. Mary's I squad staged a strong second half rally to defeat St. Augustine's 49-44 in a CYO Junior basketball game at the George Washington school gym.

Tony Spada, who led the winners with 15 points and Lonnie McAndrew (14) sparked the late drive. St. Augustine was in front 15-9 at the quarter and 22-19 at halftime.

Naccaro and Rozzi of St. Augustine tied for scoring honors with 16 points each.

Pick Big Red

Wilt Hits 47.8 Clip

NEW YORK (AP)—It hardly seems possible, but there is a chance that Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia Warriors is just beginning to find the scoring range in the National Basketball Association.

In his third NBA season and with a long list of records already to his credit, the 7-foot-1 scoring machine set another one last Friday night with a 78-point performance in the midst of his best week as a pro. In five games he totaled 272 points and in three starts over a 48-hour period this past weekend he cashed in 194.

The big burst, of course, was the 78 against Los Angeles in a triple overtime match which the Warriors lost 151-147. Wilt's records in that one were most points, most field goals made and attemped—31-for-62, and most free throw attempts—31.

Chamberlain followed up with 61 points as the Warriors beat Chicago 135-113 Saturday and 55 in a 118-109 victory over Chicago Sunday. NBA statistics show he has 1,242 points in 26 games for a 47.8 average—10 points above his record lifetime average.

Davis' Sleepless Nights Worry Schwartzwalder

Davis, an All-America halfback and scoring leader of the Syracuse team, has missed several practices in order to receive his various postseason honors.

"They call him at all hours of the day or night," Schwartzwalder said. The calls presumably include professional football offers, since Davis was a first-round draft choice by both pro leagues.

"I hope they let him alone in Philadelphia before the game," the coach said.

Davis will be Schwartzwalder's main weapon Saturday against the passing of Miami's George Mira and the Hurricane's rugged interior line.

Syracuse also has an aerial attack of its own, featuring the tosses of Dave Sarette to John Mackey, Walt Sweeney and Davis.

Miami is a "well-coached ball club and as tough as any we've met this year," Schwartzwalder said.

Both teams have 7-3 records. Miami lost three games while Mira, a sensational sophomore quarterback, was injured. Syracuse lost to Penn State, Maryland and Notre Dame, the latter in the controversial field-goal game.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Many moons have come and gone over the Saltine City since Tommy Maines' flying cleats rambled over the turf of Archbold Stadium. But the former Kingston High School athletic star still retains a secure niche in the Syracuse University football Hall of Fame.

Maines, a 4-letter star under Coach G. Warren Kias in the pre-war period at Kingston High, did not make the All-America at Syracuse, but was always regarded as one of the finest runners in Orange history.

The late George Trevor of the now defunct New York Sun, then dean of Eastern intercollegiate football writers, wrote that Maines had it in him to become the greatest football player in Syracuse history. Injuries and other complications curtailed Maines' career and he never had a chance to play out his full potential.

At Kingston High, the big, blond was one of Coach Kias' more gifted performers. He could make the long run in football, hit the long ball in baseball and was more than adequate in basketball and track. Any poll to list the No. 1 all-time athlete at Kingston High would have to include Maines.

The Maines legend is revived in conjunction with a brochure Syracuse has just issued on the upcoming Liberty Bowl game with Miami next Saturday in Philadelphia.

• Davis Could Be:

Ernie Davis is the newest of the Syracuse All-Americans and there are some who rate the Elmira blockbuster No. 1 in the all-time Orange ratings. Davis, first member of his race to win the coveted Heisman Award, has just completed wrecking all the Syracuse records hung up by the fabulous Jimmy Brown. But preceding Davis among the Syracuse's All-Americans are such legendary stars as Bob Fleck, Ron Luciano, Jim Steen, Fred Mautino, Bob Yates, Rog Davis, Vic Hanson, Joe Alexander, Lou Usher, Ty Cobb (not the baseball immortal), Chris Schlachter, and Bill Horr.

Maines is bracketed in distinguished company among Syracuse gridders who were all-America nominees and some of whom earned a large measure of sports page fame in other capacity. How many of this group do you remember? Harry Kallet, Babe White, Chick Meehan, Joe Schwarzer, Harry Robertson, Willard Ackley, Bert Gulick, Dutch Heers, Pete McRae, Lynn Waldorf, Ribs Baysinger, Jack McBride, Roy Simmons, Mort Starobin, Chet Bowman, Gotch Carr, Ray Barbuti Jonah Goldman, Ed Jontos, Marty Glickman, Wil Sidat-Singh, Bunky Morris, Bernie Custis, Pat Stark, Carl Karilivacz, Jim Ringo, Ray Perkins, Jim Ridlon, Dick Lasse, Chuck Zimmerman, Tom Stephens, Art Baker and Al Bemiller.

Syracuse has just completed its 73rd football season, having started the sport in 1889. The Orange has won 386, lost 229 and tied 42. Top teams have been produced by Frank O'Neill (a member of the Coaches' Hall of Fame); John (Chick) Meehan, Lew Andreas, Vic Hanson, Ossie Solem and Ben Schwartzwalder, the current maestro. Schwartzwalder is the most successful football coach in Syracuse history. To date, in 13 years, his teams won 80, lost 39 and tied 2. He has more wins than any other coach (O'Neill had 52) and has been on the job longer than any other man (O'Neill coached 8 years, Ben has been at Syracuse 13). Syracuse became a nationally recognized football powerful under an enlightened recruiting policy and the superb coaching of Schwartzwalder. The Liberty Bowl is the fifth bowl trip for Syracuse under Schwartzwalder. The Orange have made two trips each to the Orange and Cotton Bowl. Ben came to Syracuse from Muhlenberg where in three years his teams compiled a 25-5 record that included a 26-25 win over St. Bonaventure in the Tobacco Bowl. Schwartzwalder came to Syracuse in 1949 and his 17-year college coaching record of 105 wins, 44 losses and 2 ties ranks with the nation's best. His 1959 team won the National Championship and Ben was named Coach of the Year. Schwartzwalder is an advocate of the straight T, with unbalanced line left or right end flankers. A power football advocate, he adds a few new wrinkles to his system each year. This year he added a slot-T sequence.

Syracuse gives its highly publicized "defeat" by Notre Dame the tongue-in-cheek treatment, describing it as an "overtime" game. The thumbnail treatment of the controversy winds up "An error in rules interpretation gave ND an extra play at the conclusion of the game." Anybody want to take it from here?

Howard Defeats Bahl, 125 to 95

Tom Howard turned back Alex Bahl, 125 to 95, in the city pocket billiard tournament last night at the Uptown Billiard Parlor. Howard had a high run of 20, with 14 for Bahl.

52 Points For Baylor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With all of this talk about the scoring feats of Wilt Chamberlain, don't forget about Elgin Baylor.

Monday night, he scored 52 points as his Los Angeles Lakers bombed St. Louis 132-119 in a National Basketball Association Western Division game. In the past six games, he's scored exactly 300 points for a 50-points per game average.

Baylor has sparked his team to a seven-game winning streak, a 22-7 record and a 5½-game edge in the Western Division.

Cincinnati, in second place in the West, didn't lose any ground Monday night as Oscar Robertson scored 32 points, had 20 assists and 15 rebounds in leading the Royals to a 133-117 victory over the Chicago Packers.

There was no other NBA action.

Bribe Offered Utah State Ace

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—"There was a knock on my hotel room door around midnight. I opened it and a guy came in and pulled out his billfold. I saw $1,000 on top of a wad. It was the most money I ever saw in my life. He said to sign and it was mine. I didn't."

Clyde Brock of Utah State, a 6-foot-6-inch, 280-pound tackle, says this bit of intrigue happened to him last Friday night in New York.

This is what Ray did, according to Brock, a B major in criminology at Utah State.

"He came in and opened his wallet. I saw a wad, and I think a $1,000 bill was on top. He said: 'Sign with the Oilers and all this is yours.' I told him to get out. I wanted to play in the National Football League. He left. There was no pressure. No contract. Just money. Never saw so much. He did tell me there might be legal steps if I didn't sign. But the NFL had said the same thing."

Brock, in a news conference called by the Bears, said he signed a contract at an undisclosed sum with George Halas' of the NFL club Monday.

Third ERA Title For Old Spahnie

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Spahn of Milwaukee won the National League earned run championship, had the most complete games and was the co-leader in victories and shutouts, the official 1961 pitching records disclosed today.

It is the third ERA title for the peerless Braves' left-hander, who yielded 88 earned runs in 263 innings for a 3.01 average. He also finished on top in 1947 and 1953. With 21 complete games, it was also the seventh time he led in that department.

Spahn won 21 games, including four shutouts. These totals were matched by Joey Jay, ace right-hander of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds. Spahn lost 13 games and Jay 10.

Spahn also extended two records, the major league mark of "most times, winning 20 or more games, left-handed pitcher" and the National League standard of most shutouts by a southpaw. He now has 12 twenty-game winning seasons and 55 shutouts. While boosting his lifetime record to 309 victories against 195 defeats, the Braves' star had the only no-hitter in the NL. He victimzed San Francisco April 28.

Conerly's Comeback Poses Problem for Allie Sherman

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Who will start at quarterback for the New York Giants Sunday in the all-important game with Cleveland—Y. A. Tittle or Charlie Conerly?

Allie Sherman, the Giants' rookie coach, is dodging the question again. He showed fancy footwork on the subject earlier in the season before Tittle established himself as the No. 1 man.

Now Tittle's position is in doubt. Conerly rescued a lost cause Sunday in Philadelphia when the Eagles' jitterbug defense upset Tittle. Charlie, 40-year-old veteran of 14 National Football League seasons, threw three touchdown passes and the Giants won 28-24.

"I don't think I did any different than Tittle so far as play-calling or passing," Conerly said after the game. "We just weren't moving. Sometimes you change your quarterback and things start moving."

Old Story to Him

Conerly knows all about such changes. He has been on the other end more often than not. It was Conerly who started the season as No. 1 with Tittle still nursing injuries. Not until the fourth game of the year, at St. Louis Oct. 8, did Tittle make his first start. Tittle had pulled out the game the week before in Washington.

When Tittle was in trouble against the Los Angeles Rams, it was Conerly's turn to take over late in the third quarter. Two long TD passes to Kyle Rote and Del Shofner saved the day.

Neither Conerly, who started, nor Tittle, who played the second half, was too effective in a losing effort against Dallas, Oct. 29. Tittle took over the next week against Washington and played all or most of every game until Green Bay. Sherman called for Conerly when Tittle faltered against the Packers.

Triandos Wants To Be Traded

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gus Triandos, slugging catcher of the Baltimore Orioles, said today he wished to be traded to another club before the start of another baseball season.

The 31-year-old catcher, an American League All-Star selection in 1958 and 1959, said his desire to be dealt off had nothing to do with the Baltimore club, or anyone personally.

"It's just that I feel that a change would be best for all concerned," he said in an interview with sports writer Jim Elliott of the Baltimore Sun.

"I've asked Lee Macphail (Oriole president) to trade me," Elliot quoted Triandos in today's editions. "If I'm not traded by the interleague deadline (midnight Friday), I would have to say that I'll be greatly disappointed."

Jim Owens Signs Five-Year Pact

SEATTLE (AP) — Jim Owens, the man who steered the 1959 and 1960 versions of the Washington Huskies to Rose Bowl victories, has accepted an offer of his job for five more years.

"I am most happy to accept the extended term," he said after the official word came out Monday. "I am not considering offers from any other institutions, and I am delighted to be able to represent the University of Washington at the Athletic Association of Western Universities meeting in San Francisco this week."

The salary wasn't disclosed. Owens has received $20,000 a year since he became athletic director as well as head football coach.

Is Liberty Bowl On the Decline?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Promoter Bud Dudley today reported an advance sale of about 16,000 tickets for Saturday's third annual Liberty Bowl football game in Philadelphia Stadium matching Syracuse against Miami.

At the same time Dudley kept a keen eye posted on weather reports, hoping for favorable forecats which would boost late ticket sales.

Dudley told the Touchdown Club Monday.

"We had 33,000 for the first Liberty Bowl game two years ago. 'Last year snow kept it down to about 17,000. This year, if good weather prevails, there should be a good crowd.

"This game has all the ingredients for making a great afternoon with such top college stars as Syracuse's Ernie Davis, the No. 1 college player of the year, and Bill Miller, the All-America end from Miami, who is star receiver for a great passer, George Mira."

In Miami, the University of Miami may get some contact work today when it reports for its last hard workout before the Liberty Bowl game.

The squad had a long scrimmage Monday and came out of the tussle without injury. The Hurricanes were reported fairly sharp in their first contact work since the Florida game Dec. 2.

Coach Andy Gustafson said he may have some further work on defense but the offense appears to be moving well.

Bowlers Moving Around a Lot

HOUSTON (AP) —At least seven of the Bluebonnet Bowl football players from Kansas and Rice start a busy holiday season Saturday.

They will be in the first of six postseason games that take them in as many different directions.

The business at hand, Saturday's game, is the third in the bowl's history. It will be nationally televised (CBS) starting at 1 p.m. (CST).

Roland Jackson, Rice's All Southwest Conference fullback, will be the busiest player on either team. He closes his Rice career in his home stadium in the Bluebonnet.

Jackson has three other postseason dates — the North-South Shrine game in Miami, Fla., Christmas night, the Blue-Gray All Star game in Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 30 and the Senior Bowl in Mobile Jan. 6.

Johnny Burrell, a Rice end, has three extra dates this year—the Saturday game, the North-South game and the Hula Bowl Jan. 7.

Rice tackle George Karam plays in the Shrine game. Halfback Butch Blume, the leading scorer in the Southwest Conference, plays in the Blue-Gray game, as does Larry Anthony, a guard.

John Hadl, Kansas' triple threat quarterback whose running is supposed to be better than his passing, will show the pros his stuff in the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco.

Curtis McClinton, Kansas' right halfback and Hadl's rival for the spotlight, will also play in San Francisco.

Iowa State Back Is Top Gainer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

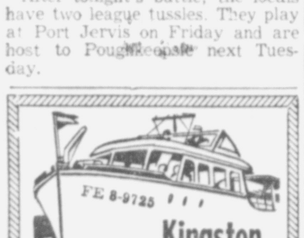

Dave (Hoppy) Hoppmann of Iowa State moved the football almost a mile—1,638 yards—to win individual offense honors among major college players during the past season.

The National Collegiate Service Bureau released final figures Tuesday showing that the versatile Iowa State back gained 920 yards rushing and 718 by passing.

Hoppmann played in only nine of the 10 games of a team which ranked 67th in the country on offense.

Hoppmann finished with more than a 100-yard edge over his closest challenger, Pat McCarthy of Holy Cross, who rolled up 1,509 yards.

Maritime Academy Checks Dillman and Hawks, 58-48

New Paltz Star Gets 7 Points

Maritime Academy's specially devised defense — a combination zone and man to man affair—stopped Bob Dillman cold, as the Academy turned back State University College of New Paltz, 58 to 48, Monday night on the Fort Schuyler board.

Dillman, the Hawks' top point producer, was limited to seven points, one of his lowest scoring totals in several games.

Despite the job done on Dillman, Coach Sheppard's cagers had ample opportunity to make up for the deficit. But while Dillman was fighting off the defense, the other New Paltz cagers simply couldn't find the range. Mike Hazelton, the Copiague sophomore, emerged as the Hawks' high scorer with 13 points. Eddie Szymanski, West Babylon junior, added 10.

Rolling to its first win in four games, Maritime ground out a 28-23 lead in the first half. Ryznai, the center, led the winners with 16 points. Three other players hit in double figures all with ten points.

Having let the Academy slip through their fingers, the New Paltz squad is faced with sterner stuff Saturday night when the crack Potsdam Teachers come to town.

The score:

State University (48)

Harvard Wins Over St. Lawrence Pucksters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Jim Dwinell and sophomore Gene Kinasewich each scored for Harvard and goalie Bob Bland held off St. Lawrence as Harvard scored a 2-0 hockey victory Monday night.

The victory snapped St. Lawrence's three-game winning streak and left the Larries with a 6-3 record. Harvard is 3-1, its only loss being to Clarkson.

Buffalo Council Wants Davis, Too

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Buffalo's City Council has passed a resolution urging Syracuse University football All-America Ernie Davis to sign with the Buffalo Bills.

Davis, halfback, was the first round draft choice of the American Football League Bills. The council said after passing the resolution Monday that a copy would be forwarded to Davis.

Meanwhile, Bills' general manager Dick Gallagher said he talked Monday night with Anthony De Filipo, an Elmira attorney and Davis' adviser.

"No negotiations will be held until a much later date," Gallagher said. We just anted to know a little about Davis' intentions."

The Washington Redskins of the rival National Football League also drafted Davis.

Dale Hall Aides Refuses to Sign

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Three aides of former Army football coach Dale Hall refused to sign contracts for next season, but three more of Hall's assistants decided to stay at the Military Academy.

Drake Nipped in Thriller

Technicals Against Coach Almost Ruin Bearcat Streak

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

An exuberant coach whose sideline enthusiasm has helped fire his team to the nation's longest college basketball winning streak almost brought the string to an end Monday night by his sideline fervor.

Cincinnati's Ed Jucker cost his Bearcats two points and they almost made the difference. It took a brilliant display of defense and shooting in the closing minutes to bring the Bearcats a 60-59 triumph over Drake for their 26th straight victory.

Cincinnati, currently ranked second nationally and the defending NCAA champion, was behind 28-27 at the half and the one-point deficit stemmed from a technical foul called on Jucker for an overenthusiastic protest of an official's decision. Dave Reed had cashed it in.

Drake swept ahead by ten, 52-42, with five minutes left. Cincinnati cut the margin with a basket, then another technical was called on Jucker. Again Drake converted, this one by Billy Hahn with 4:08 left.

The fiery, quick-handed Bearcats then staged their whirlwind finish, outscoring the Bulldogs 16-6 down the stretch. Larry Shingleton made two interceptions. Tony Yates and Paul Hogue made one apiece. All four steals resulted in baskets. Hogue dumped in another shot with 41 seconds remaining for a 58-57 lead, and clinched it with two free throws at the 11-second mark. The 6-foot-9 pivotman ended up high point man with 27.

Drake Coach Maurice John also was called on a technical, but Ron Bonham missed on the foul try for the Bearcats.

Purdue Is Upset

Sixth-ranked Purdue was upended by Wichita 71-68. Seventh-ranked Duke smothered Clemson 89-66 in an Atlantic Coast Conference rout.

Two outside gunners, 5-10 Ernie Moore and 5-11 Lenny Vaneman, did the job against Purdue by clicking on 10 of 15 shots from the field. All-America Terry Dischinger totaled 36 points for the losing Boilermaker.

Duke's Blue Devils won their fourth in a row, pulling away from Clemson early and building up a 15-point lead by halftime. Art Heyman was high for Duke with 26 points.

Tom Bolyard's scoring spurt in the closing minutes carried Indiana over North Carolina 76-70. Ernie Wilholt broke the final tie in the close game with a pair of free throws for the Hoosiers. Bolyard put it away with a layup, two foul shots and a 2-pointer at the final buzzer.

Kentucky got a 30-point performance out of sophomore star Cotton Nash in an 86-77 decision over St. Louis. Hubie White collected 20 of his 29 points in the second half, leading Villanova to its fifth victory in a row, 74-53 over Iowa State.

Arizona State university clouted Kansas' fading Jayhawks 72-58. Larry Armstrong, a 5-9 backcourt man, scored 20 points for the Sun Devils, who won their fourth straight and handed Kansas its fourth straight loss. Dave Debusschere pumped in 35 points as Detroit beat Xavier (Ohio) 88-73.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

NOTICE OF SALE
STATE OF NEW YORK COUNTY COURT : ULSTER COUNTY.

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF KINGSTON, (formerly HOME-SEEKERS' SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF KINGSTON, N. Y.),
Plaintiff
— against —
CARMEN FINELLI and EVA MAE FINELLI, his wife.
Defendants.

IN PURSUANCE of a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale duly granted in the above entitled action and entered in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 22nd day of November, 1961, I, CHARLES KAISER, the undersigned, Referee in said Judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front door of the Court house at 285 Wall Street, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster, New York, on the 20th day of December, 1961, at 11:30 o'clock in the forenoon, the premises described in said Judgment as follows, viz:—

ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being in the said City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, on the Faux Hall Road (now Foxhall Avenue) and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

COMMENCING at a point on the easterly side of said road, northerly eighty six feet from the northerly corner of the White lot; on the said road, and runs from thence easterly one hundred and twenty (120) feet parallel with the northerly line of the lot formerly held and owned by William White; thence northerly forty feet parallel with the said Faux Hall Road (now Foxhall Avenue); thence westerly and parallel with the first mentioned line one hundred and twenty feet to the said road; thence southerly along said road to the place of beginning; being forty feet in front on the said Faux Hall Road (now Foxhall Avenue) and holding that width extends back one hundred and twenty feet.

Being the same premises conveyed by Robert G. Beesmer and Gertrude M. Beesmer, his wife, to Carmen Finelli and Eva Mae Finelli, his wife, by deed dated March 20, 1959 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office simultaneously with this mortgage which is given to secure a part of the purchase price.

Dated at the City of Kingston, New York, this 22nd day of November, 1961.

Weather Delays Camp Drum Jump

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (AP)—A mass jump by 1,260 paratroopers, participating in Exercise Trail Break, was postponed today because of freezing rain at this Northern New York training camp.

The drop was rescheduled for Wednesday morning.

If weather prevents the jump Wednesday, the Army will truck the men to a zone marked for a mock battle. The invaders, from the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N.C., will meet 350 men from Fort Devens, Mass.

The Weather Bureau forecast rain, changing to snow before daybreak Wednesday. A snow cover on the almost barren ground would be helpful for the jump.

Workers Favor Loss of Jobs to Cut in Salary

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Told they would have to take a pay cut or lose their jobs, workers at the Geneva Forge Division of Ekco products have decided they would rather lose their jobs.

About 90 percent of the 250 workers at the forge yesterday reportedly voted against the pay cut, although the company had told them the plant would have to be closed unless they accepted it.

Two weeks ago, 500 American Can Co., workers here, faced with the same choice, accepted a 25-cent hourly cut in pay.

Workers of both plants belong to the International Association of Machinists.

Ekco announced three weeks ago it would close the forge next Feb. 18 when the union contract expires, to join a consolidation program at Canton, Ohio.

Mayor Harold M. Simpson asked the company to reconsider and was told the plant would remain open if the workers would take a scaled-down contract. Existing wage scales and the size of proposed cut were not made public.

Dames to Collect Clothing

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—In the teeth of a bitter cold wave, the University of Oklahoma Dames Club announced plans Monday to collect clothing for 286 foreign students from warm climates.

It's needed here. A cold wave hit Sunday coating the campus with ice and snow and tumbling temperatures far below freezing.

Heavy Snow for Some

Frigid Air Covers Western Mountains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blanket of bitter cold weather lunged out of Canada and sent temperatures below zero today in the western mountain country.

The thermometer registered -31 at Havre, Mont., at 1 a.m.

Temperatures ranged in the teens from Oklahoma northeastward through northern Missouri, Iowa and into the upper Great Lakes area. South of this line, the readings moderated with rain, sleet and snow. In the Gulf states, readings were in the 70s.

10 Inches for Iowa

Heavy snow warnings were issued for Wisconsin, northern Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota and northwestern Illinois, with up to 10 inches predicted for Iowa.

Rain mixed with snow glazed thoroughfares throughout northern Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. Rain also fell from central Texas northeastward through the lower Mississippi Valley into Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

The unruly weather started out of Canada early Monday. Snow fell all day long over portions of Kansas and Missouri, depositing up to 10 inches in north central Kansas and from 3 to 8 inches in the western portion of the state.

At Des Moines and Waterloo, Iowa, 6 inches of snow had accumulated by nightfall, and 7 inches were recorded on the ground at Omaha, Neb.

Three Tornadoes

Three tornadoes were reported Monday in Alabama and Louisiana. A small twister struck the community of Deridder, La., causing some damage to property. Similar twisters struck Jacksonville and Marion, Ala., with total damage of around $100,000.

Showers hit most of the South Monday. Heavy rains fell over Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Police Seek Man In Stabbing Case

Poughkeepsie police are seeking to learn the whereabouts of a man wanted for questioning in the recent stabbing of LeRoy Derello, 52, bartender, of 50 South Water Street, who was reported in satisfactory condition at Vassar Hospital.

Bingo Probe Is In Second Day

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) —The state began a second day of public hearings on bingo here today, after logging more testimony on money-making operations in bingo-hall rentals.

A former caterer now serving a 15 to 24 month sentence in Attica State Prison for passing a worthless check testified Monday that he leased part of a local fraternal lodge in 1958 and sublet it for bingo games.

Hans W. Steuerwald said the building owner got $10,000 a year rent for the leased section, plus half of the $175 a night Steuerwald received from the bingo operators.

Testimony in New York City's bingo hearings last week dwelt on profits in bingo-hall rentals.

Special bingo commissioner Thomas B. Gilchrist will complete testimony here today and move the hearings to Syracuse and Utica next week. He was appointed by Gov. Rockefeller to rid the game of non-charitable and professional gambling interests.

Two Vehicles Damaged

Two vehicles were damaged but the occupants escaped injury shortly before 9 a. m. Monday when the cars collided on Route 9W opposite Broglio's Restaurant. Highland State Police said Hilda Smith, 73, of West Park, was driving from a driveway and turning south when the car was in collision with a vehicle operated by Thomas Rieley, 254, Manor Avenue, Kingston. Trooper Harry Foster said no injuries were reported.

Yule Party Out, Fund Will Help Drive in Broome

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—Hall Printing Co. has the Christmas spirit, but there won't be any company party at the plant this year.

Strauss Staying At Present Site Until Jan. 31

It was disclosed Monday by Howard Beck of Strauss Stores Corp. home office in Maspeth, L. I. that no move has been made as yet to obtain a new location for the Kingston store, now at 55 Albany Avenue.

Beck said no effort will be made to look for a new location until after the busy Christmas season. Strauss Stores, he added, will leave its present site on Jan. 31 when the current lease expires.

Beck said officials to Strauss will be in Kingston the week of Jan. 8 to seek a new location for the local store.

New Hampshire Man Wants to Go On Trial for Plot

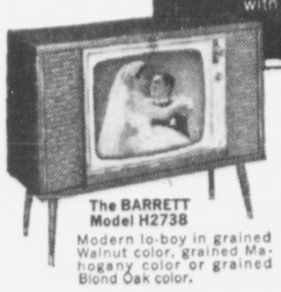

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Richard P. Pavlick, 74, of Belmont, N.H., says he is ready to stand trial on a charge of plotting to assassinate President Kennedy.

Pavlick was arrested a year ago in Palm Beach, Fla. Pavlick told officers who found several sticks of dynamite in his car and motel room he planned to kill Kennedy because of "the underhanded way he was elected."

Pavlick has been held at the Federal Prison Medical Center in Springfield, Mo., under a law that permits an accused person to be held until he is mentally competent to stand trial.

Troopers Probing Dutchess Thefts

State Police are investigating the thefts of equipment valued at more than $500 from a trailer parked at a construction site in Rhinebeck, and power tools from a building on North Road, Town of Hyde Park.

Investigator Emmett F. Donahue, BCI, Rhinebeck, said items taken from a trailer owned by the Merritt-Meridian Corp., Town of Poughkeepsie, while the vehicle was parked at the Smithers Tool Co., project in Rhinebeck consisted of a lock bolt machine, acetylene torch, a portable generator, an impact wrench and other equipment.

Hyde Park State police reported five power tools were taken in a weekend theft from the Windsor Building Supplies Co., Hyde Park. Stolen were two drills, a jigsaw, and two power saws. The articles were valued at about $200.

Reliefers Would Get Spuds, Idea Of U.S. Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of Congress urge the Agriculture Department to distribute government-owned potatoes to persons on welfare.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R.-NY, and Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., said potatoes purchased for distribution in the school-lunch program and welfare institutions should also go to persons on relief.

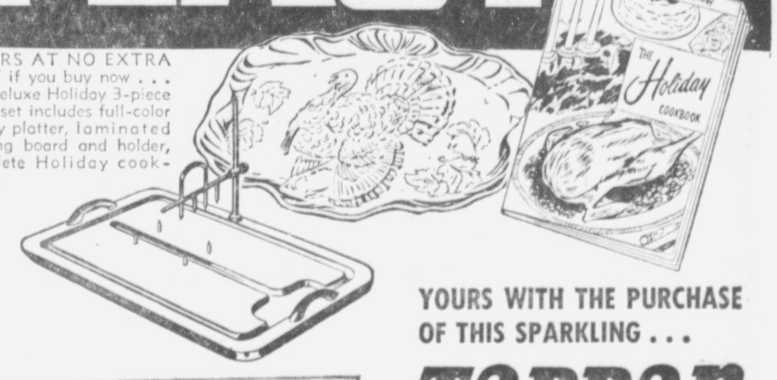

Walter said "this would help those on relief and also stimulate the market."

Keating said a program of purchasing potatoes should be expanded to include persons on welfare.

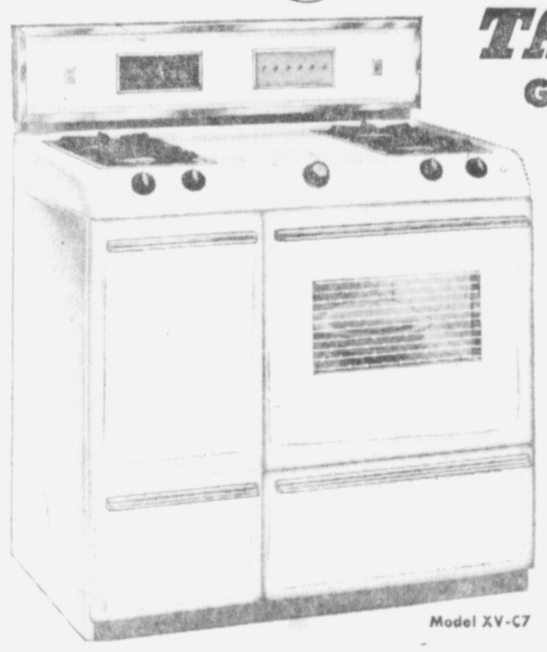

The Agriculture Department said last week it would purchase potatoes from New York, Pennsylvania and three other states as part of the government's potato diversion program.
